The Economics of Human Betterment Kenneth Ewart Boulding, 1984-09-01      The Economics of Human Betterment Kenneth Ewart Boulding, British Association for the Advancement of Science. Section F (Economics), 1984 The Economics of Human Betterment is a comparative look at economic change and social progress It is about betterment a change or process and about institutions and countries as they evolve It is about human betterment and therefore concerned with perceived welfare and the identification of basic human needs And it is about economics but about means as means not means as ends This book asks in what way productive activities whether free market or planned whether in developed or in developing countries influence and reflect basic human values The essays contained herein represent some of the best up to date accounts available on such topics as the welfare state in Holland or the relationship between growth and betterment in Singapore Other essays take in the United Kingdom Japan India and the planned economy of the Soviet Union The contributors are all well known experts in their own field And their essays reveal a common conviction that economics is about people first and about things only in so far as they contribute to human betterment      The Economics of Human Betterment British Association for the Advancement of Science. Section F (Economics), 1984      The Economics of Human Betterment Kenneth E. Boulding, 1984      Political Economy of Economic Policy Wilfred L. David, 1988-09-02 David takes as his point of departure the orthodox rational paradigm of public policy making which he argues does not adequately reflect real world process to present an integrated model for economic policy formulation and execution By juxtaposing the theoretical foundations of the rationalist model with insights drawn from alternative systems of political economy he shows how economic decisionmaking is both more complex and less idealistic than the rational paradigm assumes In constructing his argument David systematically integrates ideas drawn from moral philosophy politics sociology systems theory institutional and neo Marxian economic thought and international dimensions of political economy He suggests a reorientation of theory and analysis based on an approach emphasizing the role of values conflicts power and divergent interests in the decisionmaking process Focusing throughout on questions raised by the rationalist model David builds his analysis around issues such as the validity of the dominant theories of public economic decision making the logical vis a vis ideological foundations of economic policy postulates the extent to which decisions can be made more responsive to values pertaining to human development      Kenneth Boulding R. Scott, 2014-11-24 This book summarizes the life and work of economist Kenneth E Boulding Boulding was a prolific writer teacher and Quaker Starting his career as an orthodox Keynesian economist he eventually adopted a transdisciplinary approach to economic topics including peace conflict and defense environmental problems human betterment and evolution      Interdisciplinary Economics Wilfred Dolfsma, Stefan Kesting, 2013-07-18 Kenneth Boulding was a prolific writer across so many different fields that not only is he often much referred to and cited he is considered a core member of many of these fields Boulding is the quintessential interdisciplinary

Economics of Fulfillment Vincent Frank Bedogne, 2009-05-13 At present every nation embraces a blend of two major economic philosophies socialism and capitalism Does either system of economic belief however meet our needs Faced with uncertain global economic conditions and problems with capitalism and free markets we seek solutions in socialism and government control Faced with declining individual freedom and problems with socialism and government control we seek solutions in capitalism and free markets In light of the emerging evolution of consciousness view of the universe we see economics in all its past and contemporary forms those that lean toward socialism and those that lean toward capitalism as obsolete A new economic philosophy reveals itself an economics for tomorrow an economics of fulfillment

Human Betterment Kenneth E. Boulding, 1985-02-01 In this highly personal work Boulding traces his lifelong search for human betterment Believing that human betterment required certain economic changes he studied economics as an undergraduate at Oxford A careful examination of the American labour movement however convinced him that economics alone could not solve the problems of human betterment Boulding's later involvement in the study of conflict resolution and the analysis of world culture eventually led him to evolutionary theory which has occupied much of his time and energy since the late 1960s

The Political Economy of Human Happiness Benjamin Radcliff, 2013-03-25 Data methods and theories of contemporary social science can be applied to resolve how political outcomes in democratic societies determine the quality of life that citizens experience Radcliff seeks to provide an objective answer to the debate between left and right over what public policies best contribute to people leading positive and rewarding lives Radcliff offers an empirical answer relying on the same canons of reason and evidence required of any other issue amenable to study through social scientific means The analysis focuses on the consequences of three specific political issues the welfare state and the general size of government labor organization and state efforts to protect workers and consumers through economic regulation The results indicate that in each instance the program of the Left best contributes to citizens leading more satisfying lives and critically that the benefits of greater happiness accrue to everyone in society rich and poor alike

The Moral Dynamics of Economic Life Daniel K. Finn, 2012-04-24 Caritas in veritate Charity in Truth is the social encyclical of Pope Benedict XVI one of many papal encyclicals over the last 120 years that address economic life This volume based on discussions at a symposium co sponsored by the Institute for Advanced Catholic Studies and the Pontifical Council for Justice and Peace analyzes the situation of the Church and the theological basis for Benedict's thinking about the person community and the globalized economy The Moral Dynamics of Economic Life engages Benedict's analysis of relation the characteristics of contemporary social and economic relationships and the implications of a relational Trinitarian God for daily human life Crucial here is the Pope's notion of reciprocity an economic relationship characterized by help freely given but which forms an expectation that the recipient will reciprocate either to the donor or often to someone else This logic of gift Benedict argues should influence daily economic life especially within what he calls hybrid firms which make a profit and invest a share of that profit in service to needs outside the firm Similarly development whether of an individual or of a nation must be integral neither simply economic nor personal nor psychological nor spiritual but a comprehensive development that engages all dimensions of a flourishing human life The essays written by social scientists theologians policy analysts and others engage extend and critique Benedict's views on these issues as well as his call for deeper dialogue and a morally based transformation of social and economic structures
