Educational Neuroscience, Constructivist Learning, and the Mediation of Learning and Creativity in the 21st Century Layne Kalbfleisch, 2015-05-28 The advent of educational neuroscience a transdisciplinary exercise emerging from cognitive neuroscience and educational psychology is the examination of physiological processes that undermine support and enhance the capacities to learn and create The physiological underpinnings of learning and creativity each impact human ability and performance and mediate the processes of becoming educated expert and valued Evidence of learning provides support to an ongoing canon process system field or domain while evidence of creativity results in an elaboration or departure from an ongoing canon process system field or domain Educational neuroscience extends a challenge to scholars from multiple contexts to engage in the characterization and exploration of human ability and performance in these realms The role of context both environmental and interoceptive is an integral part of efforts in educational neuroscience and in theories of constructivist learning to contribute ecologically valid insight to the pragmatic processes of learning and creativity Examination at this level of specificity is vital to our ability to educate and support human potential in the 21st century This Research Topic examines the neural basis of cognitive states and processes that influence knowledge and skill acquisition tied to the demonstration of human ability and performance across individual differences and in multiple contexts including STEM learning and the arts EdPsych Modules Cheryl Cisero Durwin, Marla Reese-Weber, 2019-12-04 EdPsych Modules uses an innovative modular approach and case studies based on real life classroom situations to address the challenge of effectively connecting theory and research to practice Succinct stand alone modules are organized into themed units and offer instructors the flexibility to tailor the book's contents to the needs of their course The units begin with a set of case studies written for early childhood elementary middle and secondary classrooms providing students with direct insight into the dynamics influencing the future students they plan to teach All 25 modules highlight diversity emphasizing how psychological factors adapt and change based on external influences such as sex gender race language disability status and socioeconomic background The Fourth Edition includes over three hundred new references across all 25 modules and expanded coverage of diversity in new diversity related research This title is accompanied by a complete teaching and learning package Contemporary Psychometrics - New Developments and Applications María Cristina Richaud, Belen Mesurado, Viviana Noemí Lemos, 2025-09-03 In an era marked by rapid social cultural and technological change the field of psychometrics is evolving to meet new challenges and possibilities Contemporary Psychometrics New Developments and Applications offers a timely and rigorous exploration of emerging perspectives methods and applications in psychological assessment This volume brings together international scholars whose contributions reflect the diversity and complexity of modern psychometric inquiry From innovative theoretical frameworks to culturally sensitive approaches the chapters address key questions facing researchers and practitioners today Highlights include A comprehensive overview of contemporary psychometric models and their practical applications A critical look at psychometric network analysis as an alternative for understanding complex psychosocial systems The introduction of etno psychometry a powerful approach that balances psychometric rigor with cultural relevance Original research on new test development and validation including studies in positive psychology in sports engineering education and child attention assessment Whether you are a researcher practitioner or graduate student this book will provide valuable insights into the current state and future directions of psychometric science By showcasing methodological innovation and cross cultural perspectives it invites readers to rethink how we define measure and interpret human behavior in diverse contexts Mapping the Field Jane Martin, Marion Bowl, Gemma Banks, 2023-10-04 From its origins in the University of Birmingham's then Institute of Education in 1948 Educational Review has emerged as a leading international journal for generic educational research. Seventy-five years on Mapping the Field presents a detailed account of education theory and research policy and practice through the lens of key articles published in the journal over this timespan. Volume II opens with Part I a collection of articles examining teachers' job dissatisfaction and stress and the gendered composition of the teaching workforce. Articles in Part II trace a shift in academic focus from schools seen as families/communities to the parent-school relationship. The concepts of inclusion and equality and strategies for their fulfilment in education are interrogated in Part III. The volume concludes with Part IV in which diverse identities in the education field are represented. Curated and introduced by the editors, the articles included in both volumes of Mapping the Field represent a careful selection from the work of scholars whose ideas have been and continue to be influential in the field of education. Overall, this major text covers a wide range of topics and offers original insights into educational policy, provision, processes and practice from around the world.
