The Roots of Ethnicity Ronald R. Atkinson, 2015-09-30 In The Roots of Ethnicity Ronald R Atkinson argues that although colonial rule and its aftermath have played a major role in shaping the particular manifestations of ethnicity in Africa many sociohistorical developments crucial to current expressions of ethnicity can be traced to a past long before the colonial period Atkinson develops his argument through an exhaustive examination of the origins of the collective identity of the Acholi of present day northern Uganda His study makes clear that by the time of European conquest the essential foundations and the crucial parameters for the evolution of Acholi society and ethnic consciousness had long been established In presenting his argument for the need to extend the existing scholarship on ethnicity in Africa beyond its twentieth century focus Atkinson provides what is perhaps the most detailed reconstruction and analysis yet available of the pre 1800 evolution of an African sociopolitical order Beyond these contributions to the study of African history The Roots of Ethnicity provides an extended case study in and a convincing argument for the use of oral sources in the reconstruction and interpretation of the African past It will be of interest to students and scholars of anthropology history and African studies as well as to all those interested in ethnicity and the politics of identity Museum Times Leslie Witz,2022-06-10 Museums flourished in post apartheid South Africa In older museums there were renovations on the go and at least fifty new museums opened Most sought to depict violence and suffering under apartheid and the growth of resistance These unlikely journeys are tracked as museums became a primary setting for contesting histories From the renowned Robben Island Museum to the almost unknown Lwandle Migrant Labour Museum the author demonstrates how an institution concerned with the conservation of the past is simultaneously a site for changing history Economics of South African Townships Sandeep Mahajan,2014-08-25 Countries everywhere are divided within into two distinct spatial realms one urban one rural Classic models of development predict faster growth in the urban sector causing rapid migration from rural areas to cities lifting average incomes in both places The situation in South Africa throws up an unconventional challenge The country has symptoms of a spatial realm that is not not rural not fully urban lying somewhat in limbo This is the realm of the country s townships and informal settlements T IS In many ways the townships and especially the informal settlements are similar to developing world slums although never was a slum formed with as much central planning and purpose as were some of the larger South African townships And yet there is something distinct about the T IS For one thing unlike most urban slums most T IS are geographically distant from urban economic centers Exacerbated by the near absence of an affordable public transport system this makes job seeking and other forms of economic integration prohibitively expensive Motivated by their uniqueness and their special place in South African economic and social life this study seeks to develop a systematic understanding of the structure of the township economy What emerges is a rich information base on the migration patterns to T IS changes in their demographic profiles their labor market characteristics and their access to public and financial services The study then look closely at Diepsloot a large township in the Johannesburg Metropolitan Area to bring out more vividly the economic realities and choices of township residents Given the current dichotomous urban structure modernizing the township economy and enabling its convergence with the much richer urban centers has the potential to unleash significant productivity gains Breaking out of the current low level equilibrium however will require a comprehensive and holistic policy agenda with significant complementarities among the major policy reforms While the study tells a rich and coherent story about development patterns in South African townships and points to some broad policy directions its research and analysis will generally need to be deepened before being translated into direct policy action The Labour History of South Africa in Source Materials Elias Mpofu,2004 The foundation and settlement of the Cape Colony from the mid seventeenth century heralded the introduction of European capital into the socio economic life of southern Africa It further brought about hitherto unprecedented levels of exploitation of the region's resources and people in a region that had previously relied on subsistence agricultural pastoral economies The study considers four aspects of the period merchant capitalism agrarian capitalism mining industrial capitalism and the imperial factor It aims to enhance understanding of South African labour history and the colonial history of southern and central Africa more generally demonstrating that colonial policies tried and tested in South Africa were frequently applied in the British colonies to the north The Experience of Economic Redistribution Clarence Tshitereke, 2006-10-09 This book provides an analysis of the country's political economy in transition It documents the history of the gold mining industry's involvement in shaping the political landscape of South Africa and shows the degree to which the political transition was induced to put in place a new mode of regulation for capital accumulation In the process the victims of apartheid have now become victims of democracy's neo liberalism as the government is constrained from being developmental interventionist and redistributive The Political Economy of the Southern African Periphery Betty J. Harris, 1992-12-09 Reflections on Knowledge, Learning and Social Movements Aziz Choudry, Salim Vally, 2017-12-12 How do educators and activists in today's struggles for change use historical materials from earlier periods of organizing for political education How do they create and engage with independent and often informal archives and debates How do they ultimately connect this historical knowledge with contemporary struggles Reflections on Knowledge Learning and Social Movements aims to advance the understanding of relationships between learning knowledge production history and social change In four sections this unique collection explores Engagement with activist movement archives Learning and teaching militant histories Lessons from liberatory and anti imperialist struggles Learning from student youth and education struggles Six chapters foreground insights from the breadth and diversity of South Africa's rich progressive social movements while others explore connections between ideas and practices of historical and contemporary struggles in other parts of the world including Argentina Iran Britain Palestine and the US Besides its great relevance to scholars and students of Education Sociology and History this innovative title will be of particular interest to adult educators labour educators archivists community workers and others concerned with education for social change Political Power and Social Theory Diane E. Davis, Christina Proenza-Coles, 2008-09-07 Deals with the comparative and historical social science This title focuses on a variety of questions relating to states citizenship and power common themes examined with divergent analytical entry points and through deep knowledge of country cases as diverse as Russia the United States El Salvador South Africa and Israel Working Life and Gender Inequality Angelika Sjöstedt, Katarina Giritli Nygren, Marianna Fotaki, 2021-04-12 In the modern globalized world of work society's capitalist and patriarchal norms perpetuate old and create new differences based on gender class ethnicity age and other social categorizations This book proposes a novel conceptual framework offering theoretical and methodological insights for thinking through the present and future inequality challenges in the globalized world of work and working life issues in the context of spatio temporal relations Bringing together global feminist studies of intersectionality and transnationalism work life research and studies of space place and identity this edited collection responds to the growing interest in peripheries rurality and other spaces beyond the urban and business market centres In crossing the theoretical boundaries between intersectionality and peripherality this volume brings these concepts together to identify how racism capitalism and heteropatriarchy operate on bodies in the name of work particularly as expressed in precarious labour conditions It also advocates for transnational solidarity as part of feminist ethics while providing an opportunity to reflect on ways forward for feminist intersectional studies of work and working life drawing on embodied relationality and a feminist ethics of care Working Life and Gender Inequality explores the intersectional nature of gender class race and other inequalities from a global and spatial perspective It will be of value to researchers academics students managers consultants and policy makers in the fields of organizational studies leadership feminist and gender studies working life intersectionality and transnational feminism

Political Science in South Africa

Peter Vale, Pieter Fourie, 2016-01-13 In 2013 and in 2014 respectively the South African Association of Political Studies SAAPS and Politikon the South African Journal of Political Studies celebrate their 40th anniversary Also in April 2014 South Africa celebrates twenty years since the advent of the post Apartheid democracy and the birth of the rainbow nation This book provides a timely account of the birth and evolution of South African politics over the past four decades but also of the study of Political Science and International Relations in this country Fourteen political scientists contribute chapters to this volume situating the study of politics within its global context and recounting the development of politics as a field of study at South African universities The fourteen contributions evaluate the state of the discipline s and suggest conclusions that are surprising and in many instances unsettling not only with regards to what and how politics is taught but also how its study has variously gained and lost pertinence for South Africans understanding of their own polity as well as its place in the world The implications are uncomfortable and pose interesting challenges for South African scholarship pedagogy and national self reflection This book was published as a special issue of Politikon

Johannesburg

Keith Beavon, 2022-08-01 Until now there has been no single text that brings together the material that reveals the unfolding geography of Johannesburg South Africa This book describes the history of the city from its days as a mining camp to its position of premier metropolis in Africa The present geography of Johannesburg and the problems and dysfunctions that it has exhibited at various stages in its history since 1886 cannot be understood without a firm grasp of what has evolved over the past 120 years

International Labour and the Third World Rosalind E. Boyd, Robin Cohen, Peter C. W. Gutkind, 2023-08-11 Originally published in 1987 this book focusses on the debate around the international role of the working class and other dominated classes such as the rural and urban poor The contributions discuss whether Marx's original version of the revolutionary role of workers can still be sustained They examine the response of workers to the globalisation of production to structural unemployment in the industrialized world and to the changing composition of the workforce in the industrialising periphery The volume questions the historic starting points in the theorization of international labour      Geohistory, Capitalist Development, and South Africa Kevin R. Cox, 2025-02-27 In South Africa it is thirty years since apartheid was overthrown The country now teeters on being a failed state But South African history cannot be explained in isolation from developments in the rest of the world Nor can it be understood in terms of change from a regime where race seemed all determining to one where race is supposed to be a matter of indifference Rather this book argues that the key to understanding South Africa lies in the logics of capitalist development These explain why capitalist domination has taken racial forms and why global conditions have been so important      HAZARDOUS WASTE MANAGEMENT Domenico Grasso, Timothy M. Vogel, Barth Smets, 2009-08-11

Hazardous Waste Management theme is a component of Encyclopedia of Environmental and Ecological Sciences Engineering and Technology Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias Hazardous waste definitions differ from one country to another A generic definition might center on wastes or combinations of wastes that pose a substantial present or potential hazard to humans or the environment in part because they are not readily degradable persistent in the environment and are deleterious to human health or natural resources Most hazardous wastes are produced in the manufacturing of products for domestic consumption or further industrial application The Theme on Hazardous Waste Management with contributions from distinguished experts in the field discusses ecological risk hazardous waste issues and management This volume is aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs      Unsettled History Leslie Witz, Gary Minkley, Ciraj Rassool, 2017-02-27

Unsettled History examines South African society and the construction and presentation of its public pasts from Nelson Mandela's release from prison in 1990 to South Africa's hosting of the 2010 FIFA World Cup Conventionally represented as a time of rectifying the silences and distortions of settler history through inclusion and recovery the focus here instead is on the shifts in processes and locations of historicizing and the unsettled state of categories of framing history in post apartheid South Africa This era saw fundamental transformations in the order of knowledge from the academy to the public from popular history to public history from history as lesson to history as forum Leslie Witz Gary Minkley and Ciraj Rassool take the reader to sites of historical production in which complex ideas about pasts are invoked and navigate a path toward understanding the agencies of image making and memory production This volume is the outcome of the authors intensive collaborative research and engagement over twenty five years on questions including the production and performance of apartheid history the cultural politics of social history South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission and practices of orality tourism as an arena of image making and historical construction museums as sites of heritage production for a new South Africa photographs archival meanings and the construction of the social documentary and the centenary commemorations of the South African War and the making of race The authors not only witnessed many of these instances of history making but were also participants in their constitution      Social Justice at Apartheid's Dawn Dawne Y. Curry, 2022-04-11 This book which examines the role of African women in the conversation on nationalism during South Africa's era of segregation excavates female voices and brings them to the provocative fore From 1910 to 1948 African women contributed to political thought as editorialists club organizers poets leaders and activists who dared to challenge the country's segregationist regime at a time when it was bent on consolidating White power Daughters of Africa founder Cecilia Lillian Tshabalala and National Council of African Women President Mina Tembeka Soga feature in this work which employs the artistic theory of sampling and decoloniality to highlight and showcase how these women and others among their cadre spoke truth to power through the fiery lines of their poetry newspaper columns thought provoking speeches organizational documents personal testimonies and musical compositions It argues that these African women left behind a blueprint to grapple with and contest the political climate in which they lived under segregation by highlighting the role and agency of African women intellectuals at Apartheid's dawn
