Projects in the Computing Curriculum Michael Holcombe, Andrew F. Stratton, Sally A. Fincher, Gary Griffiths, 2012-12-06 Dr Peter Milton Director of Programme Review Quality Assurance Agency I am grateful to the authors for giving me the opportunity to write this foreword mainly because it represents the first occasion that the Fund for the Development of Teaching and Learning FDTL has led directly to a publication such as this In my former capacity as Director of Quality Assessment at the Higher Education Funding Council for England HEFCE I chaired the FDTL Committee during 1996-7 and am delighted to see the projects which were selected so painstakingly leading to successful outcomes Assessment of the quality of higher education HE was introduced in 1993 and was intended to improve public information about what was on offer in British universities and colleges as well as to assist in the enhancement of educational opportunities for students This was part of a larger agenda in which educational quality and the standards achieved by students have come under increasing scrutiny with a long term objective of linking funding allocations to the quality of the provision It was in this context that the FDTL Initiative was launched in 1995 to support projects aimed at stimulating developments in teaching and learning and to encourage the dissemination of good practice across the HE sector Good practice is identified through the process of quality assessment and bids for funding can only be made by those institutions which have demonstrated high quality provision To date the programme includes 63 projects drawn from 23 subject areas

Research on Classroom Ecologies Deborah L. Speece, Barbara K. Keogh, 2013-04-03 Written during a period of reexamination and change in the field of special education this book was developed in order to provide a better understanding of the contexts in which children receive their formal education The movement toward the least restrictive environment for the education of children with disabilities is weathering a wave of reinterpretations including mainstreaming the regular education initiative and inclusion While each interpretation has its proponents and critics limited theory and few data are available to guide these important policy decisions Focusing specifically on classrooms the settings where educators can have the most immediate impact and where research is most needed this volume s goals are to establish what is known about classroom ecologies from both general and special education perspectives to integrate the perspectives of researchers and practitioners and to chart directions for further research specifically related to children with learning disabilities The construct of classroom ecology is defined as three interrelated domains instruction teacher and peer interaction and organization and management This scheme provides the structure for the book Taken as a whole the content of the volume underscores the limits of current knowledge and at the same time provides directions for needed changes in both research and practice
