Reference Guide to World Literature Tom Pendergast, 2003 Covers writers from the ancient Greeks to 20th century authors Includes biographical bibliographical entries on nearly 500 writers and approximately 550 entries focusing on significant works of world literature Each author entry provides a detailed overview of the writer's life and works Work entries cover a particular piece of world literature in detail A Nation's Benefactor, Gen'l John A. Sutter, 1880 Modern French Poets Jean-François Leroux, 2002 Essays on French poets of the twentieth century discusses collective creations open ended storytelling Cubism surrealism avant garde poetry symbolism as well as reflections on the various creative processes employed by these French poets Worlds Apart Benjamin Paloff, 2025-04-29 A number of European authors who survived concentration camps ghettos and besieged cities in the middle of the twentieth century chose not to write straightforward memoirs or testimonials but instead to fictionalize their experiences By manipulating narrative time and point of view and altering biographical facts these writers produced literary texts that challenge common notions of what constitutes an appropriate representation of collective trauma How might such works provide a deeper understanding of historical truth than the facts alone What does the literature of the camps reveal about present day spaces of confinement Worlds Apart explores the ethics of representation by reading the works of writers who use the techniques of literary fiction to depict survival in these precarious spaces Benjamin Paloff traces the complex relationship between fact and truth in these texts disentangling writers individual experiences from fictional elements that universalize that experience and in so doing show the camp to be an institution of the present Touring the unusual genre conventions of these works he weighs crucial questions about what constitutes truth in historical representation literature and the popular imagination Reading across Czech French German Polish Russian and Yiddish including lesser known and untranslated works Paloff considers portrayals of the Shoah the Gulag the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising and the blockade of Leningrad Bold nuanced and rich in comparative insight Worlds Apart argues forcefully for the moral urgency of recognizing that the camp is not simply a historical artifact but a basic institution of contemporary society An Imaginary Cinema Dustin Condren, 2024-12-15 An Imaginary Cinema is the first systematic study of Sergei Eisenstein's unrealized films as well as a deeply informed historical and theoretical inquiry into the role and meaning of the unmade in his oeuvre Eisenstein directed some of the twentieth century's most important films from the early classic of montage Battleship Potemkin to his late masterpiece Ivan the Terrible. Alongside these however the Soviet filmmaker also toiled over a compelling array of unrealized projects from ideas that never grew beyond complex passionate notebook scrawls and sketches to productions that were mounted and shot to some degree of completion without ever being finished. Working from the archival remnants of several of the director's most fascinating unrealized projects from his bold vision to film Marx's Das Kapital to his time in Hollywood struggling to adapt Dreiser's An American Tragedy, Dustin Condren's book reveals new aspects of Eisenstein's genius showing the filmmaker in a constant state of process open to working toward impossible and sometimes utopian ends and committed to the pursuit of creative and theoretical discovery. Condren's analysis of these unrealized projects in An Imaginary Cinema reveals Eisenstein at crucial moments of his personal and artistic biography and it also tells the wider story of a canonical artist negotiating the political labyrinths of Stalinist Russia, the economic pitfalls of Hollywood and the technological shifts of early cinema.

Review of Contemporary Fiction, 2004

Coming Out Swiss Anne Herrmann, 2014-04-15 Anne Herrmann, a dual citizen born in New York to Swiss parents, offers in Coming Out Swiss a witty, profound and ultimately universal exploration of identity and community. Swissness even on its native soil, a loose confederacy divided by multiple languages, nationalities, religion and alpen geography, becomes in the diaspora both nowhere except in the minds of immigrants and their children and everywhere reflected in pervasive clichés. In a work that is part memoir, part history and travelogue, Herrmann explores all our Swiss clichés: chocolate, secret bank accounts, Heidi, Nazi gold, neutrality, mountains. Swiss Family Robinson and also scrutinizes topics that may surprise: the invention of the Alps, the English Colony in Davos, Switzerland's role during World War II, women students at the University of Zurich in the 1870s. She ponders as well marks of Swissness that have lost their identity in the diaspora: Sutter Home, Helvetica, Dadaism and the enduring Swiss American community of New Glarus, Wisconsin. Coming Out Swiss will appeal not just to the Swiss diaspora but also to those drawn to multi-genre writing that blurs boundaries between the personal and the historical.

Shadow Modernism William Schaefer, 2017-09-29 During the early twentieth century, Shanghai was the center of China's new media culture. Described by the modernist writer Mu Shiying as transplanted from Europe and paved with shadows for many of its residents, Shanghai was a city without a past, paradoxically haunted by the absent past's traces. In Shadow Modernism, William Schaefer traces how photographic practices in Shanghai provided a forum within which to debate culture, ethnicity, history and the very nature of images. The central modernist form in China, photography was neither understood nor practiced as primarily a medium for realist representation; rather, photo layouts, shadow photography and photomontage rearranged and recomposed time and space, cutting apart and stitching places, people and periods together in novel and surreal ways. Analyzing unknown and overlooked photographs, photomontages, cartoons, paintings and experimental fiction and poetry, Schaefer shows how artists and writers used such fragmentation and juxtaposition to make visible the shadows of modernity in Shanghai: the violence, the past, the ethnic and cultural multiplicity excluded and repressed by the prevailing cultural politics of the era and yet hidden in plain sight
