Human Rights Situation in Africa United States. Congress. House. Committee on International Relations. Subcommittee on Africa, 1995

Zones of Conflict in Africa George Klay Kieh Jr., Ida Rousseau

Mukenge, 2002-03-30 Torn by ongoing civil and military violence Africa presents a challenge to scholars interested in the root causes of conflict. Each conflict is unique but overall they exhibit common patterns. The contributors of this book employ an eclectic array of current explanations of civil strife and how to resolve it. The first half of the book provides the relevant theoretical background. Theories of conflict and conflict resolution, the larger context of African strife in Africa and patterns and trends of conflict are discussed. Shifting from the general to the particular, the remaining chapters of this volume gauge the accuracy and usefulness of the current thinking on conflicts by grounding it in case studies drawn from the Great Lakes Region, Liberia, Nigeria, and Zambia.

Canada Fire George A. Rawlyk, 1994 G A Rawlyk examines the remarkable growth and evolution of radical evangelicalism in British North America from the American Revolution to the War of 1812. He argues that radical evangelicalism was the leading edge of Protestantism and was more democratic and populist than contemporary evangelicalism in the United States.

The Burden of Collective Goodwill Abiodun Alao, 2017-07-05 The book is the first to discuss in detail the extensive external involvement in the Liberian civil war, a war that claimed up to 200,000 lives, created a massive refugee crisis, and brought West Africa to the tribunal of international attention. The book is conceived against the background that the international response to the conflict has features that are unprecedented in the management of civil conflicts in the post-cold war era. For example, the regional peacekeeping mission was the first after the end of the cold war, while the dispatch of UN Observer mission was the first ever joint peacekeeping mission between the UN and a regional organisation. The extensive involvement of international organisations in the conflict has not been witnessed in the region since the Biafran war of 1967-1970.

Islam and Bosnia Maya Shatzmiller, 2002-05-15 Islam and Bosnia re-examines the conflict of the 1990s from the perspectives of international relations, conflict resolution, and history, as well as psychology, anthropology, and cultural studies. Rejecting the primordialist or ancient hatreds interpretation as the root of the conflict, the authors detail how a complex cultural transformation led to the erosion of what had been the common inclusionist base of a multi-ethnic state and brought about a new exclusionist nationalism. By pulling together the individual elements of culture, society, and foreign policy and analysing their interaction, Islam and Bosnia demonstrates how the secular romantic nationalism of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, centred on history, language, and landscape, was overthrown in favour of one that highlighted religion, race, and territory. Islam and Bosnia shows how the Bosnian conflict bears on the wider contexts of cultural paradigms, deadly conflicts, and the formulation of foreign policy. It argues for a new perspective in foreign policy making, one that would embrace and incorporate better and deeper knowledge and understanding of culture, history, and ideology. Contributors include Tone Bringa, University of Bergen; Amila Buturovic, York University; John V A Fine, University of Michigan; Peter W Galbraith, former U.S. ambassador to Croatia; Graham N Green, former Canadian ambassador to Croatia; Nader Hashemi, Ph.D. candidate, University of Toronto; John M Reid, information commissioner for Canada; András Riedlmayer, Harvard University; Michael A Sells, Haverford College; Donald W Smith, former Canadian ambassador to Croatia.
