Fifty Famous Fables:

Fifty Famous Fables Lida B. McMurry, 2022-08-10 In Fifty Famous Fables Lida B McMurry presents a curated anthology that resonates with the intellectual and moral appetites of second grade readers With her selection McMurry endeavors to foster interpretative skills and ethical reasoning in young readers by allowing the narratives to reveal their own teachings rather than preemptively defining the moral Written with an astute understanding of a child's perspective the fables are composed with the dual purpose of instilling timeless wisdom and enhancing linguistic development The literary style is inviting and clear situating the work comfortably within the tradition of educational children's literature and making it a practical tool in the classroom context Lida B McMurry a consummate educator and children's author draws from her considerable experience as a primary school teacher to tailor these fables to the developmental stage of her audience Her philosophy of education one that emphasizes the active engagement of the student's own analytical abilities underpins this compilation The selection and arrangement of the stories reflect her pedagogical commitment to using literature as a means to naturally elicit the moral imagination and critical thinking skills of the young reader Recommendation Fifty Famous Fables serves as a gentle yet profound introduction to literature's role in personal development for young minds It is recommended for educators parents and anyone invested in the cultivation of ethics and literacy in children McMurry's assembly of tales stands as a testament to the enduring power of storytelling in shaping character and comprehension The subtle complexity woven into the simplicity of these narratives ensures that the book leaves an indelible mark on both the intellect and the soul of its youthful audience

Fifty Famous Fables Lida Brown McMurry, 2015-04-27 The fifty fables in this book have been selected for second grade reading because they are easily comprehended by pupils of that grade and because they teach lessons which every child should learn

Fifty Famous Fables Lida Brown McMurry, 2004-06-01 How could he get the meat He could not climb the tree What good would it do if he could The crow would fly away when she saw him coming He could not coax the crow to come down to the ground She knew what a fox likes to eat

Fifty Famous Fables Lida B. McMurry, 2021-05-18 In Fifty Famous Fables Lida B McMurry presents a thoughtfully curated collection of timeless tales that illuminate moral lessons through vivid storytelling and engaging prose These fables drawn from various cultural traditions showcase McMurry's adept skill in simplifying complex ethical concepts for young readers while retaining their sophisticated moral implications The book's literary style employs a rhythmic and accessible narrative making it suitable for both reading aloud and individual exploration thereby situating it within the broader context of children's literature that combines entertainment with education Lida B McMurry an esteemed educator and writer was deeply influenced by her passion for teaching and her commitment to instilling values in the youth Her background in literature and her experiences in the classroom undoubtedly informed her approach to crafting these fables allowing her to strike a balance between instructive content and engaging storytelling McMurry's work is a testament to the enduring relevance of fables as a pedagogical tool making moral lessons approachable for children and adults alike I highly recommend Fifty Famous Fables to parents educators and lovers of literature alike This collection not only serves as an excellent resource for teaching important life lessons but also as a delightful read that cultivates a love for storytelling

McMurry s profound understanding of both narrative art and educational purpose ensures that each fable resonates with readers of all ages fostering reflection and discussion around the values embedded in these timeless tales

Fifty Famous Fables Lida Brown McMurry,2009-08 Lida nee Brown McMurry 1853 1942 was a primary school teacher in DeKalb Illinois and an author of books for children Among her works are Songs of the Tree Top and Meadow with Agnes Spofford Cook Gale 1899 Classic Stories For Little Ones 1900 Nature Study Lessons for Primary Grades with Charles A McMurry 1905 Songs of Mother and Child with Agnes Spofford Cook Gale 1905 Fifty Famous Fables 1910 More Classic Stories For the Little One 1911 and A Method for Teaching Primary Reading 1914

Fifty Famous Fables (Esprios Classics) Lida Brown McMurry,2021-07-28 John was a shepherd boy He cared for his father s sheep As there were many wolves prowling about waiting for a chance to kill the sheep John had to be very watchful Some men were harvesting wheat in a field not far from where the flock was feeding One day they were startled by the cry A wolf a wolf They looked up and saw John motioning wildly to them and pointing toward the sheep

Fifty Famous Stories Retold James Baldwin,2024-11-24 THERE are numerous time honored stories which have become so incorporated into the literature and thought of our race that a knowledge of them is an indispensable part of one s education These stories are of several different classes To one class belong the popular fairy tales which have delighted untold generations of children and will continue to delight them to the end of time To another class belong the limited number of fables that have come down to us through many channels from hoar antiquity To a third belong the charming stories of olden times that are derived from the literatures of ancient peoples such as the Greeks and the Hebrews A fourth class includes the half legendary tales of a distinctly later origin which have for their subjects certain romantic episodes in the lives of well known heroes and famous men or in the history of a people It is to this last class that most of the fifty stories contained in the present volume belong As a matter of course some of these stories are better known and therefore more famous than others Some have a slight historical value some are useful as giving point to certain great moral truths others are products solely of the fancy and are intended only to amuse Some are derived from very ancient sources and are current in the literature of many lands some have come to us through the ballads and folk tales of the English people

Fifty Famous People James Baldwin,2024-11-24 ONE of the best things to be said of the stories in this volume is that although they are not biographical they are about real persons who actually lived and performed their parts in the great drama of the world s history Some of these persons were more famous than others yet all have left enduring footprints on the sands of time and their names will not cease to be remembered In each of the stories there is a basis of truth and an ethical lesson which cannot fail to have a wholesome influence and each possesses elements of interest which it is believed will go far towards proving the fallibility of the doctrine that children find delight only in tales of the imaginative and unreal The fact that there are a few more than fifty famous people mentioned in the volume may be credited to the author's wish to give good measure SAVING THE BIRDS ONE day in spring four men were riding on horseback along a country road These men were lawyers and they were going to the next town to attend court There had been a rain and the ground was very soft Water was dripping from the trees and the grass was wet The four lawyers rode along one behind another for the pathway was narrow and the mud on each side of it was deep They rode slowly and talked and laughed and were very jolly As they were passing through a grove of small trees they heard a great fluttering over their heads and a feeble chirping in the grass by the roadside Stith stith stith came from the leafy branches above them Cheep cheep cheep came from the wet grass What is the matter here asked the first lawyer whose name was Speed Oh it's only some old robins said the second lawyer whose name was Hardin The storm has blown two of the little ones out of the nest They are too young to fly and the mother bird is making a great fuss about it What a pity They'll die down there in the grass said the third lawyer whose name I forget Oh well They're nothing but birds said Mr Hardin Why should we bother Yes why should we said Mr Speed The three men as they passed looked down and saw the little birds fluttering in the cold wet grass They saw the mother robin flying about and crying to her mate Then they rode on talking and laughing as before In a few minutes they had forgotten about the birds But the fourth lawyer whose name was Abraham Lincoln stopped He got down from his horse and very gently took the little ones up in his big warm hands
