Unreal City Judith Nies,2014-04-08 An epic struggle

over land water and power is erupting in the American West and the halls of Washington DC It began when a 4 000 square mile area of Arizona desert called Black Mesa was divided between the Hopi and Navajo tribes To the outside world it was a land struggle between two fractious Indian tribes to political insiders and energy corporations it was a divide and conquer play for the 21 billion tons of coal beneath Black Mesa Today that coal powers cheap electricity for Los Angeles a new water aqueduct into Phoenix and the neon dazzle of Las Vegas Journalist and historian Judith Nies has been tracking this story for nearly four decades She follows the money and tells us the true story of wealth and water mendacity and corruption at the highest levels of business and government Amid the backdrop of the breathtaking desert landscape Unreal City shows five cultures colliding Hopi Navajo global energy corporations Mormons and US government agencies resulting in a battle over resources and the future of the West Las Vegas may attract 39 million visitors a year but the tourists mesmerized by the dancing water fountains at the Bellagio don t ask where the water comes from They don t see a city with the nation s highest rates of foreclosure unemployment and suicide They don t see the astonishing drop in the water level of Lake Mead where Sin City gets 90 percent of its water supply Nies shows how the struggle over Black Mesa lands is an example of a global phenomenon in which giant transnational corporations have the power to separate indigenous people from their energy rich lands with the help of host governments Unreal City explores how and why resources have been taken from native lands what it means in an era of climate change and why in this city divorced from nature the only thing more powerful than money is water

Brian Honyouti Zena Pearlstone,2018-05-17 Although Hopi carver Brian Honyouti 1947 2016 was deeply embedded in his culture and produced ritual artworks throughout his life he nevertheless also created unique commercial artworks The latter the focus of this volume increasingly diverged from the world view embodied in Hopi art ceremony and philosophy to become a new form of storytelling While it is unlikely that anyone familiar with Hopi carvings dolls would look to Honyoutis artworks expecting to unearth political social or environmental truths and circumstances these are nonetheless the messages he determined to convey In Brian Honyouti Hopi Carver art historian Zena Pearlstone explores the ideas Honyouti sought to communicate through his work She examines as well how he transmitted them by turning a traditional art form the carved representations of katsinas into a modernistic critique of local Native American and global concerns It is as a result of these universal implications that Honyoutis art will endure Because Honyoutis attachment to Hopi culture was so profound he veiled his critical reflections with humor and imagination to avoid exposing too much to public scrutiny Feeling that there should be a public record of his intentions however he set aside many of his self imposed limitations when he agreed to collaborate with Pearlstone It was his hope that having made his intentions public for the first time his work would be seen as a window into Hopi life as well as a reflection of contemporary mainstream American society
