Effects Of Nuclear War:

The Environmental Effects Of Nuclear War Julius London, Gilbert F White, 2019-07-11 This book assesses the current available information concerning the major scientific problems related to environmental consequences of a possible nuclear war The contributors address a broad range of topics among them the effects of blast heat and local radioactive fallout the likely dispersal patterns and residence times of radioactive debris in the troposphere and stratosphere the probable long term effects on both the local and global biosphere and radiological consequences for humans the effect on the global environment of widespread fires in urban and industrialized regions and the likely significant decrease of stratospheric ozone with a resulting long term increase in harmful UV radiation received at the ground The authors point to problem areas where current information is inadequate or completely lacking and discuss the role of the scientist in developing such information as a contribution to the elimination of the nuclear war threat

Crucible of Despair Anthony Tucker, John Gleisner, 1982 Disastrous Effects of Nuclear War , 1985 Nuclear Winter M.A. Harwell, 2012-12-06 In 1982 three conservationists in the United States discussed a growing concern they shared about the long term biological consequences of nuclear war they wondered what such a war would do to the air the water the soils 1 the natural systems upon which all life depends I was one of those three the others were executives of two philanthropic foundations Robert L Allen of the Henry P Kendall Foundation and the late Robert W Scrivner of the Rockefeller Family Fund Together we began trying to find out what the scientific community was doing about the problem and what steps could be taken to alert the environmental movement to the need to address the subject We knew that a large scale nuclear war might kill from 300 million to a billion people outright and that another billion could suffer serious injuries requiring immediate medical attention care that would be largely unavailable But what kind of world would survivors face Would the long term consequences prove to humanity and survival of all species than the to be even more serious immediate effects We found that comparatively little scientific research had been done about the environmental consequences of a nuclear war of the magnitude that today's huge arsenal could unleash
