British Empire and the Literature of Rebellion Sheshalatha Reddy, 2017-10-14 This book examines imperial and nationalist discourses surrounding three contemporaneous and unsuccessful mid nineteenth century colonial uprisings against the British Empire the Sepoy Rebellion 1857 in India the Morant Bay Rebellion 1865 in Jamaica and the Fenian Rebellion 1867 in Ireland In reading these three mid century rebellions as flashpoints for the varying yet parallel attempts by imperialist colonialists nationalists and socialists to transform the oppressed colonized worker the subjected laborer into one whose identity is created and limited by labor a laboring subject this book also tracks varying modes of resistance to those attempts in all three colonies In drawing from a range of historical literary and visual sources outside the borders of the Anglophone literary canon this book contends that these texts not only serve as points of engagements with the rebellions but also constitute an archive of oppression and resistance

Pluralistic Economics and Its History Ajit Sinha, Alex M. Thomas, 2019-05-24 This volume is a history of economics as it was interpreted discussed and established as a discipline in the 20th century It highlights the pluralism of the discipline and brings together leading voices in the field who reflect on their lifelong work The chapters draw on a host of traditions of economic thought including pre classical classical Marxian neoclassical Sraffian post Keynesian Cantabrigian and institutionalist traditions in economics

Further the volume also looks at the history of economics in India and its evolution as a discipline since the country's independence. This book will appeal to students, researchers and teachers of economics and intellectual history as well as to the interested general reader.

Waiting for the People Nazmul Sultan, 2024-01-09 Nazmul Sultan explores Indian contributions to democratic theory as anticolonial thinkers developed principles of peoplehood and self rule. Indians contested British claims that the backwardness of the Indian people offered a democratic justification for imperial domination.

J.S. Mill's Encounter with India Martin Moir, Douglas M. Peers, Professor of History and Dean of the Faculty of Arts, Douglas M. Peers, Lynn Zastoupil, 1999-01-01 John Stuart Mill worked for the East India Company in London for thirty five years, 1823-58, drafting many hundreds of dispatches for the guidance of British administrators in India. Historians have long been aware of Mill's involvement in British Indian government. This comprehensive effort brings together different strands of scholarship on Mill to determine the character of his role based on analyses of his draft despatches and comparisons of their practical and theoretical concerns with the broad themes of Mill's major writings on political philosophy and economics. The essays in this collection explore specific aspects of Mill's approach to Indian issues including religion, law, education and security and also place him within the broader currents of utilitarianism. The contributors present different perspectives on the ideology in Mill's pragmatic work for the Company and his personal philosophy.

The Cambridge History of Science: Volume 7, The Modern Social Sciences David C. Lindberg, Theodore M. Porter, Roy Porter, Ronald L. Numbers, 2003-08-04 This volume provides a history of the concepts, practices, institutions and ideologies of social sciences including behavioural and economic sciences since the eighteenth century. It offers original synthetic accounts of the historical development of social knowledge including its philosophical assumptions, its social and intellectual organization and its relations to science, medicine, politics, bureaucracy, philosophy, religion and the professions. Its forty two chapters include inquiries into the genres and traditions that formed social science, the careers of the main social disciplines, psychology, economics, sociology, anthropology, political science, geography, history and statistics and international essays on social science in Eastern Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America. It also includes essays that examine the involvement of the social sciences in government, business, education, culture and social policy. This is a broad cultural history of social science which analyzes from a variety of perspectives its participation in the making of the modern world.
