From Text to Txting Paul Budra, Clint Burnham, 2012-07-25 Literary scholars face a new and often baffling reality in the classroom students spend more time looking at glowing screens than reading printed text The social lives of these students take place in cyberspace instead of the student pub Their favorite narratives exist in video games not books How do teachers who grew up in a different world engage these students without watering down pedagogy Clint Burnham and Paul Budra have assembled a group of specialists in visual poetry graphic novels digital humanities role playing games television studies and yes even the middle brow novel to address this question Contributors give a brief description of their subject investigate how it confronts traditional notions of the literary and ask what contemporary literary theory can illuminate about their text before explaining how their subject can be taught in the 21st century classroom Voice, Text, Hypertext Raimonda Modiano, Leroy F. Searle, Peter L. Shillingsburg, 2016-06-01 Voice Text Hypertext illustrates brilliantly why interest in textual studies has grown so dramatically in recent years For the distinguished authors of these essays a text is more than a document or material object It is a cultural event a matrix of decisions an intricate cultural practice that may focus on religious traditions modern underground literary movements poetic invention or the irreducible complexity of cultural politics Drawing from classical Roman and Indian to modern European traditions the volume makes clear that to study a text is to study a culture It also demonstrates the essential importance of heightened textual awareness for contemporary cultural studies and critical theory and indeed for any discipline that studies human culture Text D. Speed Hill, Peter Shillingsburg, 1996-04 The distinguished annual in interdisciplinary textual studies Computational Linguistics and Intelligent Text Processing Alexander Gelbukh, 2004-03-08 CICLing 2004 was the 5th Annual Conference on Intelligent Text Processing and Computational Linguistics see www.CICLing.org CICLing conferences are intended to provide a balanced view of the cutting edge developments in both theoretical foundations of computational linguistics and the practice of natural language text processing with its numerous applications A feature of CICLing conferences is their wide scope that covers nearly all areas of computational linguistics and all aspects of natural language processing applications These conferences are a forum for dialogue between the specialists working in the two areas This year we were honored by the presence of our invited speakers Martin Kay of Stanford University Philip Resnik of the University of Maryland Ricardo Baeza Yates of the University of Chile and Nick Campbell of the ATR Spoken Language Translation Research Laboratories They delivered excellent extended lectures and organized vivid discussions Of 129 submissions received 74 full papers and 44 short papers after careful international reviewing 74 papers were selected for presentation 40 full papers and 35 short papers written by 176 authors from 21 countries Korea 37 Spain 34 Japan 22 Mexico 15 China 11 Germany 10 Ireland 10 UK 10 Singapore 6 Canada 3 Czech Rep 3 France 3 Brazil 2 Sweden 2 Taiwan 2 Turkey 2 USA 2 Chile 1 Romania 1 Thailand 1 and The Netherlands 1 the figures in parentheses stand for the number of authors from the corresponding country

Contrastive Analysis of News Text Types in Russian, British and American Business Online and Print Media Anastasiya Kornetzki, 2012-03-01 This book is devoted to the analysis of cross media and cross cultural peculiarities of Russian British and American media discourse from the intertextual perspective The study of a complex variety of intertextual links which exist between texts and genres is a contemporary aspect in the theory of intertextuality There are numerous theoretical approaches in the study of intertextuality but there is a lack of an empirically profound framework for its analysis across many disciplines An interdisciplinary approach to the study of intertextuality is a necessary step to investigate this phenomenon comprehensively This book offers an alternative approach to the study of intertextuality singling out intra textual textual and inter genre levels on which this phenomenon comes to the fore Learning From Text Across Conceptual Domains Cynthia R. Hynd, 2013-12-16 This volume is an attempt to synthesize the understandings we have about reading to learn Although learning at all ages is discussed in this volume the main focus is on middle and high school classrooms critical spaces of learning and thinking The amount of knowledge presented in written form is increasing and the information we get from texts is often conflicting We are in a knowledge explosion that leaves us reeling and may effectively disenfranchise those who are not keeping up There has never been a more crucial time for students to understand learn from and think critically about the information in various forms of text Thus understanding what it means to learn is vital for all educators Learning from text is a complex matter that includes student factors social ethnic and cultural differences as well as varying motivations self perceptions goals and needs instructional and teacher factors and disciplinary and social factors One important goal of the book is to encourage practicing teachers to learn to consider their students in new ways to see them as being influenced by and as influencing not just the classroom but the total fabric of the disciplines they are learning Equally important it is intended to foster further research efforts from local studies of classrooms by teachers to large scale studies that produce generalizable understandings about learning from text This volume a result of the editor s and contributors work with the National Reading Research Center will be of interest to all researchers graduate students practicing teachers and teachers in training who are interested in understanding the issues that are central to improving students learning from text Advanced Web Technology - 1 Mr. Rohit Manglik, 2024-07-24 Introduces advanced web development tools and frameworks Covers HTML5 CSS3 and JavaScript for creating dynamic responsive websites with modern design and functionality The Skills of Document Use Jean-François Rouet, 2006 Publisher Description Where Parallels Intersect Eli Cohen, Sociology on the Web Stuart Stein, 2014-10-13 Sociology on the Web is directed at those who want to be able to access sociology Internet resources quickly and efficiently without needing to become IT experts The emphasis throughout is on the location of high quality sociology Internet related resources likely to be useful for learning teaching and research from among the billions of publicly accessible Web pages In addition to extensive coverage of topics relating to the efficient location of files and Web sites Part III provides a substantial and annotated list of high quality resources likely to be of use to students of sociology The work is structured so that it will be found useful by both beginners and intermediate level users and be of continuing use over the course of higher education studies Law on the Web Stuart Stein,2014-09-25 Law on the Web is ideal for anyone who wants to access Law Internet resources quickly and efficiently without becoming an IT expert The emphasis throughout is on the location of high quality law Internet resources for learning teaching and research from among the billions of publicly accessible Web pages The book is structured so that it will be found useful by both beginners and intermediate level users and be of continuing use over the course of higher education studies In addition to extensive coverage on locating files and Web sites Part III provides a substantial and annotated list of high quality resources for law students Psychology on the Web Stuart Stein,2014-09-25 Psychology on the Web A Student Guide is directed at those who want to be able to access psychology Internet resources quickly and efficiently without needing to become IT experts The emphasis throughout is on the location of high quality psychology related Internet resources likely to be useful for learning teaching and research from among the billions of publicly accessible Web pages Whilst the author has drawn on a large volume of technical literature it is written on the basis of practical experience acquired over many years of using Internet resources in the context of teaching undergraduate and postgraduate courses in the social sciences covering a wide range of topic specialisms and in informing academic staff In addition to extensive coverage of topics relating to the efficient location of files and Web sites Part III provides a substantial and annotated list of high quality resources likely to be of use to students of psychology The work is structured so that it will be found useful by both beginners and intermediate level users and be of continuing use over the course of higher education studies Information Technology Standards Martin Libicki,2013-10-22 This book examines information technology standards and discusses what they are what they do how they originate and how they evolve While standards are important in improving system interoperability and thereby increasing economic productivity they are unlikely to achieve their full potential due to a variety of factors chief of which is the politics of the standard process itself Libicki points out that the government is not likely the best source for designing and promoting standards He does an excellent job of breaking down many complex technical issues and presenting them in a fashion that technical people can enjoy and policy makers can understand Using Microsoft Office Outlook 2003 Patricia Cardoza,2003 With detailed coverage on the new features this is a comprehensive inclusive guide to achieving maximum productivity when using this messaging and groupware application

Cognitive Technology J.L. Mey,B. Gorayska,1995-12-01 In this book the editors have gathered a number of contributions by persons who have been working on problems of Cognitive Technology CT The present collection initiates explorations of the human mind via the technologies the mind produces These explorations take as their point of departure the question What happens when humans produce new technologies Two interdependent perspectives from which such a production can be approached are adopted How and why constructs that have their origins in human mental life are embodied in physical environments when people fabricate their habitat even to the point of those constructs becoming that very habitat. How and why these fabricated habitats affect and feed back into human mental life. The aim of the CT research programme is to determine in general which technologies and in particular which interactive computer based technologies are humane with respect to the cognitive development and evolutionary adaptation of their end users. But what does it really mean to be humane in a technological world. To shed light on this central issue other pertinent questions are raised e.g. Why are human minds externalised i.e. what purpose does the process of externalisation serve. What can we learn about the human mind by studying how it externalises itself. How does the use of externalised mental constructs the objects we call tools change people fundamentally. To what extent does human interaction with technology serve as an amplification of human cognition and to what extent does it lead to a atrophy of the human mind. The book calls for a reflection on what a tool is. Strong parallels between CT and environmentalism are drawn both are seen as trends having originated in our need to understand how we manipulate by means of the tools we have created our natural habitat consisting of on the one hand the cognitive environment which generates thought and determines action and on the other hand the physical environment in which thought and action are realised. Both trends endeavour to protect the human habitat from the unwanted or uncontrolled impact of technology and are ultimately concerned with the ethics and aesthetics of tool design and tool use. Among the topics selected by the contributors to the book the following themes emerge the list is not exhaustive using technology to empower the cognitively impaired the ethics versus aesthetics of technology the externalisation of emotive and affective life and its special dialectic mirror effects creativity enhancement cognitive space problem tractability externalisation of sensory life and mental imagery the engineering and modelling aspects of externalised life externalised communication channels and inner dialogue externalised learning protocols relevance analysis as a theoretical framework for cognitive technology.

Learning, Teaching and Researching on the Internet Stuart Stein, 2014-09-11

Learning Teaching and Researching on the Internet A Practical Guide for Social Scientists is directed at students and academic staff who want to be able to access Internet resources quickly and efficiently without needing to become IT experts. The emphasis throughout is on the harnessing of the large volume of potentially useful Internet resources to everyday requirements whether these be focused on learning teaching or research. The Internet is a significantly rich information communication and research resource for all those involved in higher education whether they be students academic staff involved in teaching and research or educational administrators. Whilst the author has drawn on the large volume of technical literature it is written on the basis of practical experience acquired over the many years of using Internet resources in the context of teaching undergraduate and postgraduate courses in the social sciences. In addition to extensive coverage on using Web browsers searching for information at Web sites in mailing lists and newsgroups Part IV provides detailed annotations in the resources available at the best sites on the Internet collating materials on politics sociology economics philosophy psychology

European Law Erich Schweighofer,1999-10-19 This volume is a presentation of all methods of legal knowledge representation from the point of view of jurisprudence as well as computer science A new method of automatic analysis of legal texts is presented in four case studies Law is seen as an information system with legally formalised information processes The achieved coverage of legal knowledge in information retrieval systems has to be followed by the next step conceptual indexing and automatic analysis of texts Existing approaches of automatic knowledge representations do not have a proper link to the legal language in information systems The concept based model for semi automatic analysis of legal texts provides this necessary connection The knowledge base of descriptors context sensitive rules and meta rules formalises properly all important passages in the text corpora for automatic analysis Statistics and self organising maps give assistance in knowledge acquisition The result of the analysis is organised with automatically generated hypertext links Four case studies show the huge potential but also some drawbacks of this approach      Handbook of Discourse Processes Arthur C.

Graesser,Morton Ann Gernsbacher,Susan R. Goldman,2003-04-02 This Handbook is a comprehensive overview of the multidisciplinary field of discourse processes The editors hope to foster a more interdisciplinary approach to discourse processing with this Handbook while simultaneously developing an appreciation within the field for multiple methods of establishing rigorous scientific claims The field of discourse processes is currently fueled by seven dominant approaches discourse psychology corpus analysis computational discourse discourse technologies conversation analysis hybrid qualitative and quantitative approaches and cultural foundations The contributors also discuss future trends in research including corpus analyses the integration of neuroscience with discourse research and the development of more advanced computer technologies for analyzing discourse

Hyper/Text/Theory George P. Landow, 1994-12-05 In his widely acclaimed book Hypertext George P Landow described a radically new information technology and its relationship to the work of such literary theorists as Jacques Derrida and Roland Barthes Now Landow has brought together a distinguished group of authorities to explore more fully the implications of hypertextual reading for contemporary literary theory Among the contributors Charles Ess uses the work of Jürgen Habermas and the Frankfurt School to examine hypertext's potential for true democratization Stuart Moulthrop turns to Deleuze and Guattari as a point of departure for a study of the relation of hypertext and political power Espen Aarseth places hypertext within a framework created by other forms of electronic textuality David Kolb explores what hypertext implies for philosophy and philosophical discourse Jane Yellowlees Douglas Gunnar Liestøl and Mireille Rosello use contemporary theory to come to terms with hypertext narrative Terrence Harpold investigates the hypertextual fiction of Michael Joyce Drawing on Derrida Lacan and Wittgenstein Gregory Ulmer offers an example of the new form of writing hypertextuality demands
