Christian, 2007-05-01 Finding community is as critical as obtaining food and shelter since the need to belong is what makes us human The isolation and loneliness of modern life have led many people to search for deeper connection which has resulted in a renewed interest in intentional communities These intentional communities or ecovillages are an appealing choice for like minded people who seek to create a family oriented and ecologically sustainable lifestyle a lifestyle they are unlikely to find anywhere else However the notion of an intentional community can still be a tremendous leap for some deterred perhaps by a misguided vision of eking out a hardscrabble existence with little reward In fact successful ecovillages thrive because of the combined skills and resources of their members Finding Community presents a thorough overview of ecovillages and intentional communities and offers solid advice on how to research thoroughly visit thoughtfully evaluate intelligently and join gracefully Useful considerations include Important questions to ask of members and of yourself Signs of a healthy and not so healthy community Cost of joining and staying Common blunders to avoid Finding Community provides intriguing possibilities to readers who are seeking a more cooperative sustainable and meaningful life Diana Leafe Christian is the author of Creating a Life Together and editor of Communities magazine She lives at Earthhaven Ecovillage in North Carolina      Environmental Integration Ton Bührs, 2009-04-09

Ramutsindela, 2007 Transfrontier conservation is a global concept which encompasses the protection of biodiversity spanning the borders of two or more countries in ways that support local economic development international relations and peace Nowhere is this more relevant but highly debatable than in Africa which is home to a third of the world s terrestrial biodiversity while at the same time hosting its poorest nations This is one of the first books to account for the emergence of transfrontier conservation in Africa against international experiences in bioregional planning The roles of the state and local populations are analysed as well as the ecological socio economic and political implications Everyday Ecofascism

Alexander Menrisky, 2025-05-06 A timely look into how fascist ideas permeate contemporary culture well beyond the far right As challenges posed by climate change have intensified in the twenty first century right wing figures in the United States and abroad have increasingly framed anti immigrant anti Indigenous and white supremacist sentiments in terms of environmental survival Everyday Ecofascism explores the insidious nature of this tendency revealing how permutations of these perspectives in fact resonate across the political spectrum Drawing on comparative studies of fascism writ large Alexander Menrisky demonstrates that ecofascism is best understood not as a uniquely right wing ideology but as a political genre that reinforces white supremacy and other forms of domination Presenting a view of fascism as a complex power network that plays out on scales both large and small Menrisky shows how extremist sentiments have crept into everyday language stories and ideas Through a literary and cultural studies lens he illuminates ecofascism s narrative patterns and their easy permeation of environmentalist discourses from back to the land movements to the resurgence of psychedelic drugs food localism and pandemic politics Opposite his analysis of ecofascism in action Menrisky sheds important light on narrative resistances to dominant conceptions of race nation and territory by Native queer and women of color writers who have countered ethnonationalism for generations Bridging past and present Menrisky powerfully nails down the emergent concept of ecofascism and forms a basis for understanding phenomena like Covid 19 ecological utopianism and psychedelic environmentalism that detangles ecofascist tendencies from justice oriented visions of place based belonging Retail e book files for this title are screen reader friendly

The Communal Idea in the 21st Century ,2012-09-28 The idea of a better society as associated with the communal idea is investigated from both theoretical perspectives and through contemporary experiences around the world This idea leaves nobody indifferent Whatever the hardship that its concretization implies however once it does materialize it cannot as such avoid new challenges tensions and unexpected claims This means at varying degrees negations of and removals from the utopian inspiration Humans are able to create unprecedented conditions of life under most ambitious inspirations but are unable to safeguard their achievements from change alterations and contradictions In this however another aspect of the utopian realizations is that they ultimately leave room for new utopist thinking and enrolment As far indeed the utopian inspiration draws its vitality from potent civilizational codes its renewal from ashes is as unavoidable as its self betrayal through materialization Contributors included Eliezer Ben Rafael Rami Degany Amitai Etzioni Maria F lling Albers Yiftah Goldman Ruth Kark Yossi Katz John Lehr Graham Meltzer Bill Metcalf Timothy Miller Yaacov Oved Michal Palgi Donald E Pitzer Shulamit Reinharz Lyman Tower Sargent Gy rgy Sz ll Menachem Topel Katherine Trebeck and Chris Warhurst

Urban Utopias Malcolm Miles,2007-11-21 Utopia tends to generate a bad press regarded as impracticable perhaps nostalgic or contradictory when visions of a perfect world cannot accommodate the change that is necessary to a free and self organizing society But people from diverse backgrounds are currently building a new society within the old balancing literal and metaphorical utopianism and demonstrating plural possibilities for alternative futures and types of settlement Thousands of such places exist around the world including intentional communities eco villages permaculture plots religious and secular retreats co housing projects self build schemes projects for low impact housing and activist squats in urban and rural sites This experience suggests however that when planning and design are not integral to alternative social formations the modern dream to engineer a new society cannot be realized The book is structured in four parts In part one literary and theoretical utopias from the early modern period to the nineteenth century are reconsidered Part two investigates twentieth century urban utopianism and contemporary alternative settlements focusing on social and environmental issues activism and eco village living Part three looks to wider horizons in recent practices in the non affluent world and Part four reviews a range of cases from the author s visits to specific sites This is followed by a short conclusion in which a discussion of key issues is resumed This book brings together insights from literary theoretical and practical utopias drawing out the characteristics of groups and places that are part of a new society It links today s utopian experiments to historical and literary utopias and to theoretical problems in utopian thought
