The SAGE Handbook of Writing Development Roger Beard, Debra Myhill, Jeni Riley, Martin Nystrand, 2009-07-09 Writing development is currently the focus of substantial international debate because it is the aspect of literacy education that has been least responsive to central government and state reforms Teaching approaches in writing have been slower to change than those in teaching reading and pupil attainment in writing has increased at a much more modest rate than pupil attainment in reading This handbook critically examines research and theoretical issues that impact on writing development from the early years through to adulthood It provides those researching or teaching literacy with one of the most academically authoritative and comprehensive works in the field With expert contributors from across the world the book represents a detailed and valuable overview of a complex area of study

Teaching Writing Tessa Daffern, Noella M. Mackenzie, 2020 In the 21st century writing is more important than at any other time in human history Yet much of the emphasis in schooling has been on reading and after the early years writing skills have been given less attention Internationally too many children are leaving school without the writing skills they need to succeed in life The evidence indicates that students rarely develop proficiency as writers without effective teacher instruction Teaching Writing offers a comprehensive approach for the middle years of schooling when the groundwork should be laid for the demanding writing tasks of senior school and the workplace Teaching Writing outlines evidence based principles of writing instruction for upper primary students and young adolescents It presents strategies that are ready for adoption or adaptation and exemplars to assist with designing and implementing writing lessons across the middle years of school It addresses writing from a multimodal perspective while also highlighting the importance of teaching linguistic aspects of text design such as sentence structure vocabulary and spelling as foundations for meaning making Contributors argue that students need to continue to develop their skills in both handwriting and keyboarding Examples of the teaching of writing across disciplines are presented through a range of vignettes Strategies for assessing student writing and for supporting students with diverse needs are also explored With contributions from leading literacy educators Teaching Writing is an invaluable resource for primary secondary and pre service teachers

Effective Education Clayton Gingerich, 2002 Learning to Write Effectively: Current Trends in European Research Mark Torrance, Denis Alamargot, Montserrat Castelló, Franck Ganier, Otto Kruse, Anne Mangen, Liliana Tolchinsky, Luuk van Waes, 2012-09-05 This book provides a detailed overview of current or recent research exploring a wide range of ideas theories and practices around written text production European researchers from a broad range of disciplines brought together under the European Research Network on Learning to Write Effectively were instructed to contribute short papers summarising their current activity The papers are grouped around the four main themes The first deals with issues around the development of basic low level writing skills mainly in the early years of education The second section focuses directly on issues around the teaching and learning of writing This is divided into five parts that describe evaluations of different forms of writing instruction research exploring the processes by which writers learn methods of text assessment in educational contexts research exploring the effects of various learner and teacher variables on the development of writing skill and conceptions of and variation in educational text genres The third section reports research exploring effective document design The final section has a main focus on tools for exploring the writing process
