From Physics To Politics:

From Physics to Politics Robert Trundle, 2017-07-05 Mass ideology is unique to modern society and rooted in early modern philosophy. Traditionally, knowledge had been viewed as resting on metaphysics. Rejecting metaphysical truth evoked questions about the source of truth. For nineteenth-century ideologists, truth comes either from dominating classes in a progressively determined history or from a post-Copernican freedom of the superior man to create it. In From Physics to Politics, Robert C. Trundle Jr. uncovers the relation of modern philosophy to political ideology. And in rooting truth in human nature and Nature by modal reasoning, he resolves the problem of politicized truth. Our concepts of scientific truth, logic, and necessity are essentially connected. Modern philosophy restricts our understanding of necessity to the political dreams and aspirations of Enlightenment intellectuals. As a result, these intellectuals refuse to acknowledge as factual or meaningful whatever is not intelligible within the practical goals of establishing science as a system of enlightened ideas. The effect of these ideas is that in our time, metaphysical principles, speculative truths, our understanding of science, and the nature of logic have become subordinated to ideological dreams. Fascism, Nazism, Marxism, political correctness, and moral relativism are not historical aberrations but essential consequences. Trundle's work is groundbreaking and daring, and his underlying thesis demonstrates why scientific truth demands a modal defense. The defense not only integrates science, ethics, and politics but shows how truth may be ascribed to moral and scientific principles in contrast to a modern philosophical tradition. Since this tradition is the origin of political ideology, it has led to an irrational politicization of truth. The book will appeal particularly to those interested in political history, histories of philosophy, the philosophy of sciences, and ethics. Physics and Politics

Walter Bagehot, 2017-10-15 Excerpt from Physics and Politics Or Thoughts on the Application of the Principles of Natural Selection And Inheritance To Political Society. When the whole body starts at a loud noise, the afferent auditory nerve gives rise to an impulse which passes to the medulla oblongata and thence affects the great majority of the motor nerves of the body. Images Silke Panse,2024-12-26 Starting from the premise that after modernism and postmodernism in the Anthropocene an artwork cannot rest upon its separation from the planet this volume develops new ethical practice and thought with respect to art philosophy and moving images Practitioners and theorists examine how the relations between the ethical and the material figure in a context in which a dearth of ethical practice and thought has caused the materialities of the Anthropocene and the climate catastrophe Ethics are generally regarded as constituted through immaterial relations guided by moral imperatives By contrast this volume argues that the singular ethicalities that are manifested in a work cannot be captured by abstract ethics The explorations of the ethical here are not prescriptive but creative Through artistic and philosophical thought and practice the contributions move beyond the division between an active practice of ethics and a contemplative theory of aesthetics They ask what ethicalities and materialities are at play in the relations between the artist the art their worlds and the planet after new materialism and posthumanism Rather than transcending the ethical through the material or the material through the ethical the contributions articulate the singular relations between them and consider the inter and intra active ethical and material relations of art and images in biodiverse environments They suggest that to bring out the ethical dimensions of the material and the material dimension of the ethical without identifying one with the other is a responsibility of art and images Physics and Politics Or Thoughts on the Application of the Principles of Natural Selection and Inheritance to Political Society- Walter Bagehot Walter Bagehot,2010-02-19 A passage from the book I do not supply it If we wanted to describe one of the most marked results perhaps the most marked result of late thought we should say that by it everything is made an antiquity When in former times our ancestors thought of an antiquarian they described him as occupied with coins and medals and Druids stones these were then the characteristic records of the decipherable past and it was with these that decipherers busied themselves But now there are other relics indeed all matter is become such Science tries to find in each bit of earth the record of the causes which made it precisely what it is those forces have left their trace she knows as much as the tact and hand of the artist left their mark on a classical gem It would be tedious and it is not in my way to reckon up the ingenious questionings by which geology has made part of the earth at least tell part of its tale and the answers would have been meaningless if physiology and conchology and a hundred similar sciences had not brought their aid Such subsidiary sciences are to the decipherer of the present day what old languages were to the antiquary of other days they construe for him the words which he discovers they give a richness and a truth like complexity to the picture which he paints even in cases where the particular detail they tell is not much
