From New Mexico To Hiroshima:

The New Mexico School Review, 1953 Nuclear Zero? George H. Quester, 2015-06-01 George H Quester argues that the possibility of nuclear war continues to loom despite the reduction in stockpiles by the major powers Supporters of total nuclear disarmament often dismiss pessimistic objections to the possibility of reaching nuclear zero as being hypothetical but this book looks at real illustrations for this possibility taken from the years that gave the world the Manhattan Project Any advocate of total nuclear disarmament must deal with the challenge of realist analysts of international relations those who worry that being at zero nuclear weapons or even close to zero would be unstable and dangerous Mutual fears could be self confirming leading to cheating on disarmament and even nuclear war While such fears are often dismissed as theoretical or hypothetical this book attempts to test them against the real life experience of the last time we were at nuclear zero The years from 1933 to 1945 saw many such self confirming fears leading to the Manhattan Project and the nuclear destruction of Hiroshima and Nagasaki Optimism about the future cannot be ruled out totally but the history of our experience with nuclear disarmament must be examined carefully to identify the crucial prerequisites for elimination of such weapons of mass destruction This book is required reading for courses on arms control defense policy and international relations or for readers looking for historical background on a critical global issue The Unforgettables Charles C. Eldredge, 2022-11 In the past histories of American art have traditionally highlighted the work of a familiar roster of artists often white and male Over time the achievements of others worthy of attention including numerous women and artists of color as well as white men have gone uncelebrated and fallen into obscurity In this collection of essays sixty three scholars from various institutions specialties and locales respond to the challenge to nominate one maker deserving remembrance and detail the reasons for their choice The collection is headed by a preface from editor Charles C Eldredge explaining the genesis of the anthology and an introduction by Dr Kirsten Pai Buick promoting the value of recovered reputations and oeuvres in the training of future art experts and audiences Jungian Arts-Based Research and "The Nuclear Enchantment of New Mexico" Susan Rowland, Joel Weishaus, 2020-07-26 Jungian Arts Based Research and The Nuclear Enchantment of New Mexico provides clear accessible and in depth guidance both for arts based researchers using Jung s ideas and for Jungian scholars undertaking arts based research The book provides a central extended example which applies the techniques described to the full text of Joel Weishaus prose poem The Nuclear Enchantment of New Mexico published here for the first time Designed as a how to book Jungian Arts Based Research and The Nuclear Enchantment of New Mexico explores how Jung contributes to the new arts based paradigm in psychic functions such as intuition by providing an epistemology of symbols that includes the unconscious and research strategies such as active imagination Rowland examines Jung s The Red Book as an early example of Jungian arts based research and demonstrates how this practice challenges the convention of the detached researcher by providing holistic knowing Arts based researchers will find here a psychic dimension that also manifests in transdisciplinarity while those familiar with Jung's work will find in arts-based research ways to foster diversity for a decolonized academy. This unique project will be essential reading for Jungian and post-Jungian academics and scholars, arts-based researchers of all backgrounds and readers interested in transdisciplinarity.

Perilous Memories Takashi Fujitani, Geoffrey M. White, Lisa Yoneyama, 2001-06-21 A rethinking of the differing national memories of the Second World War in the Pacific in light of recent theories of nationalism, imperialism, and colonialism.

Ecospatiality Lowell Wyse, 2021-07-01 Ecospatiality explores modern and contemporary American prose literature through the lens of place, showing how authors like William Least Heat Moon, Willa Cather, Richard Wright, and Leslie Marmon Silko represent and reimagine real places in the world and the human environment. Relationships therein. Building on the work of scholars in geography, sociology, ecocriticism, and geocriticism, this book articulates the theory of ecospatiality: an understanding of place as simultaneously spatial, ecological, and historical. In our current historical moment, which is characterized by ongoing ecological collapse and a not unrelated increase in social disorder, few issues are more urgent than the human relationship with our environments. Whether we characterize this new epoch as the climate change era or the Anthropocene, we can no longer ignore the fact that the places we live are rapidly changing in response to economic and environmental pressures. Rather than thinking of place as a neutral site for social interaction, we should recognize how it underpins and intertwines with human experience. Fortunately, literature can help us think through how place operates. Lowell Wyse shows that texts can be understood as works of literary cartography. Focusing on works of nonfiction and fiction whose primary settings are on the North American continent, Ecospatiality demonstrates how these narratives rely on realistic literary geography to invoke and sometimes retell important aspects of environmental history within particular communities and bioregions.

Split Screen Nation Susan Courtney, 2017 Analyzing an eclectic history of film and related media, Split Screen Nation argues that popular visions of the American West and the American South must be thought in relation to one another if we are to fully understand the marks both have left on popular ways of imagining the U.S.

New Mexico Magazine, 2010

Historical Dictionary of the 1940s James Gilbert Ryan, Leonard C. Schlup, 2015-03-26 The only available historical dictionary devoted exclusively to the 1940s, this book offers readers a ready reference portrait of one of the twentieth century's most tumultuous decades. In nearly 600 concise entries, the volume quickly defines a historical figure, institution, or event and then points readers to three sources that treat the subject in depth. In selecting topics for inclusion, the editors and authors offer a representative slice of life as contemporaneous Americans saw it, with coverage of people, movements, court cases, and economic, social, cultural, political, military, and technological changes. The book focuses chiefly on the United States but places American lives and events firmly within a global context.

Discordant Memories Alison Fields, 2020-02-06 On two separate days in August 1945 the United States dropped atomic bombs over the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki As the seventy fifth anniversary of these cataclysmic bombings draws near American and Japanese citizens are seeking new ways to memorialize these events for future generations In Discordant Memories Alison Fields explores through the lenses of multiple disciplines ongoing memories of the two bombings Enhanced by striking color and black and white images this book is an innovative contribution to the evolving fields of memory studies and nuclear humanities To reveal the layered complexities of nuclear remembrance Fields analyzes photography film and artworks offers close readings of media and testimonial accounts traces site visits to atomic museums in New Mexico and

Japan and features artists who give visual form to evolving memories According to Fields such expressions of memory both inspire group healing and expose struggles with past trauma Visual forms of remembrance such as science museums peace memorials photographs and even scars on human bodies serve to contain or manage painful memories And yet the author claims distinct cultures lay claim to vastly different remembrances of nuclear history Fields analyzes a range of case studies to uncover these discordant memories and to trace the legacies of nuclear weapons production and testing Her subjects include the Bradbury Science Museum in Los Alamos New Mexico the Hiroshima Peace Memorial Museum in Japan the atomic photography of Carole Gallagher and Patrick Nagatani and artworks and experimental films by Will Wilson and Nanobah Becker In the end Fields argues the trauma caused by nuclear weapons can never be fully contained For this reason commemorations of their effects are often incomplete and insufficient Differences between individual memories and public accounts are also important to recognize Discordant Memories illuminates such disparate memories in all their rich complexity
