Promised Lands Sharon Ann Musher, 2025-04-22 How adventurous Jewish women's travels upended Jewish norms In 1922 Rabbi Mordecai Kaplan the founder of Reconstructionist Judaism first initiated the bat mitzvah as a rite of passage for Jewish girls Characterized as a lifelong supporter of women's rights Kaplan's family including his wife and four daughters played a role in shaping his ideas about women culture and Zionism This was especially true of his second daughter Hadassah Kaplan who joined a small but influential cohort of American Jewish women who studied worked and volunteered in British Mandate Palestine Promised Lands provides a window into the lives of American Jewish women in both New York City's Upper West Side and Palestine during the interwar period By tracing Hadassah's journey the volume offers a sense of what drew this generation of adventurous women to Palestine and helps us to understand their impact on American Jewry Drawing on a rich personal archive of diary entries photographs and letters Sharon Ann Musher displays how unconventional women like Hadassah Kaplan were able to challenge cultural norms and experiment with ideological commitments while still remaining good daughters wives and mothers Their knowledge and experience in volunteering philanthropy and education within the United States helped them to build Jewish institutions and communities abroad and to center Zionism in American Jewish education institutions and identity Crafting a compelling portrait of an influential Jewish woman Promised Lands showcases the legacy of Hadassah Kaplan and her fellow travelers on American Jewish life

America and Zion Moshe Davis, 2002 Moshe Davis was a preeminent scholar of contemporary Jewish history and the founding head of the Institute of Contemporary Jewry at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem A recognized leader in the field of bicultural American Jewish studies he was a mentor to educators and academics in both Israel and North America and an active colleague of American Christian scholars involved in interfaith study and dialogue These wide ranging essays many of them presented at a colloquium that Professor Davis had planned but did not live to attend honor him by exploring the theme of Zion as an integral part of American spiritual history and as a site of interfaith discourse Not only do these essays stress the role of individuals in history but they also incorporate views outside those of mainstream religions American attitudes toward the land of the Bible reflect both Jewish values that arose from their abiding attachment to Zion and the uniquely American Christian vision of a utopian pre industrial pre urban pre secularized world Whereas American Christians expected to be lifted out of their ordinary lives when they visited the Holy Land Jews saw in their affinity for Zion a strong link to their American environment Jews viewed America's biblical heritage as a source of practical values such as fair play and equality social vision and political covenant In inviting such comparisons these essays illuminate the relationship of Judaism to America and the richness of American religious experience overall history has disappeared from the collective Zionist memory but it played a role in building the Jewish national community in Palestine The unusual history of Acre shows how it succeeded in attracting new nationalist settlers The book seeks to illuminate the complexity and diversity of the Zionist enterprise in relation to the Arab and mixed towns of Mandatory Palestine by raising questions about the relationship between the history of a place and national history By describing the failure of the Hebrew settlement in the Mandate territory of Acre the book views the Zionist project as a fascinating intersection between the dreams of those who created the leading narratives and between local interests and the unique geographical conditions of the region

Singing the Land Eli Sperling,2024-03-04 Singing the Land Hebrew Music and Early Zionism in America examines the proliferation and use of popular Hebrew Zionist music amongst American Jewry during the first half of the twentieth century This music one part in a greater process of instilling diasporic Zionism in American Jewish communities represents an early and underexplored means of fostering mainstream American Jewish engagement with the Jewish state and Hebrew national culture as they emerged after Israel declared its independence in 1948 This evolutionary process brought Zionism from being an often polemical notion in American Judaism at the turn of the twentieth century to a mainstream component of American Jewish life by 1948 Hebrew music ultimately emerged as an important means through which many American Jews physically participated in or performed aspects of Zionism and Hebrew national culture from afar Exploring the history events contexts and tensions that comprised what may be termed the Zionization of American Jewry during the first half of the twentieth century Eli Sperling analyzes primary sources within the historical contexts of Zionist national development and American Jewish life Singing the Land offers insights into how and why musical frameworks were central to catalyzing American Jewry's support of the Zionist cause by the 1940s parallel to firm commitments to their American locale and national identities The proliferation of this widespread American Jewish Zionist embrace was achieved through a variety of educational religious economic and political efforts and Hebrew music was a thread consistent among them all

The Jews of the Middle East and North Africa in Modern Times Reeva S. Simon,Michael M.
