Handbook of the Economics and Political Economy of Transition Paul

Hare, Gerard Turley, 2013-05-02 Transition from central planning to a market economy involving large scale institutional change and reforms at all levels is often described as the greatest social science experiment in modern times. As more than two decades have passed since the fall of the Berlin Wall and the collapse of the Soviet Union it is now an excellent time to take stock of how the transition process has turned out for the economies that have moved on from socialism and the command economy. This new handbook assembles a team of leading experts many of whom were closely involved in the transition process as policymakers and policy advisors to explore the major themes that have characterized the transition process. After identifying the nature of initial conditions and the strengths and weaknesses of institutions the varying paths and reforms countries have taken are fully analyzed from the shock therapy privatization or gradualism of the early years to the burning issues of the present including global integration and sustainable growth. Topics covered include the socialist system pre transition economic reforms institutions the political economy of transition performance and growth enterprise restructuring and people and transition. The country coverage is also extensive from the former socialist countries of the USSR and the satellite states of Central and Eastern Europe to the Asian countries of China Vietnam and others. The rise of China as a key actor in the drama is chronicled along with the emergence of a new more confident oil rich Russia. The comparative prosperity of the Central European countries such as Poland and the Czech Republic is contrasted with the mixed fortunes of the former USSR where some countries are stagnating while others boom. This Handbook of the Economics and Political Economy of Transition is the definitive guide to this new order of things in the former Communist world.

Transition, Recession and Labour Supply Paolo Verme, 2020-11-25 This title was first published in 2001. Exploring the relationship between the recession and labour supply in Kazakhstan during the 1990s this volume develops an innovative new model of the transitional process in the context of the CIS. It departs from conventional economic models explaining the process of transition transferring the focus of attention from labour demand to labour supply with a view to clarifying how the transitional recession has affected households and in turn how these changes modified the supply of labour. Paolo Verme examines how the dynamic of the reallocation of labour between state and private enterprises has been drastically altered by the growth of self employment and also takes a much needed look at the contribution of other factors offering an original explanation of this most important economic phenomenon. The CIS Handbook Patrick Heenan, Monique
