Crane, 1990 Understanding and Treating Patients in Clinical Psychoanalysis Sandra Buechler, 2015-03-05 Understanding and Treating Patients in Clinical Psychoanalysis Lessons from Literature describes the problematic ways people learn to cope with life's fundamental challenges such as maintaining self esteem bearing loss and growing old People tend to deal with the challenges of being human in characteristic repetitive ways Descriptions of these patterns in diagnostic terms can be at best dry and at worst confusing especially for those starting training in any of the clinical disciplines To try to appeal to a wider audience this book illustrates each coping pattern using vivid compelling fiction whose characters express their dilemmas in easily accessible evocative language Sandra Buechler uses these examples to show some of the ways we complicate our lives and through reimagining different scenarios for these characters she illustrates how clients can achieve greater emotional health and live their lives more productively Drawing on the work of Dostoevsky Tolstoy Munro Mann James O'Connor Chopin McCullers Carver and the many other authors represented here

Buechler shows how their keen observational short fiction portrays self hurtful styles of living She explores how human beings cope using schizoid paranoid grandiose hysteric obsessive and other defensive styles Each is costly in many senses and each limits the possibility for happiness and fulfillment Understanding and Treating Patients in Clinical Psychoanalysis offers insights into what living with and working with problematic behaviors really means through a series of examples of the major personality disorders as portrayed in literature Through these fictitious examples clinicians and trainees and undergraduate and graduate students can gain a greater understanding of how someone becomes paranoid schizoid narcissistic obsessive or depressive and how that affects them and those around them including the mental health professionals who work with them

The Metamorphosis Franz Kafka,1972-02-01 When Gregor Samsa woke up one morning from unsettling dreams he found himself changed in his bed into a monstrous vermin With this startling bizarre yet surprisingly funny first sentence Kafka begins his masterpiece The Metamorphosis It is the story of a young man who transformed overnight into a giant beetlelike insect becomes an object of disgrace to his family an outsider in his own home a quintessentially alienated man A harrowing though absurdly comic meditation on human feelings of inadequacy guilt and isolation The Metamorphosis has taken its place as one of the most widely read and influential works of twentieth century fiction As W H Auden wrote Kafka is important to us because his predicament is the predicament of modern man

The Red Badge of Courage Stephen Crane,1981-03-01 First published in 1895 America s greatest novel of the Civil War was written before 21 year old Stephen Crane had smelled even the powder of a sham battle But this powerful psychological study of a young soldier s struggle with the horrors both within and without that war strikes the reader with its undeniable realism and with its masterful descriptions of the moment by moment riot of emotions felt by me under fire Ernest Hemingway called the novel an American classic and Crane s genius is as much apparent in his sharp colorful prose as in his ironic portrayal of an episode of war so intense so immediate so real that the terror of battle becomes our own in a masterpiece so unique that many believe modern American fiction began with Stephen Crane
