Zak, 2010-12-16 Like nature itself modern economic life is driven by relentless competition and unbridled selfishness Or is it Drawing on converging evidence from neuroscience social science biology law and philosophy Moral Markets makes the case that modern market exchange works only because most people most of the time act virtuously Competition and greed are certainly part of economics but Moral Markets shows how the rules of market exchange have evolved to promote moral behavior and how exchange itself may make us more virtuous Examining the biological basis of economic morality tracing the connections between morality and markets and exploring the profound implications of both Moral Markets provides a surprising and fundamentally new view of economics one that also reconnects the field to Adam Smith's position that morality has a biological basis Moral Markets the result of an extensive collaboration between leading social and natural scientists includes contributions by neuroeconomist Paul Zak economists Robert H Frank Herbert Gintis Vernon Smith winner of the 2002 Nobel Prize in economics and Bart Wilson law professors Oliver Goodenough Erin O'Hara and Lynn Stout philosophers William Casebeer and Robert Solomon primatologists Sarah Brosnan and Frans de Waal biologists Carl Bergstrom Ben Kerr and Peter Richerson anthropologists Robert Boyd and Michael Lachmann political scientists Elinor Ostrom and David Schwab management professor Rakesh Khurana computational science and informatics doctoral candidate Erik Kimbrough and business writer Charles Handy

Day Wallace picks up the thread of her best selling Legal Control of the Multinational Enterprise National Regulatory Techniques and the Prospects for International Controls In the present work she applies herself to legal and pragmatic aspects of control surrounding MNE operations The primary focus is on legal and administrative techniques and measures practised by host states to control transparently or less so foreign MNE activity within their territories or even extraterritorially when effects are felt within national boundaries The primary geographic focus is the six most investment intensive industrialized states namely Canada France Germany Japan the United States and the United Kingdom At the same time an important message of the present study is precisely the implication for the developing countries as well as for the emerging market economies of central and eastern Europe and even Asian nations besides Japan because it is the sharing of this very experience of years that can best serve to facilitate a fuller participation on the part of the up and coming
