

EDITING YOUR NEWSLETTER

by David A. Reardon

When you edit a newsletter, you are not only editing the content, but you are also editing the design. The design of a newsletter is an important part of its overall effectiveness. A well-designed newsletter is more likely to be read and acted upon than a poorly designed one. There are several key elements to consider when editing the design of a newsletter:

- 1. Layout: The layout of a newsletter should be clean and uncluttered. Use a consistent grid system to organize the content. Avoid using too many columns or rows. Use white space effectively to separate different sections of the newsletter.
- 2. Typography: Choose a font that is easy to read and consistent throughout the newsletter. Use different font sizes and weights to create a hierarchy of information. Avoid using too many different fonts.
- 3. Color: Use color sparingly and effectively. Choose a color palette that is visually appealing and consistent with the overall theme of the newsletter. Use color to highlight important information or to create a sense of urgency.
- 4. Images: Use high-quality images that are relevant to the content of the newsletter. Avoid using too many images, as this can clutter the design and slow down the loading time of the newsletter.
- 5. Links: Make sure that all links are clearly visible and easy to click. Use descriptive text for the links, so that readers know where they are going when they click.
