Hamburg,2017-07-28 This important work examines in detail and depth how as a consequence of changing technologies diet patterns of reproduction and work relations between children and parents have altered The editors and contributors hold that biosocial science is particularly relevant to research on human family systems and parenting behavior The family is the universal social institution in which the care of children is based and the turf where cultural tradition beliefs and values are transmitted to the young as they fulfill their biological potential for growth development and reproduction The biosocial perspective takes into account the biological substratum and the social environment as critical co determinants of behavior and pinpoints areas in which contemporary human parental behavior exhibits continuities with and departures from patterns evident throughout history This work crosses disciplinary lines without ignoring their relevance to the broader themes of the book School age pregnancy and parenthood is a powerful anchor for the dissection of large scale issues The contributors deal in turn with ethnic and historical experience examine normative and ethical issues and cast new light on methodological concerns What the editors call culturally defined responses to basic needs helps explain both dramatic improvements in this area and how they expand the challenge of teen reproduction Contributors emphasize new demands for training and education to research this growing phenomenon The book contributes to humane concerns as well as the scientific imagination Models of Achievement Agnes N. O'Connell,Nancy Felipe Russo,2014-03-18 Providing role models of excellence for contemporary women and men and contributing to the understanding of the educational and career development of high achieving women these autobiographical essays of seventeen women and their achievements generate a deeper appreciation of the vital role of women in the development of contemporary psychology Textbook of Adolescent Psychiatry Richard Rosner,2003-08-29 Adolescent Psychiatry is the first text reference to provide such in depth comprehensive and practical coverage of this specialist area There are many questions pertinent to adolescence alone and these are highlighted throughout the book Starting with the important aspects of normal development the reader is then taken on to risk behaviour and Higher Education: Handbook of Theory and Research 12 J.C. Smart,1997-02-28 Published annually since 1985 the Handbook series provides a compendium of thorough and integrative literature reviews on a diverse array of topics of interest to the higher education scholarly and policy communities Transcendence and Mature Thought in Adulthood Melvin E. Miller,Susanne R. Cook-Greuter,1994 This book is one of the very first to concentrate upon positive growth and development in the more advanced years of life Incorporating both traditional Western paths of development and Eastern meditative approaches and both theoretical and empirical material the contributors explore the many paths to postformal and postconventional development They challenge the field of psychology to reconsider some of its most fundamental premises concerning how people change and develop over the course of their lives including many of its conventional metaphysical and ontological assumptions and they challenge the reader to actively continue his or her own growth process
