

The background of the book cover is a watercolor illustration. On the left, a large, multi-story Victorian house with a prominent tower and a conical roof is depicted. The house has several windows and a balcony. In the foreground, a man and a woman are walking towards the right. The woman is wearing a long, dark skirt and a light-colored jacket, and she is holding a large, light-colored umbrella. The man is wearing a dark suit and a hat. They are walking on a path that leads towards the house. The sky is a pale blue with some light clouds. The overall style is that of a classic children's book illustration.

web answer yes an increasing function of one variable is quasiconcave any convex combination of two points on this function will be at least as large as the smallest of the two points using the differential based approach f is quasiconcave if for any x_0 and x_1 $f(x_1) \geq f(x_0)$ $x_1 \geq x_0$ web the integral on the right hand side of this equation is a function of w if we let this integral be represented by u then $u \in U$ w is a valid representation of preferences 4from this subsection through the end of the chapter we focus on continuous monetary variable for convenience 5it is not a function of w since w is just the variable of integration
