Modernism and the Art of Muslim South Asia Iftikhar Dadi, 2010-05-15 This pioneering work traces the emergence of the modern and contemporary art of Muslim South Asia in relation to transnational modernism and in light of the region's intellectual cultural and political developments Art historian Iftikhar Dadi here explores the art and writings of major artists men and women ranging from the late colonial period to the era of independence and beyond He looks at the stunningly diverse artistic production of key artists associated with Pakistan including Abdur Rahman Chughtai Zainul Abedin Shakir Ali Zubeida Agha Sadequain Rasheed Araeen and Naiza Khan Dadi shows how beginning in the 1920s these artists addressed the challenges of modernity by translating historical and contemporary intellectual conceptions into their work reworking traditional approaches to the classical Islamic arts and engaging the modernist approach towards subjective individuality in artistic expression In the process they dramatically reconfigured the visual arts of the region By the 1930s these artists had embarked on a sustained engagement with international modernism in a context of dizzying social and political change that included decolonization the rise of mass media and developments following the national independence of India and Pakistan in 1947 Bringing new insights to such concepts as nationalism modernism cosmopolitanism and tradition Dadi underscores the powerful impact of transnationalism during this period and highlights the artists growing embrace of modernist and contemporary artistic practice in order to address the challenges of the present era Culture and the Making of Identity in Contemporary India Kamala Ganesh,Usha Thakkar,2005-07-13 This collection of 17 original essays provides insights into the many ways in which the interrelated issues of culture identity and Indianness are expressed in contemporary times The contributors map and evaluate the developments in their respective fields over the past 50 years and cover the topics of art music theatre literature philosophy science history and feminism Crossing Boundaries Geeti Sen,1997 To commemorate fifty years of Independence in the subcontinent it seems appropriate to cut across the borders which separate Pakistan India and Bangladesh This book is a collection of outstanding essays containing 45 black and white photographs includes contributions by authors and artists from all three countries of the subcontinent Public Women in British

India Rimli Bhattacharya,2018-05-15 This book foregrounds the subjectivity of acting women amidst violent debates on femininity and education livelihood and labour sexuality and marriage It looks at the emergence of the stage actress as an artist and an ideological construct at critical phases of performance practice in British India The focus here is on Calcutta considered the second city of the Empire and a nodal point in global trade circuits Each chapter offers new ways of conceptualising the actress as a professional a colonial subject simultaneously the other and the model of the new woman An underlying motif is the playing out of the idea of spiritual salvation redemption and modernity Analysing the dynamics behind stagecraft and spectacle the study highlights the politics of demarcation and exclusion of social roles It presents rich archival work from diverse sources many translated for the first time This book makes a distinctive contribution in intertwining performance studies with literary history and art practices within a cross cultural framework Interdisciplinary and innovative it will appeal to scholars and researchers in South Asian theatre and performance studies history and gender studies

Modern Asian Art John Clark,1998-01-01 A seminal publication focusing on the modern art of Japan China India Thailand and Indonesia A significant and challenging contribution to the discussion of the advent of modernism in Asia

Framing Portraits, Binding Albums Shilpi Goswami,Suryanandini Narain, (eds.),2025-01-06 Long neglected in academic discourse in India family photographs make a silent contribution to the histories of photography marginality and the family In this volume the writers dwell on the importance of family photographs and their visual omnipresence in our daily lives They point out how family photographs have belonged to the vernacular material of visual culture more seen and lived with less written and consciously thought about Attempting to retrieve family photographs from a space of neglect this volume demonstrates how they are fundamental to the microhistories of a nation and its many societies and suggests the importance of such counterarguments to the dominant strains in an emerging discursive space The essays do not offer a comprehensive survey of all types of family photographs in India Instead they present focused insights into chosen areas of interest on the part of the writers Collectively they embrace the intersectionalities of gender caste class and regional trajectories making the politics of representation even more layered with contestations between the historical oral and affective memorialisation surrounding family archives and photographs These concerns centrally inform the essays as they accept and negotiate a terrain shared by all types of narrativisation

Empires of light Niharika Dinkar, 2019-09-19 Light was central to the visual politics and imaginative geographies of empire even beyond its role as a symbol of knowledge and progress in post Enlightenment narratives This book describes how imperial mappings of geographical space in terms of cities of light and hearts of darkness coincided with the industrialisation of light in homes streets theatres and its instrumentalisation through new representative forms photography film magic lanterns theatrical lighting Cataloguing the imperial vision in its engagement with colonial India the book evaluates responses by the celebrated Indian painter Ravi Varma 1848 1906 to reveal the centrality of light in technologies of vision not merely as an ideological effect but as a material presence that produces spaces and inscribes bodies

Gandhinagar Ravi Kalia, 2004 The culmination of Ravi Kalia's trilogy on the formation of capital cities in postcolonial India Gandhinagar joins the historian's other two volumes on Chandigarh and Bhubaneswar in tracing India's efforts to establish its twentieth century architectural identity In following the development of these cities Kalia recounts India's progression through precolonial British modern and postmodern theory and practice particularly the architectural ideology propagated by Western architects Le Corbusier and Louis Kahn Kalia explains that Gandhinagar the capital of Gujarat in western India became a battleground for the competing ideals that had surfaced during the building of Chandigarh and Bhubaneswar The mill owners of the neighboring city of Ahmedabad backed by Indian architect and planner Balkrishna Doshi wanted the American Louis Kahn to build Gandhinagar as a worthy rival to Le Corbusier's Chandigarh There was however tremendous political pressure to make Gandhinagar a purely Indian enterprise partly because the state of Gujarat was the birthplace of Mahatma Gandhi Doshi and then by American trained H K Mewada who had apprenticed with Le Corbusier in Chandigarh Kalia shows that unlike the other two cities Gandhinagar would become emblematic of Gandhian ideals of swadeshi indigenous goods and swaraj self rule Exploring the impact of modernist architecture on India as a whole Kalia suggests that the style gained acceptance because its parsimonious designs and unadorned spaces never represented a threat to a religiously pluralist country anxious to create a secular identity He explains how two competing versions of Indian history and ideology Gandhi's and Jawaharlal Nehru's employed modernism's ideals for their own separate ends Serving two masters as Kalia illustrates created constrictions and tensions evident in the building of Gandhinagar and in the careers of many Indian architects including Doshi Charles Correa and Achyut Kanvinde
