Economics Of The Modern Construction Firm:

The Economics of the Modern Construction Firm S. Gruneberg, Graham J. Ive, 2000-08-08 This is a book about the whole diverse range of firms that are found in the construction sector about their decision making and the economic environments in which they operate The authors aim to provide a new and coherent perspective on these firms and the choices they have to make both for their managers and for all who have a stake in these firms and their industry This book offers some new and important perspectives for research and teaching about construction firms The Economics of the Modern Construction Sector G. Ive, S. Gruneberg, 2000-07-31 This book will be of interest to built environment professionals and to students of the economics and management of the built environment It shows the value of integrating ideas and data about the production of the built environment as an industrial process with theories and data about the demand for construction The approach taken is institutional and post Keynesian and illuminates an important and distinctive sector of the economy embracing design construction and property industries This book offers some new and important perspectives for research and teaching in construction economics and management Modern Construction Economics Gerard de Valence, 2010-11-10 Modern construction economics has a wider focus than was previously the case with stronger links to mainstream economics reflecting increasing interest in a range of theoretical issues This book brings together the essential reviews of this trend and pushes towards the development of a comprehensive theoretical framework for construction economics Describing Construction Rick Best, Jim Meikle, 2022-09-16 This third book from editors Rick Best and Jim Meikle brings together and presents insights into a number of key concepts in the study of construction firms projects and the group of activities that loosely define the construction industry The value for readers comes from the collection of a variety of topics in a single volume which provide a basic understanding of the complexities of construction as more than a set of practical concerns such as labour management and materials handling Instead the focus is on analysis of the industry and its component parts from the viewpoints of construction economists and others seeking to understand the drivers and challenges that shape an area of economic activity that is a major contributor in all economies The aim of this book is to provide an overview and discussion of several aspects of what makes construction tick It is unlike other industry sectors in many ways being project based with often intense competition for work Where the first book Measuring Construction focused on particular areas associated with quantifying various aspects of construction activity and the second Accounting for Construction looked more at how we record and report on construction activity Describing Construction gives readers the views of experts in the field of how the construction industry is described what it's made up of it even asks the question is construction a single industry This book will change the way most readers understand the construction industry whatever that may be not from the point of view of visible on site activities but through a scientific approach to analysis and understanding of how projects firms and various sectors of the industry work and how things are changing and may continue to change in future It is essential reading for students and researchers in construction management quantity surveying architecture and engineering The Modern Construction Firm Jacqueline Cannon, Patricia M. Hillebrandt, 1990-02-06 A refreshing and useful addition to the folklore of management All in all this is a worthwhile insight into the management views and structure of some of our leading construction companies J J Farrow Chartered Builder This volume describes and analyses the behaviour of large UK construction firms in the determination and implementation of their strategy It covers in addition to the selection of objectives and the methods for their achievement policies on growth and diversification finance marketing and bidding international operations management and labour and subcontracting Throughout the book the relationship is examined between the theory outlined in the companion volume and the actual behaviour of firms The final chapter concludes with a discussion of the means to bridge the gaps which are found to exist between theory and practice The Wiley Guide to Managing Projects Peter W. G. Morris, 2004-09-27 This comprehensive resource presents the fundamentals of project management and ties them to strategic business systems and procedures This insightful guide demonstrates how project management fits into an organization and offers helpful advice on applying this knowledge on the job Design Professionals and the Built Environment Paul Knox, Peter Ozolins, 2000 Brings together many of the world's leading names from the UK USA Europe and Asia this is the first book to fully reflect the move towards a more synthetic approach in professional and student courses The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2002 Problems in Business Economics Homer Bews Vanderblue, 1924 Building Economy and the Modern Brickbuilder, 1936 Modern American Library Economy as Illustrated by the Newark, N.J., Free Public Library John Cotton Dana, 1912 Modern American Library Economy as Illustrated by the Newark N. J. Free Public Library: Work of the registration desk John Cotton Dana, 1910 Economics for the Modern Built Environment Les Ruddock, 2008-10-10 Construction economics needs to respond to the new emphasis on sustainable development on the medium and long term consequences of construction on the whole life cycle and on the service rendered by buildings Its focus now extends from design and construction to the operation maintenance refurbishment and demolition of property Drawing on the work of the CIB Task Group on Macroeconomics for Construction this book discusses mesoeconomic and macroeconomic models and methodologies in construction economics and is suited to graduate students and researchers Who's who in British Economics Rodney Paul Sturges, Claire Sturges, 1990 This major directory provides for the first time up to date information on the work of economists in the United Kingdom It will be an indispensable guide for economists and an invaluable reference source for the business community officials in government and higher education Who's Who in British Economics contains entries giving pertinent biographical data a select bibliography together with a description of the economist's main area of work A unique source of reference it includes entries on members of the economics profession practising in Britain whether as teachers researchers consultants analysts or planners for institutions of higher education
