violence to show how texts of various kinds allowed temporary release from an individualism that was constraining Scenes such as Gloucester's blinding and Cordelia's death in King Lear or the dismemberment and sexual violence depicted in Titus Andronicus allowed audience members not only a release but a shattering as opposed to an affirmation of the self Marshall draws upon close readings of Shakespearean plays Petrarchan sonnets John Foxe's Acts and Monuments of the Christian Martyrs and John Ford's The Broken Heart to successfully address questions of subjectivity psychoanalytic theory and identity via a cultural response to art Timely in its offering of an account that is both historically and psychoanalytically informed The Shattering of the Self argues for a renewed attention to the place of fantasy in this literature and will be of interest to scholars working in Renaissance and early modern studies literary theory gender studies and film theory

Tour Guiding Research Betty Weiler, Rosemary Black, 2015 This book provides an authoritative state of the art review of tour guiding scholarship and research It aims to foster best practice and to stimulate further study and research on tour guiding across a range of disciplines The book is well illustrated and its accessible style with chapter summaries makes it ideal for students as well as researchers

The Rhetoric of Oil in the Twenty-First Century Heather Graves, David Edward Beard, 2019-04-05 This book examines mass communication and civic participation in the age of oil analyzing the rhetorical and discursive ways that governments and corporations shape public opinion and public policy and activists attempt to reframe public debates to resist corporate framing In the twenty first century oil has become a subject of civic deliberation Environmental concerns have intensified questions of indigenous rights have arisen and private and public investment in energy companies has become open to deliberation International contributors use local events as a starting point to explore larger issues associated with oil dependent societies and cultures This interdisciplinary collection synthesizes work in the energy humanities rhetorical studies and environmental studies to analyze the global discourse of oil from the start of the twentieth century into the era of transnational corporations of the 21st century This book will be a vital text for scholars in communication studies the energy humanities and in environmental studies Case studies are framed accessibly and the theoretical lenses are accessible across disciplines making it ideal for a post graduate and advanced undergraduate audience in these fields

Reward Management Michael Rose, 2018-08-03 Effectively and fairly rewarding employees is a critical component to help build organizational team and individual performance and success Reward Management is a practical guide to understanding and implementing successful reward strategies which are aligned with broader HR and organizational objectives Drawing on case studies reflective questions and practical tools it covers key areas including pay and grade structures job evaluation pay reviews bonus plans non cash reward benefits tax issues and provides the knowledge and skills needed to plan implement and assess an effective reward strategy in any type of organization This second edition of Reward Management has been updated to include the latest research and developments such as the role of recognition and non cash awards and the psychological implications relating to financial incentives New and updated case studies

Congress. House. Committee on Science and Technology. Subcommittee on Investigations and Oversight,2009 From Rhetoric to Reality Megan Olinger,1998 Critical Human Resource Management Dhammika Jayawardena,2021-05-31 Human resource management HRM is the predominant apparatus for people management across the world Since its inception HRM has nevertheless been subjected to critical scrutiny This work has produced a corpus of literature now referred to as Critical HRM This book on Critical HRM traces the development of the critical scholarly tradition in people management It analyzes organizes and synthesizes the various perspectives ideas and arguments that constitute this critical tradition The book identifies the current status and future trends of Critical HRM and explores its ethico political role in contemporary organizations especially in the context of widespread public concern about making business more ethical Incorporating under researched and emerging issues of people management such as the Global South and Critical HRM with more established themes of Critical HRM this book introduces Critical HRM s critique of mainstream HRM and its underpinning assumptions It illustrates how interventions have the potential to transform organizational policies and practices of managing people at work The book will be of interest to professionals researchers and academics focusing on critical issues in people management across the Global South and North The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies Donna Strickland,2011-07-11 In this pointed appraisal of composition studies Donna Strickland contends the rise of writing program administration is crucial to understanding the history of the field Noting existing histories of composition studies that offer little to no exploration of administration Strickland argues the field suffers from a managerial unconscious that ignores or denies the dependence of the teaching of writing on administrative structures The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies is the first book to address the history of composition studies as a profession rather than focusing on its pedagogical theories and systems Strickland questions why writing and the teaching of writing have been the major areas of scholarly inquiry in the field when specialists often work primarily as writing program administrators not teachers Strickland traces the emergence of writing programs in the early twentieth century the founding of two professional organizations by and for writing program administrators and the managerial overtones of the social turn of the field during the 1990s She illustrates how these managerial imperatives not only have provided much of the impetus for the growth of composition studies over the past three decades but also have contributed to the stratified workplaces and managed writing practices the field s pedagogical research often decries The Managerial Unconscious in the History of Composition Studies makes the case that administrative work should not be separated from intellectual work calling attention to the interplay between these two kinds of work in academia at large and to the pronounced hierarchies of contingent faculty and tenure track administrators endemic to college writing programs The result is a reasoned plea for an alternative understanding of the very mission of the field itself      Methods of Rhetorical Criticism Bernard L. Brock, Robert Lee Scott, James W. Chesebro, 1989      Reshaping Probation and Prisons Hough, Mike, Allen, Rob, Una Padel, 2006-01-11 This text takes a look at the different aspects of the National Offender Management Service NOMS proposals It identifies the risks attached to NOMS assesses the prospects of success and more It is useful for politicians civil servants criminal justice managers and senior probation and prison staff      Rhetorical Theory Timothy Borchers, Heather Hundley, 2018-03-30 From the moment we begin to understand the meanings of words and symbols we have used rhetoric It is how we determine perceptions of who we are those around us and the social structure in which we operate Rhetorical Theory Second Edition introduces a broad selection of classical and contemporary theoretical approaches to understanding and using rhetoric Historical context reveals why rhetorical theories were created while present day examples demonstrate how they relate to the world in which we live Borchers and Hundley present conceptual topics in a succinct and approachable manner The text is organized topically rather than chronologically so similarities and differences are easily detected in central ideas Each chapter is enhanced by the inclusion of theorist biographies applications of theory to practice and Internet exercises The Second Edition expands coverage on mediated rhetoric feminist rhetoric alternative rhetorical theories including Afrocentricity and intersectionality cultural and critical rhetoric and postmodern implications of rhetoric      Migration Without Borders Antoine Pécoud, Paul F. A. Guchteneire, 2007 International migration is high on the public and political agenda of many countries as the movement of people raises concerns while often eluding states attempts at regulation In this context the scenario challenges conventional views on the need to control and restrict migration flows This book explores the analytical issues raised by open borders in terms of ethics human rights economic development politics social cohesion and welfare and provides in depth empirical investigations of how free movement is addressed and governed in Europe Africa the Americas and Asia Publisher's description      Socially-critical Environmental Education in Primary Classrooms Jane Edwards, 2015-10-26 The effectiveness of Education for Sustainable Development depends on the ability of schools and teachers to embrace pedagogies that reduce the gap between the rhetoric of education for the environment and the reality of classroom practices This book responds to the need to better understand the nature of the relationships between agency and structure that contribute to the development of educational rhetoric reality gaps in order to inform processes that most effectively facilitate pedagogical change This book explores the issues of pedagogical change through the experiences of Australian primary school teachers faced with the challenge of implementing an environmental education program in which young students were positioned as active participants in the social processes from which environmentally sustainable practices could be developed These teachers were required to adopt pedagogies that often represented the antithesis of their well established teacher directed approaches Through the use of Anthony Giddens Theory of Structuration this book provides unique perspectives of the teacher mediated manner in which certain elements of structure and agency interrelate to enable and constrain classroom practices essential understandings for school principals and educational policy developers who aim to effectively implement pedagogical change This book also demonstrates that the Theory of Structuration provides a valuable ontological research framework and provides social researchers with practical guidance for how to relate this theory to specific research issues
