Miller, 2003 Gaia Connections addresses several arenas of concern as humankind faces an escalating ecological and moral crisis in this new millennium Beginning with an overview of the history of philosophy and the importance of traditional thinking on modern day ethical reflection the book then looks at the development of theories of justice the problems of equity in global human relations the inability of existing economic systems to resolve our human and environmental dilemmas the unnatural connections now obtaining between genuine human need and the technological drift of science the new genetics and reproductive technologies and the nature of modern war The study concludes with some historical perspectives on American environmental history and the urgent need for change in our ecoethical social and value systems The principal focal areas of the original edition are continued the actual state of the global environment today the imperative for the development of sustainable economic and resource systems the movement within much of science toward an almost universal biological determinism and the need for a reaffirmation of an ethical value system which places the needs of people before the needs of property and profits The revised edition not only updates these data and the concerns of the original book but also visits a number of new issues the movement for environmental justice the connections between global poverty and the now almost universal allegiance to a new world market and free trade system the progress and the dilemmas of molecular biology and genetic engineering and the growing disarray within the global systems of political economy      The Social Science Imperialists G. in the 1930 s She was a theorist par excellence making outstanding contributions to the understanding of competition aggregate demand and capital At the same time she developed an interest in underdeveloped economies and alternatives to capitalism that eventually produced a long list of writings on China between the 1950 s to the 1970 s These writings were neither theoretical nor empirical but a series of opinion pieces and reports Yet it is these writings that arguably cost Joan Robinson the Nobel Memorial Prize in economics This short book reviews those writings and comments on what has happened since with regard to China s development Joan Robinson s interpretation and predictions and how her 1950 s lectures in China match up to China s policies since Mao This book will be of interest to students and scholars interested in how the history of economic thought can inform and progress development economics     Balance of Payments Theory and the United Kingdom Experience A.P.
