The Political Economy of Education Mark Gradstein, Moshe Justman, Volker Meier, 2004-10-22 A theoretical framework for analyzing the complex relationship of education growth and income distribution The dominant role played by the state in the financing regulation and provision of primary and secondary education reflects the widely held belief that education is necessary for personal and societal well being The economic organization of education depends on political as well as market mechanisms to resolve issues that arise because of contrasting views on such matters as income inequality social mobility and diversity This book provides the theoretical framework necessary for understanding the political economy of education the complex relationship of education economic growth and income distribution and for formulating effective policies to improve the financing and provision of education The relatively simple models developed illustrate the use of analytical tools for understanding central policy issues After offering a historical overview of the development of public education and a review of current econometric evidence on education growth and income distribution the authors lay the theoretical groundwork for the main body of analysis First they develop a basic static model of how political decisions determine education spending then they extend this model dynamically Applying this framework to a comparison of education financing under different regimes the authors explore fiscal decentralization individual choice between public and private schooling including the use of education vouchers to combine public financing of education with private provision and the social dimension of education its role in state building the traditional melting pot that promotes cohesion in a culturally diverse society

Decentralisation and Privatisation in Education Joseph Zajda, 2007-11-29 Decentralisation and Privatisation in Education explores the ambivalent and problematic relationship between the State privatisation and decentralisation in education globally Using a number of diverse paradigms ranging from critical theory to globalisation the authors by focusing on privatisation marketisation and decentralisation will attempt to examine critically both the reasons and outcomes of education reforms policy change and transformation and provide a more informed critique on the Western driven models of accountability quality and school effectiveness We want to demonstrate that claims of advantages in efficiency brought about by privatisation in education are not always supported empirically as proposed by proponents The book examines the overall interplay between privatisation decentralisation and the role of the state The authors draw upon recent studies in the areas of decentralisation privatisation and the role of the state in education By referring to Bourdieu's call for critical policy analysts to engage in a critical sociology of their own contexts of practice and poststructuralist and postmodernist pedagogy this collection of book chapters demonstrate how central discourses surrounding the debate of privatisation decentralisation and the role of the state are formed in the contexts of dominant ideology power and culturally and historically derived perceptions and practices The authors discuss the newly constructed and re invented imperatives of privatisation decentralisation and marketisation and show how they may well be operating as an educational model of a new global master narrative playing a hegemonic role within the framework of economic political and cultural hybrids of globalization The Condition of Education ,1999 By the Sweat and Toil of Children: An economic consideration of child labor ,1994
