Reconciling Environment and Trade Edith Brown Weiss, John H. Jackson, Nathalie Bernasconi-Osterwalder, 2008-09-30 The volume focuses on five cases all of which remain cornerstone trade environment cases of the WTO The subject matter of these cases reflects five basic issues in the clash between trade and the environment public health air pollution ozone depletion food safety destruction of endangered species and biosafety These five issues surface dramatically in international disputes over tobacco reformulated gasoline beef growth hormones commercial fishing methods and genetically modified organisms In the second edition of this book Nathalie Bernasconi Osterwalder joins the original editors to update and contextualize the five case studies in new introductions to each section These introductions provide an overview of developments since the first edition including subsequent related cases The second edition also includes updated bibliographic materials In their penetrating analyses of these cases and their vast implications the authors take into account the entire disciplines of both trade law and environmental law noting especially the points of friction between the multilateral instruments in each field and the developing jurisprudence of the WTO Dispute Settlement with regard to the exceptions specified in Article XX of the GATT The articulated standpoints of all parties governments and NGOs on both sides of the controversy are probed for agendas whether stated or unstated No one involved in international trade or environmental activism can afford to ignore this vital publication The information it provides on WTO jurisprudence on current and pending environmental initiatives on the science behind the disputes no less than the fresh and convincing analysis it holds forth make it an essential tool for understanding some of the most crucial issues in international law today

Murphy Station David Donovan, 2010 In the southern Georgia of 1950 Murphy Station is a community marked only by two country stores two Baptist churches and a graveyard Farming is the way of life and segregation is in full force Welcome to Deep Dixie David Donovan is a young white boy growing up in Murphy Station where even the best farmers are cash poor and those who work for them usually blacks are poorer still In adult conversation the main topics are weather crops and politics Within the last category it s agreed that the main threats facing America are two communism and integration So far as young Dave knows this isn t unusual but already there are changes afoot In this richly detailed memoir laced with both humor and tragedy we see how those changes affect Dave in subtle but ultimately profound ways Coming of age in a world with the axiom no boy a chicken no man a coward Dave has the sorts of boyhood adventures common to the rural South exploits with firearms encounters with angry animals challenges from friends and a growing interest in girls As he has these adventures he also works in the field alongside black farmhands some of whom teach him vital lessons about the realities of their lives lessons that begin to challenge the prejudices and preconceptions of his time and place By the late 1950s the civil rights movement has become a major force in the South yet as David enters high school in 1960 the customs of segregation still hold sway persisting even when he leaves for college In his first year away from home he witnesses the national trauma of the Kennedy assassination which blunts the promises of Camelot In Vietnam a few years later he sees those promises collapse entirely Returning in 1970 to a Murphy Station much changed from what it was twenty years earlier David Donovan finds himself transformed as well Book Jacket
