Finding My Father One Mans Search For Identity:

Finding My Father Rod McKuen, 1967 Wild Reciter Peter Kirkpatrick, 2024-12-03 Just over a century ago poetry was all the rage in Australia Newspapers and magazines published it entertainers and elocutionists performed it on stages across the country and ordinary Australians recited it in schools local halls and suburban parlours Yet this communal experience of poetry has now largely disappeared In The Wild Reciter Peter Kirkpatrick examines how this change occurred by exploring the shifting relationships between poetry and popular culture and in particular the arrival of new media taking the reader from penny readings and vaudeville to slam and Instapoetry Many extraordinary yet wholly forgotten works are brought to light while some well known poems and their authors receive a critical makeover The Man from Snowy River encounters the Wild West Lesbia Harford turns singer songwriter Kenneth Slessor finds his groove Yevgeny Yevtushenko blows up the Adelaide Festival rock music inspires both John Laws and the Generation of 68 Dorothy Porter resorts to crime fiction and Clive James abandons media fame for poetic glory This pioneering study reimagines the history of Australian verse to arrive at a more expansive notion of poetry A Voice of the Warm Barry Alfonso, 2019-06-28 In his 1960s 1970s heyday Rod McKuen was a phenomenally popular singer songwriter as well as the bestselling poet in publishing history To his legions of fans around the world he was a voice of compassion and healing as much a prophet as an author entertainer McKuen songs like If You Go Away and Jean earned him massive hits while books like Listen to the Warm sold millions of copies McKuen's huge sales and devoted following didn't stop the critics from calling his work sentimental kitsch cranked out for the money Who was this enigmatic artist who aroused so much love and hatred A Voice of the Warm The Life of Rod McKuen is the first ever biography of one of the 20th century's most popular and misunderstood pop culture icons Drawing upon extensive research and over 100 interviews author Barry Alfonso tells how McKuen overcame childhood physical and sexual abuse to become a teenage radio host film actor and Beat style poet before connecting with a vast audience as a writer and recording artist McKuen's role as a pioneering gay rights activist who bridged the 60s generation gap with a message of love and tolerance help to make his story uniquely relevant today The Psychology of Adoption David M. Brodzinsky Associate Professor of Developmental and Clinical Psychology Rutgers University, Marshall D. Schechter Professor of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine (Emeritus), 1990-04-12 In this volume David Brodzinsky who has conducted one of the nation's largest studies of adopted children and Marshall Schechter a noted child psychiatrist who has been involved with adoption related issues for over forty years have brought together a group of leading researchers from various disciplines to explore the complex interdisciplinary subject of adoption While recent empirical work has shown that adopted children are more vulnerable to a host of psychological and school related problems compared to their nonadopted peers and that the rate of referral of adopted children to mental health facilities is far above what would be expected given their representation in the general population our understanding of the basis for these problems remains unclear In this book theoretical empirical clinical and social policy issues offer new insights into the problems facing parents of adopted children and especially the children themselves A comprehensive study The Psychology of Adoption will be of interest to child psychiatrists developmental and clinical psychologists social workers social service providers and adoptive parents Catalog of Copyright Entries. Finding My Way Duncan Brown,2023-12-01 This book reflects on South African literature from the perspective of 2020 It emerges from Duncan Brown s experiences of three decades of working in this field of writing and scholarship It is a personal intellectual exploration and an engagement with the institutional history of literary studies in South Africa and elsewhere Finding My Way also attempts to find more creative engaging and intriguing modes of writing about literature and the humanities universally It seeks to recover a sense of the imaginative the literary and the affective not only as things to value in the literary texts we read but also as ways of understanding and reading texts as ways of writing criticism of registering how books make us feel as well as how they make us think Print edition not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa

Cross-cultural Approaches to Adoption Fiona Bowie,2004 Adoption is currently subject to a great deal of media scrutiny High profile cases of international adoption via the internet and other unofficial routes have drawn attention to the relative ease with which children can be obtained on the global circuit and have brought about legislation which regulates the exchange of children within and between countries However a scarcity of research into cross cultural attitudes to child rearing and a wider lack of awareness of cultural difference in adoptive contexts has meant that the assumptions underlying Western childcare policy are seldom examined or made explicit These articles look at adoption practices from Africa Oceania Asia and Central America including examples of societies in which children are routinely separated from their biological parents or passed through several foster families Showing the range and flexibility of the child rearing practices that approximate to the Western term adoption they demonstrate the benefits of a cross cultural appreciation of family life and allow a broader understanding of the varied relationships that exist between children and adoptive parents Boerejood: One Man's Quest to Understand the Miracle of Democracy in South Africa Julian Roup,2024-10-16 Brilliant engaged intelligent personal and funny Financial Times Ten years after democracy arrived in South Africa here is a book that gives a voice to the Afrikaner speaking in English about the Miracle of the peaceful transition to majority rule their worst nightmare

This is a book that goes beyond politics with the very human story of one man giving insight into the hearts and minds of a people struggling to find their identity as white Africans trying to secure their place in Africa They are seen through the eyes of a Boerejood a half Afrikaans half Jewish writer who struggles himself with issues of identity reflecting the struggle around him In the final analysis Boerejood is about the universal human struggle between good and evil black and white justice and injustice love and hate all that defines us as being human It takes the reader on an astonishing and remarkable journey of discovery the destination being the soul of the Afrikaner and an answer to why these people accepted black majority rule with relatively no struggle after years of racist persecution of their black and brown neighbours Reading Boerejood is like being a voyeur at a hugely animated dinner party where you sit and listen to highly charged debate with intelligent people locking horns They make fascinating points and then incredibly inane and na ve remarks Then they dazzle with astute observations You are hooked and hang on to every word Cape Times International Who's Who in Poetry 2004 Europa Publications,2003 Provides up to date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets The New York Times Book Review ,1988-07 Doing Everyday Life : Ethnography as Human Lived Experience Robert Prus,1994 The Oxford Companion to Popular Music Peter Gammond,1991 One volume guide to popular music that includes biographical entries
