From The Mouth Of The Supreme:

Supreme Court Reporter, 1927      The Concept of Mind in Hindu Tantra Gavin Flood, 2024-11-18 This book presents an account of the concept of mind in Hindu Tantra through a study of religious and philosophical texts in the medieval period. Offering an understanding on how the mind is conceptualized both as that which keeps a person bound to the cycle of reincarnation and as having transformative potential in allowing a person to achieve liberation or salvation, this book examines mostly previously untranslated sources. It shows how there are different understandings of the mind that relate to different ideas of redemption. The main tantric tradition, the aiva Siddhanta, adopts a model of mind from Yoga in which the wandering mind keeps us trapped, whereas the nondualist aiva tradition, sometimes called Kashmiri aivism, sees the mind as inherently pure and free. The book traces a history of the concept of mind from early sources, especially Buddhism, through to the tantric medieval period and ending with the eighteenth century. The author shows how the concept changes and what is retained. A comparison of the tantric ideas of mind with those of some European philosophy, notably Descartes' dualism and German idealism's non-dualism, sharpens the concept of mind in the tantric tradition. A historical and philosophical study of key ideas in the tantric traditions; this book will be of interest to researchers in the field of Religious Studies, Asian Religion, Hindu Studies, Indian philosophy, and comparative philosophy.

Cases Argued and Decided in the Supreme Court of the United States United States. Supreme Court, 1911      The Riddle of Christian Mystical Experience Paul Mombaers, 2003 A distinctive feature of mystical experience is that it is imageless. Mystics of various traditions witness, indeed, to their going beyond all intermediaries so as to enjoy immediate union. Understandably, the idea of imageless immediacy is attractive, and it is especially in vogue with those who hope to discover that different religious spiritualities converge if only the particularity of, say, the Christian way would be left behind. However, a crucial question arises here: If mystical union consists in simply transcending what is part and parcel of the human condition, where is its relevance? Is the mystic, as such, in a position to be his or her human self, thinking and loving, enjoying and suffering? Can he or she be active in the world of humankind? Obviously, it is especially in the Christian tradition that this matter comes to the fore as a radical difficulty. For here there is the divine Image and Mediator, so much so that the Humanity of Jesus ought to be integral to a person's union with God. Perhaps the Christian mystic is such an extraordinary figure that the Humanity and all other images and intermediaries are for him or her at best a stepping stone that is bound to disappear. The Riddle of Christian Mystical Experience aims to clarify this issue by analyzing the writings of such visionaries as Julian of Norwich, Teresa of Avila, and Maria Petyt of the Ecstasy, minded masters Richard of Saint Victor, Bernard of Clairvaux, and Bonaventure.

describing Francis of Assisi's experience of the cream of the Flemish mystics namely Hadewijch and Jan van Ruusbroec. Nevertheless the preference for the mystical text does not prevent the Riddle from drawing on the insights of modern philosophers such as Jean Paul Sartre and Jean Luc Marion when treating of images and idols or Michael Polanyi and Ludwig Wittgenstein when reflecting on intermediaries. The main result of this procedure may come as a surprise. Far from turning into a detached creature who forgets about the Humanity and the human, the full fledged mystic is as a Flemish mystic puts it wholly in God where he rests in enjoyment and wholly in himself where he loves with works. Experiencing union with intermediary and without intermediary, the true Christian mystic is unimaged as well as imaged upon the humanity of our Lord through heartfelt affection.
