International Handbook of Research in Arts Education Liora Bresler, 2007-09-04 Providing a distillation of knowledge in the various disciplines of arts education dance drama music literature and poetry and visual arts the Handbook synthesizes existing research literature helps define the past and contributes to shaping the substantive and methodological future of the respective and integrated disciplines of arts education While research can at times seem distant from practice the Handbook aims to maintain connection with the lived practice of art and of education capturing the vibrancy and best thinking in the field of theory and practice The Handbook is organized into 13 sections each centering on a major area or issue in arts education research These areas include History of arts education curriculum evaluation cultural centers appreciation composition informal learning child culture creativity the body spirituality and technology The individual chapters address cross cultural research related to the central theme of the section from the perspectives of the particular arts discipline Interludes provide reflective thoughts on the theme      Milestones in Music Education Clint Randles, 2023-12-07 In ten concise chapters Milestones in Music Education introduces the key developments and issues that have shaped the field of music education Designed for undergraduate students each chapter of the book is written by a different expert bringing together many leading voices in the field The ten chosen milestones represent breakthroughs in the field of music education that are relevant to today s educators and enable teachers to understand the issues that have shaped the teaching of music over time Topics covered include the origins of music education as a school subject the impact of changing technology the roles of popular music and notation and racial justice in the music classroom Featuring action suggestions and discussion questions in each chapter this accessible book provides students with a foundation in the history and context of music education and prepares them to engage with the social and philosophical aspects of teaching music as forward thinking educators Milestones are a range of accessible textbooks breaking down the need to know moments in the social cultural political and artistic development of foundational subject areas This book is ideal for undergraduate courses in music education

Education and Schooling W. Kenneth Richmond, 2018-12-17 In the early 1970s the crisis in schools particularly in urban areas had escalated At the same time a number of writers had advocated either the abolition or the recasting of the school system as a whole The late Kenneth Richmond saw these phenomena as symptoms of a struggle towards a much needed new theory and practice of education Increasingly he felt it is realised that a schooled society is not synonymous with an educative society and that learning which stops at the age of sixteen and which makes the learner the submissive receiver of instruction and training is simply inadequate in an age of technology The generative theory of education outlined in this book originally published in 1975 would conceive of the learner as the controlling agent in a network of educational resources and of education as a lifelong process Learning can no longer be confined within the frames and classifications imposed upon it by traditional pedagogy Recent research evidence indicates that the importance attached to formal schooling is greatly exaggerated and that the financial and other resources devoted to the expansion of so called educational services are largely wasted There is a need the author stresses for a much wider definition of education one that would recognise the validity of the numerous skills acquired outside the classroom at home in the peer group at the work place and would deliberately foster a school without walls policy whereby community institutions and organizations could be used as learning environments Only by taking steps in this direction he believes can we overcome the apparently intractable problems of the schools today

Humane Music Education for the Common Good Iris M. Yob, Estelle R. Jorgensen, 2020-03-17 Why teach music Who deserves a music education Can making and learning about music serve the common good A collection of essays considers the answers In Humane Music Education for the Common Good scholars and educators from around the world offer unique responses to the recent UNESCO report titled Rethinking Education Toward the Common Good This report suggests how through purpose policy and pedagogy education can and must respond to the challenges of our day in ways that respect and nurture all members of the human family The contributors use this report as a framework to explore the implications and complexities that it raises The book begins with analytical reflections on the report and then explores pedagogical case studies and practical models of music education that address social justice inclusion individual nurturance and active involvement in the greater public welfare The collection concludes by looking to the future asking what more should be considered and exploring how these ideals can be even more fully realized This volume boldly expands the boundaries of the UNESCO report to reveal new ways to think about be invested in and use music education as a center for social change both today and going forward

Principles of Musical Education James Lockhart Mursell, 1927

The Politics of Education Frank MacKinnon, 1960-12-15 This book is a stimulating vigorous study of the public school system by an eminent Canadian political scientist and educator Dr Frank MacKinnon examines the roles of politicians officials trustees and others who today wield the power in education and discusses the effect of their administration on the schools the teachers and the curriculum Dr MacKinnon advocates strongly taking the politics out of education and delegating more responsibility and freedom to the schools and to the teachers Only by this means he feels can education become sufficiently effective in a democratic society and in a challenging and uncertain world The kind of changes to the administration of schools and in the status and functions of teachers required to bring about improvement have long since been made Dr MacKinnon holds in other governmental activities and in other professions The changes he recommends will he suggests provide better educational facilities for the country as a whole and better schooling for a larger number of children Dr MacKinnon has taught in both high school and university and as principal he has administered every level from grade one to the second year of university including normal school He has thus dealt with pupils of all ages and experienced a wide range of educational administration He has served on many educational boards and committees From this extensive background he draws many telling examples and anecdotes that will strike home His comments and suggestions made to provoke discussion and encourage improvement will be of interest to members of provincial and municipal governments school boards administrators and teachers and all citizens concerned about the education of young people Although Dr MacKinnon hits hard he does so not just to break down existing institutions but because he has strong faith in the capacities of children and teachers He covets for the latter a place of dignity and respect and for the former an opportunity to develop individual character and initiative He is in fact a believer in education
