Egypt between 1750 and 1956 Napoleon's Egyptian expedition of 1798-1801 failed in military terms but succeeded in focusing Western attention on the country. The nation fascinated travellers because of its antiquity, its monuments and its bazaars. In the nineteenth century the typical itinerary for travellers included Alexandria, Cairo, the Pyramids and a journey by boat up the Nile to the temples of Luxor and others. Some of the essays included in this volume focus on fiction by writers like Samuel Johnson and Charles Dickens or travel works by Florence Nightingale, Lucie Duff Gordon and Gérard de Nerval. Others analyse representations of Egypt by explorers, American ex-soldiers, French painters, British colonial administrators and sociologists and a Russian doctor investigating the efficacy of Muhammad Ali's reforms in relation to the plague. There is also a discussion of the changes in nineteenth-century Egyptian dress.

Architecture for the Dead : Cairo's Medieval Necropolis Galila El Kadi, Alain Bonnamy, 2007. The great medieval necropolis of Cairo comprising two main areas that together stretch twelve kilometers from north to south constitutes a major feature of the city's urban landscape. With monumental and smaller-scale mausolea dating from all eras since early medieval times and boasting some of the finest examples of Mamluk architecture not just in the city but in the region, the necropolis is an unparalleled and until now largely undocumented architectural treasure trove. In Architecture for the Dead, architect Galila El Kadi and photographer Alain Bonnamy have produced a comprehensive and visually stunning survey of all areas of the necropolis. Through detailed and painstaking research and remarkable photography in text, maps, plans and pictures, they describe and illustrate the astonishing variety of architectural styles in the necropolis from Mamluk to neo-Mamluk, via baroque and neo-pharaonic, from the grandest stone buildings with their decorative domes and minarets to the humblest but elaborately decorated wooden structures. The book also documents the modern settlement of the necropolis by families creating a space for the living in and among the tombs and architecture for the dead.

The Horizon Didier Maleuvre, 2011-02-15. What is a horizon? A line where land meets sky. The end of the world or the beginning of perception. In this brilliant, engaging and stimulating history, Didier Maleuvre journeys to the outer reaches of human experience and explores philosophy, religion and art to understand our struggle and fascination with limits of life, knowledge, existence and death. Maleuvre sweeps us through a vast cultural landscape, enabling us to experience each stopping place as the cusp of a limitless journey, whether he is discussing the works of Picasso, Gothic architecture, Beethoven or General Relativity. If, as Aristotle said, philosophy begins in wonder, then this remarkable book shows us how wonder, the urge to know beyond the conceivable, is itself the engine of culture.
