Daily, 2020-11-26 This book surveys the various methods and problems of organizing nonprint materials and describes the use of microcomputers both for storing nonprint items and keeping track of them It is useful for library school instructors and administrators media center specialists information scientists etc Golf Illustrated, 1899 Northwest Journal of Dentistry, 1921 Nebraska Dental Journal, 1913 Journal of the Ohio State Dental Society, 1927 Bulletin of the Chicago Dental Society, 1937 The Bob Hope Films James L. Neibaur, 2005-01-10 Bob Hope got his start in show business when he was in his twenties remained active past the age of 90 and lived to be 100 His longevity was remarkable especially when one considers that he was active in vaudeville radio motion pictures and television He excelled in each of these popular forms of entertainment but his films are the most genuine testaments to his timeless comedy His smart quips fast pace and breezy manner were perfect ingredients for the brand of comedy that was popular during World War II and the years immediately following the war This book begins with a discussion of Bob Hope's early career and the short films that he starred in and then covers each of the Hope films beginning with The Big Broadcast of 1938 The Hope films the author says do not have deep subtexts or clever cinematic innovations but provide clever uplifting entertainment that continues to inspire laughter and offer solid examples of the humor that made Americans smile during and after World War II Cast and credit information is provided for each film Alcohol in the Movies, 1898-1962 Judy Cornes, 2015-03-12 A 1906 film called The Dream of a Rarebit Fiend shows a man drinking and eating voraciously at a restaurant then going home to bed In the surreal scenes that follow furniture disappears tiny devils poke the man's head with pitchforks and his bed hurls itself out the window and across the city But it wasn't commentary on drinking rather it was a showcase of early special effects double exposure photography panning shots and montage Turn of the century films typically treated drinking as a subject for comedy and ridicule and the comic possibilities translated well into silent movies As talkies developed and the film industry matured alcohol's portrayal was reflected in the times prohibition the Great Depression the war years and as social commentary Here is a study of 64 years of alcohol as portrayed in film The author begins with the appearance in 1898 of what is probably the first commercial a 30 second film of men in kilts dancing and the words Scotch Whiskey appearing in the background The final film is 1962's Days of Wine and Roses which addresses alcoholism The author includes a film from each decade those with artistic or historical value those that represent the comedy drama and musical genres and well known pictures such as The Lost Weekend and A Star Is Born The first three chapters cover 1903 to 1939 The remaining chapters follow not a timeline but the growing complexity of the movies A recurring motif is the use of the term white logic a phrase used by writer Jack London in his 1913 memoir John Barleycorn It refers to disillusionment with everyday life brought on by and exacerbated by alcohol An annotated filmography lists the date source and other relevant information about movies in this study Bulletin Ohio State Dental Society, 1928
