Challenging Inclusive Education Policy and Practice in Africa ,2018-11-26 It is a fundamental right for all children to be given access to quality education to ensure they reach their full potential as individuals a right which is reflected in international law in Article 26 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and supported by the Education for All Agenda 1990 and the United Nations Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities and Optional Protocol 2006 Nation states across Africa have signed up to these protocols and remain committed to ensuring education for all children The progress globally however in the past 25 years including in Africa has been slow UNESCO 2015 Questions remain on why this is so and what can be done about it This book brings together researchers education policy makers and academics from the African community What is unique about this text is that it includes local insights narrated and critiqued by local professionals This book presents a wide range of African countries across the continent to provide a critical overview of the key issues affecting developments It questions the origins of ideas and definitions around inclusive education and the impact it has made on policy and ultimately practice within local socio cultural and economic communities both urban and rural It highlights positive developments as well as challenges and provides a deep understanding of why the process of implementing inclusive education is so complex in the African continent It provides an understanding of what is needed to develop a more sustainable model of inclusive education across the continent and within specific countries

It presents detailed discussions of change in the Irish education system demonstrating how policy initiatives particularly since the early 1990s have brought about significant transformation at all levels. chapters on academic selection and teachers recollections of policy for example set developments within the wider historical context employing the views and recollections of teachers so that the influence of change on day to day practice is revealed
