Gold Bug Variations:

Gold Bug Variations Richard Powers,1992-07-31 A national bestseller voted by Time as the 1 novel of 1991 selected as one of the Best Books of 1991 by Publishers Weekly and nominated for a National Book Critics Circle Award a magnificent story that probes the meaning of love science music and art by the brilliant author of Three Farmers on Their Way to a Dance

The Gold Bug Variations Richard Powers, 1992 A double love story of two young couples separated by a distance of 25 years The author also wrote Prisoner's Dilemma and Three Farmers on Their Way to a Dance The Gold Bug Variations Richard Powers, 2025-06-12 A love story of charm and substance brimming over with ideas yet anchored in emotional truth SUNDAY TELEGRAPH Powers has triumphantly restored the philosophical novel OBSERVER A heroic tour de force NEW YORK TIMES In 1957 brilliant biologist Stuart Ressler sets out to crack the genetic code Yet his efforts are sidetracked by other more complex codes social moral musical and spiritual as he falls in love with a member of his research team Years later another young man and woman investigate a different mystery why did the promising Ressler suddenly vanish from the world of science Strand by strand these two love stories intertwine in a double helix of desire in an enthralling tale about new love and the mysteries of science Goldbug Variations Powers, 1994-03-01 Wild Science Janine Marchessault, Kim Sawchuk, 2013-10-18 Wild Science investigates the world wide boom in health culture While self help health books and medical dramas are popular around the globe we are bombarded with daily media images of DNA research and news reports about cloning the fight against AIDS cancer and depression With popular culture now the principal means through which the non scientific population encounters science why do certain images of science get promoted above others Contributors examine the public meanings of science revealing the frictions and contradictions within popular representations of what medicine can and should do Focusing on the visual culture of medicine they show how representations of science have a direct impact on popular perceptions of the limits of science and ultimately on health education funding and research and examine the belief that media literacy in popular representations of medicine makes an ethical public discourse on the aims of science possible With sections addressing the new visual technologies which make the human body into a virtual territory the diagnostic and medical practices centered around women's bodies and popular debates around genetics and identity Wild Science argues that science is a practice bound in values and institutions and argues for a responsible engagement with the public cultures of science and health Understanding Richard Powers Joseph Dewey, 2002 Dewey contends that while Powers s novels investigate the most pressing issues of the new millennium the novelist is most deeply interested in the same thematic argument that consumed Ralph Waldo Emerson and Emily Dickinson the problem of the self the deep and unshakable loneliness that has always been at the heart of the American literary imagination BOOK JACKET Cryptographic Imagination Shawn James Rosenheim, 2020-03-24 Originally published in 1996 In The Cryptographic Imagination Shawn Rosenheim uses the writings of Edgar Allan Poe to pose a set of questions pertaining to literary genre cultural modernity and technology Rosenheim argues that Poe's cryptographic writing his essays on cryptography and the short stories that grew out of them requires that we rethink the relation of poststructural criticism to Poe s texts and more generally reconsider the relation of literature to communication Cryptography serves not only as a template for the language character and themes of much of Poe s late fiction including his creation the detective story but also as a secret history of literary modernity itself Both postwar fiction and literary criticism the author writes are deeply indebted to the rise of cryptography in World War II Still more surprising in Rosenheim's view Poe is not merely a source for such literary instances of cryptography as the codes in Conan Doyle's The Dancing Men or in Jules Verne but through his effect on real cryptographers Poe s writing influenced the outcome of World War II and the development of the Cold War However unlikely such ideas sound The Cryptographic Imagination offers compelling evidence that Poe's cryptographic writing clarifies one important avenue by which the twentieth century called itself into being The strength of Rosenheim's work extends to a revisionistic understanding of the entirety of literary history as a repression of cryptography and then in a breathtaking shift of register interlinks Poe's exercises in cryptography with the hyperreality of the CIA the Cold War and the Internet What enables this extensive range of applications is the stipulated tension Rosenheim discerns in the relationship between the forms of the literary imagination and the condition of its mode of production Cryptography in this account names the technology of literary production the diacritical relationship between decoding and encoding that the literary imagination dissimulates as hieroglyphics the hermeneutic relationship between a sign and its content Donald E Pease Dartmouth College

Identification Practices in Twentieth-Century Fiction Rex Ferguson, 2021-07-14 The task of identifying the individual has given rise to a number of technical innovations including fingerprint analysis and DNA profiling A range of methods have also been created for storing and classifying people s identities such as identity cards and digital records Identification Practices and Twentieth Century Fiction tests the hypothesis that these techniques and methods as practiced in the UK and US in the long 20th century are inherently related to the literary representation of self identity from the same period Until now the question of who one is in the sense of formal identification has remained detached from the question of who one is in terms of the representation of unique individuality Placing these two questions in dialogue allows for a re evaluation of the various ways in which uniqueness has been constructed during the period and for a re assessment of the historical and literary historical context of such construction In chapters ranging across the development of fingerprinting the institution of identity cards during the Second World War DNA profiling and contemporary digital surveillance and an analysis of writing by authors including Joseph Conrad Graham Greene Elizabeth Bowen J G Ballard Don DeLillo and Jennifer Egan Identification Practices and Twentieth Century Fiction makes an original contribution to the disciplines of English Literature History and Cultural Studies

The musical novel also evokes the performance context by imitating elements of spontaneity that characterize improvised jazz or audience interaction The Musical Novel builds upon theories of intermediality and semiotics to analyze the musical structures forms and techniques in two groups of musical novels which serve as case studies The first group imitates an entire musical genre and consists of jazz novels by Toni Morrison Albert Murray Xam Wilson Carti r Stanley Crouch Jack Fuller Michael Ondaatje and Christian Gailly The secondgroup of novels by Richard Powers Gabriel Josipovici Rachel Cusk Nancy Huston and Thomas Bernhard imitates a single piece of music J S Bach s Goldberg Variations Emily Petermann is Assistant Professor of American Literature at the University of Konstanz Narrated Communities - Narrated Realities, 2015-05-19 Culture studies try to understand how people assume identities and how they perceive reality In this perspective narration as a basic form of cognitive processing is a fundamental cultural technique Narrations provide the coherence temporal organization and semantic integration that are essential for the development and communication of identity knowledge and orientation in a socio cultural context In essence Anderson s Imagined Communities need to be thought of as Narrated Communities from the beginning Narration is made up by what people think and vice versa narration makes up people s thoughts What is considered fictitious or real no longer separates narratives from an outside they refer to but rather represents different narratives Narration not only constructs notions of what was real in retrospect but also prospectively creates possible worlds even in the supposedly hard sciences as in e g the imaginative simulation of physical processes The book s unique interdisciplinary approach shows how the implications of this fundamental insight go far beyond the sphere of literature and carry weight for both scholarly and scientific disciplines The Wallace Effect Marshall Boswell, 2019-01-24 The Wallace Effect explores David Foster Wallace s contested space at the forefront of 21st century American fiction Pioneering Wallace scholar Marshall Boswell does this by illuminating The Wallace Effect the aura of literary competition that Wallace routinely summoned in his fiction and non fiction and that continues to inform the reception of his work by his contemporaries A frankly combative writer Wallace openly challenged his artistic predecessors as he sought to establish himself as the leading literary figure of the post postmodern turn Boswell challenges this portrait in two ways First he examines novels by Wallace s literary patriarchs and contemporaries that introduce innovations on traditional metafiction that Wallace would later claim as his own Second he explores four novels published after Wallace's ascendency that attempt to demythologize Wallace's persona and his literary preeminence By re situating Wallace's work in a broader and more contentious literary arena The Wallace Effect traces both the reach and the limits of Wallace's legacy Ecosickness in Contemporary U.S. Fiction Heather Houser, 2014-06-03 The 1970s brought a new understanding of the biological and intellectual impact of environmental crises on human beings As efforts to prevent ecological and bodily injury aligned a new literature of sickness emerged Ecosickness fiction imaginatively rethinks the link between these forms of threat and the sick body to bring readers to environmental consciousness Tracing the development of ecosickness through a compelling archive of contemporary U S novels and memoirs Ecosickness in Contemporary U S Fiction establishes that we cannot comprehend environmental and medical dilemmas through data alone and must call on the sometimes surprising emotions that literary metaphors tropes and narratives deploy In chapters on David Foster Wallace Richard Powers Leslie Marmon Silko Marge Piercy Jan Zita Grover and David Wojnarowicz Heather Houser shows how narrative affects such as wonder and disgust organize perception of an endangered world and orient us ethically toward it The study builds the connective tissue between contemporary literature ecocriticism affect studies and the medical humanities It also positions ecosickness fiction relative to emergent forms of environmentalism and technoscientific innovations such as regenerative medicine and alternative ecosystems Houser models an approach to contemporary fiction as a laboratory for affective changes that spark or squelch ethical projects student research The Routledge Companion to Literature and Disability Alice Hall, 2020-04-28 The Routledge Companion to Literature and Disability brings together some of the most influential and important contemporary perspectives in this growing field The book traces the history of the field and locates literary disability studies in the wider context of activism and theory It introduces debates about definitions of disability and explores intersectional approaches in which disability is understood in relation to gender race class sexuality nationality and ethnicity Divided broadly into sections according to literary genre this is an important resource for those interested in exploring and deepening their knowledge of Connecting Literature and Science Jay A. Labinger, 2021-11-18 This book the field of literature and disability studies presents a case for engagement between the sciences and the humanities. The author a professional chemist seeks to demonstrate that the connections between those fields of intellectual activity are far more significant than anything that separates them The book combines a historical survey of the relationships between science and literature with a number of case studies that examine specific scientific episodes several drawn from the author's own research juxtaposed with a variety of literary works spanning a wide range of period and genre Dante to detective fiction War and Peace to White Teeth to elicit their common themes The work argues for an empirical non theory based approach one that is closely analogous to connectionist models of brain development and function and that can appeal to general readers as well as to literary scholars and practicing scientists who are open to the idea that literature and science should not be compartmentalized

Contemporary Reconfigurations of American Literary Classics Betina Entzminger,2013 The number and popularity of novels that have overtly reconfigured aspects of classic American texts suggests a curious trend for both readers and writers an impulse to retell and reread books that have come to define American culture This book argues that by revising canonical American literature contemporary American writers are re writing an American myth of origins creating one that corresponds to the contemporary writer s understanding of self and society Informed by cognitive psychology evolutionary literary criticism and poststructuralism Entzminger reads texts by canonical authors Poe Hawthorne Melville Alcott Twain Chopin and Faulkner and by the contemporary writers that respond to them In highlighting the construction and cognitive function of narrative in their own and in their antecedent texts contemporary writers highlight the fact that such use of narrative is universal and essential to human beings This book suggests that by revising the classic texts that compose our cultural narrative contemporary writers mirror the way human individuals consistently revisit and refigure the past through language via self narration in order to manage and understand experience
