Effects Of Receiving Country Policies On Migration Flows:

The Effects Of Receiving Country Policies On Migration Flows Sergio Diaz-briquets, Sidney Weintraub, 2019-06-26

This book deals with migrant sending countries in the Western Hemisphere because that was the Commission's mandate and because the bulk of undocumented immigrants into the United States come from Mexico and other countries of the Caribbean Basin Economic Migration Effects Amelia Scott, AI, 2025-02-21 Economic Migration Effects explores the driving forces behind global mobility asserting that economic factors are paramount in understanding migration patterns The book examines how individuals respond to economic incentives such as wage levels and unemployment rates in their decisions to migrate It highlights the push and pull factors influencing these choices and analyzes their effects on both sending and receiving economies Intriguingly the book reveals that globalization and technological advancements have reshaped migration's scale and scope while remittances sent home by migrants can significantly impact developing economies The book adopts a systematic approach starting with core migration theories like neoclassical economics and dual labor market theory It progresses to analyzing the economic impacts of migration on labor markets economic growth and public finances using financial analyses and labor market studies A key feature is its integration of micro level decision making with macro level economic analysis offering a comprehensive view of how individual choices shape broader migration trends The book concludes by exploring the political science aspect of policy implications offering evidence based recommendations for managing migration flows to benefit migrants and host communities It emphasizes the importance of understanding economic incentives to predict and manage migration effectively making it a valuable resource for students researchers policymakers and anyone interested in the economics of migration The Macroeconomic Impact of

Remittances on the Sending Country Germán Alberto Zaráte, 2000 How Immigrants Impact Their Homelands

Susan Eva Eckstein, Adil Najam, 2013-04-05 How Immigrants Impact Their Homelands examines the range of economic social and cultural impacts immigrants have had both knowingly and unknowingly in their home countries The book opens with overviews of the ways migrants become agents of homeland development The essays that follow focus on the varied impacts immigrants have had in China India Cuba Mexico the Philippines Mozambique and Turkey One contributor examines the role Indians who worked in Silicon Valley played in shaping the structure successes and continued evolution of India's IT industry Another traces how Salvadoran immigrants extend U S gangs and their brutal violence to El Salvador and neighboring countries The tragic situation in Mozambique of economically desperate migrants who travel to South Africa to work contract HIV while there and infect their wives upon their return is the subject of another essay Taken together the essays show the multiple ways countries are affected by immigration Understanding these effects will provide a foundation for future policy reforms in ways that will strengthen the positive and minimize the negative effects of the current mobile world Contributors Victor Agadjanian Boaventura Cau Jos Miguel Cruz Susan Eva Eckstein Kyle Eischen David Scott FitzGerald Natasha conditions of peace political stability and development A large share of international migrants originated from rural areas This is an important part of the structural transformation of an economy and is an important part of the structural transformation of an economy Examining the complex interlinkages of migration with agriculture This report examines the existing literature and provides evidence from both developed and developing countries focusing on why people from rural areas decide to migrate It explores the drivers of migration both international and internal and aims to deepen our understanding of the interlinkages with agriculture food security and rural development This report assesses the impact of migration on countries of origin and destination focusing on rural areas and the agricultural sector It discusses how agricultural and social policies can address challenges and capitalize on opportunities created by migration trends

The Rights of Immigrant Workers in the European Union Joanna Apap, 2002-09-01 This book is one of the very few studies that evaluates the evolving policies towards third country nationals residing and working in the European Union EU Other studies have analysed the existing legal framework of citizenship and migrants rights in the EU and the flow of migrants into the Community However much less comparative research has been carried out about the actual position and the practice of migrants rights in the receiving countries in the context of an ever integrating EU and the removal of internal borders The focus of this book is on the consequences of the increasing number of Maghreb workers residing in Italy and Spain both for EU policy and with respect to these two countries as relatively new receiving states The book examines What public policy implications does the labour immigration from the Maghreb Countries have for the EU as a supranational Community rather than for the Member states individually To what extent can citizenship rights be extended to third country nationals legally residing in a European Union to make their status as close as possible to that of European citizens

Five Years of an Enlarged EU Filip Keereman, Istvan Szekely, 2010-07-23 The Fifth Enlargement that took place in 2004 and 2007 was a milestone in the history of the European Union Not only because of the large number of acceding countries but also because of their recent political and economic experience Ten of them had undergone a profound transition from a totalitarian regime to democracy and from a centrally planned economy to a market based system Most of them had income levels significantly below those of the then EU 15 Now 6 years later we can clearly see that the process of European integration both before and after 2004 was what enabled Europe to overcome the gaps between various parts of the continent The enlargement made Europe a better and wealthier place and strengthened its position in the world Integration into the European Union has always been one of the strongest incentives for reform in the new Member States Particularly important in my view have been the development of financial markets through foreign direct investment and capital flows and the opening of labour markets which was a two way phenomenon with markets being opened up in acceding as well as the incumbent Member States The Fifth Enlargement was thus an exercise of globalisation in miniature a practice run for the Union to tackle the challenges of the ever smaller world

Rural migration in sub-Saharan Africa: patterns, drivers and relation to structural transformation Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, CIRAD Agricultural Research for Development, 2020-02-13 Sub Saharan Africa has a long history of internal and international migratory movements Migration patterns and dynamics from to and between rural areas are profoundly differentiated across regions and flows have considerably evolved over time Yet more recently rural migration takes place in the unique situation of a major rural and urban demographic increase which results in critical socio economic and environmental challenges In this context intertwined migration drivers emerge and call for a better understanding of on going dynamics This working paper draws on a combination of literature review and data analysis building on the results of the Atlas Rural Africa in motion Dynamics and drivers of migration South of the Sahara This mixed approach is used to propose a conceptual framework based on past current and future drivers of migration then to examine observed patterns of rural migration and finally to discuss drivers characteristics and dynamics from case studies and existing datasets

Out of Africa Giovanni Carbone, 2017-12-15 The EU is struggling to cope with the so called migration crisis that has emerged over the past few years Designing the right policies to address immigration requires a deep understanding of its root causes Why do Africans decide to leave their home countries While the dream of a better life in Europe is likely part of the explanation one also needs to examine the prevailing living conditions in the large and heterogeneous sub Saharan region This Report investigates the actual role of political economic demographic and environmental drivers in current migration flows It offers a comprehensive picture of major migration motives as well as of key trends Attention is also devoted to the role of climate change in promoting migration and to intra continental mobility two thirds of sub Saharan migrant flows start and end within the region Two country studies on Eritrea and Nigeria are also included to get a closer sense of local developments behind large scale migration to Europe
