Golkar And The Indonesian Elections Of 1971:

Language and Power Benedict R. O'G. Anderson, 2006 In this lively book Benedict R O G Anderson explores the cultural and political contradictions that have arisen from two critical facts in Indonesian history that while the Indonesian nation is young the Indonesian nation is ancient originating in the early seventeenth century Dutch conquests and that contemporary politics are conducted in a new language Bahasa Indonesia by peoples especially the Javanese whose cultures are rooted in medieval times Analyzing a spectrum of examples from classical poetry to public monuments and cartoons Anderson deepens our understanding of the interaction between modern and traditional notions of power the mediation of power by language and the development of national consciousness Language and Power now republished as part of Equinox Publishing's Classic Indonesia series brings together eight of Anderson's most influential essays over the past two decades and is essential reading for anyone studying the Indonesian country people or language Benedict Anderson is one of the world's leading authorities on Southeast Asian nationalism and particularly on Indonesia He is Professor of International Studies and Director of the Modern Indonesia Project at Cornell University New York His other works include Imagined Communities Reflections on the Origin and Spread of Nationalism and The Spectre of Comparisons Nationalism Southeast Asia and the World Political Parties and the 1982 General Election in Indonesia Leo Suryadinata, 1982 This paper examines the Indonesian political parties and the problems and prospects with reference to the 1982 general election

The White Book on the 1992 General Election in Indonesia, 2010-02 On November 18 1992 a delegation representing Badan Perlindungan Hak Hak Politik Rakyat dalam Menghadapi Pemilihan Umum 1992 BPHPR Body for the Protection of the People's Political Rights Facing the 1992 General Election presented a White Book on the election to the People's Representative Assembly MPR The delegation members were received by Prof Dr Achmad Amiruddin the Deputy Chairman of the MPR who was quoted as valuing their opinion but who refused to be engaged in dialogue on the issues raised in the White Book As far as is known nothing more became of that document until now Most of it is presented here in translation The White Book contains not only a detailed accounting of infractions and fraud that occurred during the campaign and election process but also a fundamental critique of the system of popular representation under the New Order of which general elections are only a part This critique arises in the first instance from the discrepancy between New Order laws regulations and rhetoric on the one hand and actual practices on the other But it also arises from a deeper some would say idealistic vision of popular democracy in Indonesia including the role of political parties elections and the rule of law In this vision some basic human rights including the political right to abstain in elections are inviolate The White Book while presenting a fundamental critique of general elections in the New Order political system also documents numerous infractions that occurred in the conduct or actual practice of the 1992 election This in itself must have been a difficult task Still remaining is a comparison of 1992 against the conduct of previous elections The question intrigues serious students of

Indonesian politics overall how did the conduct of the 1992 election measure up against previous New Order elections It seems fair to conclude that in 1992 there was less overt intervention by the Armed Forces in favor of Golkar than in previous elections and that the 1992 election was implemented in a more neutral fashion at both the upper or central and the provincial levels But there was little change at the lower levels where numerous violations and manipulations occurred in such aspects as the distribution of summonses needed to vote the presence of party witnesses at polling places attention paid to witnesses complaints meaningful participation of party representatives in committees PPS and KPPS and the initial compilation of the votes

Elections in Indonesia Hans Antlov, Sven Cederroth, 2021-03-24 It has sometimes been argued that many Indonesians had little sympathy with western notions of elections being events for the contesting and transfer of power and that they rather supported the New Order's use of festivals of democracy elections as occasions at which the mass of ordinary Indonesians were given the opportunity to celebrate the country's achievements under the rule of its New Order leadership as well as legitimize the continued rule of these leaders But the need to stage manage these elections as New Order triumphs finally undid the regime With chapters describing the last New Order election and the first free election in the post Suharto era this volume makes an important contribution to our understanding of the demise of the New Order and the directions being taken by the emerging regime

Islam and the State in Indonesia Bahtiar Effendy, 2003 This book explains the relationship between Islam and the state and politics in contemporary Indonesia President Soeharto's departure from office in May 1998 brought tremendous and far reaching impacts to Indonesia's political landscape At least 181 new political parties came into being a sizeable portion of which use Islam as their symbol and ideological basis

"Public Religion" and the Pancasila-based State of Indonesia Benyamin Fleming Intan, 2006 Public Religion and the Pancasila Based State of Indonesia An Ethical and Sociological Analysis analyzes the public role of religion in Indonesian society from the pre independence period to the end of Suharto's New Order government It offers constructive suggestions regarding how Indonesian religion can play a significant role within the framework of Pancasila Indonesia's national ideology Based on a Christian Muslim dialogue it is only within the realm of civil society that Indonesian religion will be able to promote the ideas of democracy tolerance and human rights in Indonesian public affairs In short far from being anti pluralist Indonesian religion evolves as a liberating force in the life of society nation and state
