The Reflective School Counselor's Guide to Practitioner Research Vicki Brooks-McNamara,Danielle Torres,2008 Like the little train that said I think I can I think I can this book tells school counselors You can you can do research The text encourages and guides school counselors who have very little time and resources for research enabling them to show and tell the differences that result from their programs Angie Stansell School Counselor Hatton High School Town Creek AL This text can help any school counselor develop the observation and analytical skills to become a practitioner inquirer However the book is much more than a collection of research techniques it is a celebration of what is possible when school counselors pursue answers to their own questions about the students with whom they work I predict this groundbreaking book will become a classic Ruth Shagoury Author The Art of Classroom Inquiry Become an advocate for underserved students by using data from inquiry projects This practical and timely book is ideal for school counselors unfamiliar with the process of practitioner research from framing research questions and gathering authentic data to using results that can benefit students and create lasting schoolwide change The authors use the American School Counselor Association s National Model to build practitioners inquiry skills on issues of achievement opportunity inequities school culture and community partnerships The text covers Practical methods for formulating the questions on which inquiry projects are based A step by step process for collecting analyzing and using data Guidelines for developing counselors advocacy leadership and collaboration skills

Rural Turnaround Leadership Development Ellen H.

Reames,2018-07-01 Rural Turnaround Leadership Development The Power of Partnerships focuses on a three year rural turnaround leadership project sponsored by the U S Department of Education The project was designed to foster the development of a cohort of aspiring school leaders in rural high poverty low performing K 12 school districts The Alabama Project was selected by the U S Department of Education in part because it was the only submission which emphasized partnership between higher education institutions school districts and the Alabama State Department of Education ALSDE Facets of the book include a treatment of the structures and processes each university created to develop their unique program the distinctive turnaround curriculum used at each university the role of mentoring in developing aspiring rural school leaders and the internship experiences and practices which supported aspiring leader development One of the most powerful changes witnessed during the project was the development of aspiring leaders by the major and ancillary partners The cross connections between K 12 districts the ALSDE and the three university educational leadership programs was a multifaceted and multi layered collaborative approach The partnerships not only strengthened within each master s program but across agencies as a result of this project The book will describe the value of partnership and leadership development through the eyes of the major contributors The contributors or authors of the book will include the Alabama State Department of Education the three educational leadership higher education institutions i e Auburn University University of Alabama and Samford University partner school district representatives and graduates of the program Learning as a Way of Leading Stephen Preskill,Stephen D. Brookfield,2008-11-17 This book offers a systematic look at the connections between learning and leading and the use of learning to inspire and organize for change It explores two interrelated dimensions of learning leadership the ways leaders themselves learn about leadership practice and the way leaders foster the learning of those they work with The book focuses on a number of important leadership activities and adopts a case study approach to illuminate how leaders themselves learn how they impart knowledge to others and how they support others in becoming more effective and enduring learners Learner-Centered Leadership Arnold B. Danzig,Kathryn M. Borman,Bruce A. Jones,William F. Wright,2017-09-25 Many new approaches to school improvement are being proposed in the current climate of assessment and school accountability This book explores one of these approaches a new model of leadership training known as Learner Centered Leadership LCL It is built around the fundamental idea that learning and learning communities are natural processes that when properly harnessed can lead to the highest levels of professional engagement and problem solving Key features of this exciting new approach to school leadership include the following Broad based and Generative The book s narratives vividly illustrate the extraordinary ability of LCL to generate new approaches to leadership development For example encouraging and assisting school leaders to reflect on their own leadership attributes relative to the implementation of the school mission to ensure high teacher efficacy and student learning In this respect the volume contributes significantly to the field of school leadership and professional development by extending above and beyond a narrow focus on instructional leadership Practice Oriented By creating communities that encourage conversation and analysis the new data driven models of school improvement are more likely to be successfully implemented Without analytical discourse the process of interpreting school data and transforming it into practice would be largely lost Conceptually Appropriate The realization that everyone within a school students teachers administrators belongs to the same learning community minimizes status differences and encourages teamwork The LCL administrator is much less likely to be authoritarian and power oriented and much more likely to be transformative and student outcome focused This book is appropriate for master s level courses and certification seminars and for inservice workshops dealing with school leadership
