Revolution of the Eye Maurice Berger, Museum of Art (Fort Lauderdale, Fla.), Addison Gallery of American Art, 2014-01-01
An engaging exploration of the relationship between avant garde art and American network television from the 1940s through the 1970s The aesthetics and concepts of modern art have influenced American television ever since its inception in the 1930s In return early television introduced the public to the latest trends in art and design This engaging catalogue comprehensively examines the way avant garde art shaped the look and content of network television in its formative years from the 1940s through the mid 1970s It also addresses the larger cultural and social context of television Artists fascinated with the new medium and its technological possibilities contributed to network programs and design campaigns appeared on television to promote modern art and explored critiqued or absorbed the new medium in their work More than 150 illustrations reveal both sides of the dialogue between high art and television through a selection of graphic designs ephemera and stills from important television programs from The Twilight Zone to Batman to Rowan Martin s Laugh In and more as well as works by artists including Salvador Dal Lee Friedlander Agnes Martin Man Ray Andy Warhol and many others Revolution of the Eye uncovers the cultural history of a medium whose powerful influence on our lives remains pervasive

Arts TV John Albert Walker, 1993 From Monitor to The Late Show British television programs featuring the visual arts are profiled here The various types or genres of arts programs are identified including review programs strand series drama documentaries and artists profiles and a chronological account of their evolution from 1936 to the 1990s is provided Major series such as Civilization Ways of Seeing Shock of the New State of the Art and Relative Values are examined in detail

Electronic Hearth Cecelia Tichi, 1992-10-29 We all talk about the tube or box as if television were simply another appliance like the refrigerator or toaster oven But Cecilia Tichi argues that TV is actually an environment a pervasive screen world that saturates almost every aspect of modern life In Electronic Hearth she looks at how that environment evolved and how it in turn has shaped the American experience Tichi explores almost fifty years of writing about television in novels cartoons journalism advertising and critical books and articles to define the role of television in the American consciousness She examines early TV advertising to show how the industry tried to position the new device as not just a gadget but a prestigious new piece of furniture a highly prized addition to the home The television set she writes has emerged as a new electronic hearth the center of family activity John Updike described this primitive appeal of the hearth in Roger s Version Television is its irresistible charm a fire Entering an empty room we turn it on and a talking face flares into being Sitting in front of the TV Americans exist in a safety zone free from the hostility and violence of the outside world She also discusses long standing suspicions of TV viewing its often solitary almost autoerotic character its supposed numbing of the minds and imagination of children and assertions that watching television drugs the minds of Americans Television has been seen as treacherous territory for public figures from generals to presidents where satire and broadcast journalism often deflate their authority And the print culture of journalism and book publishing has waged a decades long war of survival against it only to see new TV generations embrace both the box and the book as a part of their cultural world In today s culture she writes we have become teleconscious seeing for example real life being certified through television as seen on TV and television constantly ratified through its universal presence in art movies music comic strips fabric prints and even references to TV on TV Ranging far beyond the bounds of the broadcast industry Tichi provides a history of contemporary American culture a culture defined by the television environment Intensively researched and insightfully written The Electronic Hearth offers a new understanding of a critical but much maligned aspect of modern life      Television, a Guide to the Literature Mary B. Cassata, Thomas Skill, 1985      Torn from the Nest Clorinda Matto de Turner, 1999-04-29 Clorinda Matto de Turner was the first Peruvian novelist to command an international reputation and the first to dramatize the exploitation of indigenous Latin American people She believed the task of the novel was to be the photograph that captures the vices and virtues of a people censuring the former with the appropriate moral lesson and paying its homage of admiration to the latter In this tragic tale Clorinda Matto de Turner explores the relationship between the landed gentry and the indigenous peoples of the Andean mountain communities While unfolding as a love story rife with secrets and dashed hopes Torn from the Nest in fact reveals a deep and destructive class disparity and criticizes the Catholic clergy for blatant corruption When Lucia and Don Fernando Marin settle in the small hamlet of Killac the young couple become advocates for the local Indians who are being exploited and oppressed by their priest and governor and by the gentry allied with these two Considered meddling outsiders the couple meet violent resistance from the village leaders who orchestrate an assault on their house and pursue devious and unfair schemes to keep the Indians subjugated As a romance blossoms between the a member of the gentry and the peasant girl that Lucia and Don Fernando have adopted a dreadful secret prevents their marriage and brings to a climax the novel s exposure of degradation they share the same father a parish priest Torn from the Nest was first published in Peru in 1889 amidst much enthusiasm and outrage This fresh translation the first since 1904 preserves one of Peru s most distinctive and compelling voices      Bulletin , 1963      Television Aesthetics Nikos Metallinos, 2013-11-05 USE FIRST TWO PARAGRAPHS ONLY FOR GENERAL CATALOGS This volume offers a response to three ongoing needs to develop the main composition principles pertinent to the visual communication medium of television to establish the field of television aesthetics as an extension of the broader field of visual literacy and to promote television aesthetics to both students and consumers of television Based on effective empirical research from three axes perception cognition and composition the aesthetic principles of television images presented are drawn from converging research in academic disciplines such as psychology perceptual cognitive and experimental neurophysiology and the fine arts painting photography film theater music and more Although the aesthetics of the fine arts were traditionally built on contextual theories that relied heavily on subjective evaluation on critical analyses and on descriptive research methods the aesthetics of today's visual communication media consider equally valuable empirical methodologies found in all sciences. Investigations in these different academic disciplines have provided the constructs and strengthened the foundations of the theory of television aesthetics offered in this book. Special features include a great variety of pictures supporting the topics discussed, a thorough up-to-date and specifically related bibliography for each of the major parts of the book, computer drawings illustrating the concepts examined in the text, scientific data tables and charts documenting the research findings, cited simplified explanations of the processes of visual auditory and motion perceptions of images enhanced by specific diagrams, detailed analyses of the threefold process of stimulation, perception and recognition of televised images, and workable, easy-to-understand and use rules of picture composition, visual image evaluations, and television program appreciation. Catalog of the Communications Library, University of Illinois University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea. Media revolution in Europe: ahead of the curve Karol Jakubowicz, Council of Europe, 2011-04-13 The rags to riches story of Karol Jakubowicz's involvement in the work of the Council of Europe took him from the role of an awestruck newcomer from Poland in 1990 to that of the Chairman of the Steering Committee on the Media and New Communication Services 2005-06. Along the way he was elected, delegated by the Steering Committee and invited by the Council of Europe Secretariat to serve in a number of other capacities. In all of them he contributed a wide variety of papers, reports, and studies to assist the steering committee and other bodies in collecting information and formulating ideas in the general field of freedom of expression, creation of free and democratic media systems, including the issue of public service media, regulation of transfrontier television, the adjustment of Council of Europe human rights standards to the conditions of the information society, and the development of broadcasting legislation in Council of Europe member states. The present collection of these papers and reports is published in the conviction that they retain their value and relevance. It provides the additional benefit of offering a glimpse of the work preceding the formulation of Committee of Ministers recommendations and declarations as well as resolutions of the Council of Europe Parliamentary Assembly. 106-1 Committee Print: Witness Deposition Testimony, Investigation of Illegal Or Improper Activities in Connection with 1996 Federal Election Campaigns, S.
