Economic Valuation and the Natural World David William Pearce, 1992 Economic valuation can help improve decisions about protecting the environment By inputting values to unpriced goods it can make public choices more cost efficient and thus allow limited public income to be optimally spent Economic Values and the Natural World David William Pearce, Professor David W Pearce, 1993 The context of economic valuation What is economic valuation Valuation and discounting the future Valuation in practice The Economic Value of the Environment Joy E. Hecht, 1999 Cases from South Asia Integrating the Economy and the Environment David William Pearce, Ece Özdemiroğlu, 1997 This paper provides a comprehensive overview of the key conceptual policy and practical aspects of integrating economic and environmental policies Policy makers confront several complex issues in trying to harmonise economic and environmental objectives The Economics of Ecosystems and Biodiversity: Ecological and Economic Foundations Pushpam Kumar, 2012-12-20 Human well being relies critically on ecosystem services provided by nature Examples include water and air quality regulation nutrient cycling and decomposition plant pollination and flood control all of which are dependent on biodiversity They are predominantly public goods with limited or no markets and do not command any price in the conventional economic system so their loss is often not detected and continues unaddressed and unabated This in turn not only impacts human well being but also seriously undermines the sustainability of the economic system It is against this background that TEEB The Economics of Ecosystems and Biodiversity project was set up in 2007 and led by the United Nations Environment Programme to provide a comprehensive global assessment of economic aspects of these issues This book written by a team of international experts represents the scientific state of the art providing a comprehensive assessment of the fundamental ecological and economic principles of measuring and valuing ecosystem services and biodiversity and showing how these can be mainstreamed into public policies This volume and subsequent TEEB outputs will provide the authoritative knowledge and guidance to drive forward the biodiversity conservation agenda for the next decade The Economic Value of Biodiversity David Pearce, Dominic Moran, 2013-11-05 Biodiversity loss is one of the major resource problems facing the world and the policy options available are restricted by inappropriate economic tools which fail to capture the value of species and their variety This study describes in non technical terms how cost benefit analysis techniques can be applied to species and species loss and how they provide a measure of the efficiency of conservation measures Only when conservation can be shown to pass such a basic economic test the authors claim will it be incorporated into policies David Pearce has also written Blueprint for a Green Economy Geography for the IB Diploma Patterns and Change Paul Guinness, 2010-10-21 Covers the four compulsory topics of the Core theme Patterns and Change in the Geography syllabus for the International Baccalaureate IB Diploma Programme back cover General Technical Report PNW-GTR, 1992 Defining Wilderness Quality Bo Shelby, George H. Looks at the Natural World Daniel C. Fouke, 2021-08-10 This book interweaves the author's personal story and observations of nature with scientific research and philosophical reflection. It tells the story of nearly three decades of labor to ecologically restore twenty-one acres of ruined land near Dayton, Ohio. This story and what the author has observed motivate reflection on the human relationship to soil, the inner lives of animals, the intelligence of plants, and human psychology. The book advances the case for the intelligence and kinship of all living things, an ethic of respect for life, and the need to radically rethink how human societies live on Earth.

The book covers a range of topics encompassing the creative industries as well as the economics of the arts and culture, and includes chapters on economics of art, including auctions, markets, prices, anthropology, artists, labour, markets, creativity, and the creative economy, cultural districts, cultural value, globalization, and international trade, the internet, media, economics, museums, non-profit organisations, opera performance indicators, performing arts, publishing, regulation, tax, expenditures, and welfare economics.

Business Ethics and the Natural Environment Lisa H. Newton, 2008-04-15 Business Ethics and the Natural Environment examines the present status of relations between corporate enterprise and the natural environment in the world today. Discusses such questions as: What obligations does a corporation have toward the environment? To respect entities unprotected by law? To care about future generations? Argues that environmentally friendly business practices yield dividends exceeding expectations and that the competitive firm of the 21st century will follow green standards. Provides a background in ethics, a survey of business ethics, an account of environmental philosophy, an overview of environmental legal issues, and an account of the problems associated with globalization.

International Environmental Law, Policy, and Ethics Alexander Gillespie, 2014-08-21 This second edition of International Environmental Law, Policy and Ethics revises and expands this groundbreaking study into the question of why the environment is protected in the international arena. This question is rarely asked because it is assumed that each member of the international community wants to achieve the same ends. However, in his innovative study of international environmental ethics, Alexander Gillespie explodes this myth. He shows how nations, like individuals, create environmental laws and policies which are continually inviting failure, as such laws can often be riddled with inconsistencies and be ultimately contradictory in purpose. Specifically, he seeks a nexus between the reasons why nations protect the environment, how these reasons are reflected in law and policy, and what complications arise from these choices. This book takes account of the numerous developments in international environmental law and policy that have taken place since the publication of the first edition, most notably at the 2002 World Summit on Sustainable Development and the 2012 Rio+20 United Nations Conference.

on Sustainable Development Furthermore it addresses recent debates on the economic value of nature and the problems of the illegal trade in species and toxic waste The cultural context has also been considerably advanced in the areas of both intangible and tangible heritage with increasing attention being given to conservation wildlife management and the notion of protected areas The book investigates the ways in which progress has been made regarding humane trapping and killing of animals and how in contrast the Great Apes initiative and similar work with whales have failed Finally the book addresses the fact that while the notion of ecosystem management has been embraced by a number of environmental regimes it has thus far failed as an international philosophy

World in Transition

Wissenschaftlicher Beirat der Bundesregierung Globale Umweltveränderungen (Germany), 2001 Comprehensive assessment from the leading German environmental scientists of the state of the world's living resources or biosphere. Covers all aspects of the subject: biodiversity and genetic diversity, landscape and ecosystems, its role in the Earth's system and human impacts on it. Reviews global policies and research strategies on the biosphere and advocates urgent policy actions. A major authoritative contribution to environmental science and policy. Biodiversity: the planet's natural capital is undergoing a dramatic collapse: its Sixth Extinction. The losses, which are due to human activities and overexploitation of the biosphere, are irreversible. They are undermining the basis of future well-being and prosperity, including genetic resources and food production, climate stability and coastal and soil protection. The scientists of the German Advisory Council on Global Change have produced an authoritative and alarming analysis of the state of the biosphere. They show that the time remaining for remedial action is fast disappearing and they set out a range of initiatives to be undertaken at different levels. Among their main urgent recommendations are: protecting 10–20% of the global land area; an Intergovernmental Panel on Biodiversity to provide scientific advice; conservation of the diversity of cultivated as well as wild plant species; greater multilateral cooperation and implementation of the Convention on Biological Diversity. The volume makes a highly significant contribution to the scientific and policy debates on these critical issues. It will be essential reading for those engaged with them.
