Chinese Art and Its Encounter with the World David Clarke, 2011-08-01 Chinese Art and Its Encounter with the World examines Chinese art from the mid eighteenth century to the present beginning with discussion of a Chinese portrait modeler from Canton who traveled to London in 1769 and ending with an analysis of art and visual culture in post colonial Hong Kong By means of a series of six closely focused case studies often deliberately introducing non canonical or previously marginalized aspects of Chinese visual culture it analyzes Chinese art's encounter with the broader world and in particular with the West Offering more than a simple charting of influences it uncovers a pattern of richly mutual interchange between Chinese art and its others Arguing that we cannot fully understand modern Chinese art without taking this expanded global context into account it attempts to break down barriers between areas of art history which have hitherto largely been treated within separate and often nationally conceived frames Aware that issues of cultural difference need to be addressed by art historians as much as by artists it represents a pioneering attempt to produce art historical writing which is truly global in approach David Clarke is Professor in the Department of Fine Arts University of Hong Kong

China's War Clouds: The Great Chinese Checkmate Lt Col JS Sodhi (Retd), 2024-08-20 Internationally well known defence and strategic affairs analyst and awardee of several awards in the field of media Lt Col JS Sodhi Retd analyzes the rise of China economically and militarily since the Chinese Civil War ended in 1949 and how China poses the greatest danger to world peace and world order as not only does it challenge the superpower status of the USA but it has also emerged as a superpower itself with unbridled economic and military prowess With six wars on the horizon that China will wage in the next 39 years it will be a challenge to contain China unless bold steps are taken immediately before it is too late

Weight in the Fingertips Inna Faliks, 2023-10-15 Before she knew she was Ukrainian Soviet or Jewish Inna Faliks knew she was a musician Growing up in the city of Odessa the piano became her best friend and she explored the brilliant intricate puzzles of Bach's music and learned to compose under her mother's watchful eye At ten Faliks and her parents moved to Chicago as part of the tide of Jewish refugees who fled the USSR for the West in the 1980s During the months long immigration process she would silently practice on kitchen tables while imagining a full set of piano keys beneath her fingertips In Weight in the Fingertips Faliks gives a globe trotting account of her upbringing as a child prodigy in a Soviet state the perils of immigration the struggle of assimilating as an American years of training with teachers and her slow and steady rise in the world of classical music With a warm and playful style she helps non musicians understand the experience of becoming a world renowned concert pianist The places she grew up the books she read the poems she memorized as a child all connect to her sound at the piano and the way she hears and shapes a musical phrase illuminate classical music and elite performance She also explores how a person's humanity makes their art honest and their voice unique and how the life long challenge of retaining that voice is fueled by a balance between being a great musician and being a human being Throughout Faliks provides powerful insights into the role of music in a world of conflict change and hope for a better tomorrow
