Urquhart, Tim G. Acott, David Symes, Minghua Zhao, 2014-01-20 This volume is an interdisciplinary mix of perspectives and studies on social issues in fisheries from a diverse range of case studies and research disciplines The case is made regarding the dearth of attention to socio cultural considerations which to date have been largely treated as an externality of fisheries policy It will be valuable to researchers and decision makers interested in understanding the social dimension of fisheries and provides a timely and relevant compilation of research and analysis on some of the critical socio cultural issues facing fisheries management and fishing communities today Poverty Mosaics: Realities and Prospects in Small-Scale Fisheries Svein Jentoft, Arne Eide, 2011-07-15 Small scale fisheries are a major source of food and employment around the world Yet many small scale fishers work in conditions that are neither safe nor secure Millions of them are poor and often they are socially and politically marginalized Macro economic and institutional mechanisms are essential to address these poverty and vulnerability problems however interventions at the local community level are also necessary This requires deep understanding of what poverty means to the fishers their families and communities how they cope with it and the challenges they face to increase resiliency and improve their lives for the better This book provides a global perspective situating small scale fisheries within the broad academic discourse on poverty fisheries management and development In depth case studies from fifteen countries in Latin America Europe South and Southeast Asia and sub Saharan Africa demonstrate the enormously complex ecological economic social cultural and political contexts of this sector Conclusions for policy making formulated as a joint statement by the authors argue that fisheries development poverty alleviation and resource management must be integrated within a comprehensive governance approach that also looks beyond fisheries The scientific editors Svein Jentoft and Arne Eide are both with the Norwegian College of Fishery Science Faculty of Biosciences Fisheries and Economics University of Troms Norway

Fishing Europe's Troubled Waters David Symes, 2023-03-31 Spanning the last 50 years of fisheries policy in Europe this book is the parting contribution and career spanning reflection from one of Europe's most renowned social scientists working in the field of fisheries management and policy The last 50 years have without doubt been the most turbulent years in the history of North Atlantic fisheries a turbulence brought about by the actions of fishers scientists and above all politicians It is a period of change that sees a radical redrawing of the political geography of fisheries globalisation of trade the development of fisheries management towards increasingly restrictive regulation and declining fish stocks The book explains why the bold but deeply flawed Common Fisheries Policy persistently failed to deliver its basic goal of sustainable fisheries The spotlight falls on the monolithic highly centralised command and control nature of the Policy that strives to apply a universal one size fits all approach thus creating a governing system wholly unsuited to the system to be governed out of kilter with preferred models of governance and disconnected from the practical realities of fishing as a livelihood in a challenging environment A final section on Brexit focuses on its halting progress from concept to reality the implications for the fisheries sector and the fateful final negotiations with the EU over the fisheries question Seeking to explain why the anticipated benefits for the UK industry failed to materialise attention is drawn to the misplaced political hubris over regaining sovereignty in areas like the North Sea This book will be essential reading for students scholars professionals and policymakers working on fisheries marine governance natural resource management environmental policy and the European Project

Fisheries, Quota Management and Quota Transfer Gordon M. Winder, 2017-07-11 This volume examines the impact of fish stock assessment and catch share arrangements in context through case studies and in terms of ecosystem economy and society It examines the rationalizing work of bio economic projects especially the institutionalization of individual transferable quota ITQ in fisheries what impact have they had on fisheries and fishers The contributing authors understand ITQ and quota management as bio economic projects that is as widely deployed but locally constituted projects that combine biological and economic logics to rationalize production and in this case fish Politicians and managers use these projects and the models that justify them to rationalize fisheries in favor of modern technology and for capital and species efficiency Aimed at a diverse interdisciplinary fisheries management readership and designed as a guide to issues emerging in any assessment of ITQ the book is a timely investigation of the origins and diverse experiences of ITQ projects including resistance to them attempts to develop fisheries management around them and experiences of the risks that come with them Now around forty years old ITQ has never been subject to the kind of comprehensive sustainability assessments once advocated by Elinor Ostrom let alone the full cost accounting of impacts at the national level that Evelyn Pinkerton recently called for Fisheries Quota Management and Quota Transfer offers multi disciplinary assessments of the effects of ITQ from scholars working in eight countries The book brings together scholars from anthropology economics geography sociology the history of science and marine environmental history to discuss experiences from fisheries in eight industrialized countries It considers cases from outside as well as inside the EU including ITQ pioneers New Zealand and Iceland The combination allows for an unprecedented international perspective on stock assessments and share allocation systems By emphasizing emerging becoming learning and transforming through knowledge the book conceives technology as a field of power and choice nevertheless dominated by managers through specific projects in specific contexts Individual chapters relate bio economic projects to separate theoretical literature an approach that facilitates multi disciplinary dialog

Elinor Ostrom and the Bloomington School of Political Economy Daniel H. Cole, Michael D. McGinnis, 2015-09-04 In addition to winning the 2009 Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences for her path breaking research on economic governance especially the commons Elinor Lin Ostrom also made important contributions to other fields of political economy and public policy This four volume compendium of papers written by Lin often with coauthors most notably her husband Vincent along with papers by others expanding on her work brings together the strands of her entire empirical analytical theoretical and methodological research program Together with Vincent's important theoretical contributions they defined a distinctive Bloomington School of political economic thought Volume 2 examines Lin's work on the commons in which she demonstrated that in many cases local resource users can solve collective action problems through common property management regimes It comprises papers including some that are not well known related to and building on the findings of Governing the Commons 1990 Part I focuses on key attributes of biophysical resources and the institutions human communities have designed to govern them Part II shows how in various social and ecological circumstances different sets of institutions facilitate or impede the long run sustainability of resources Part III highlights Ostrom's first major research project on water resources in Southern California It was a topic she and her students returned to with the specific intention of gathering data more than 50 years worth for longitudinal analyses of combined institutional and ecological change In sum this volume contextualizes what is at present thought to be Lin's greatest legacy to social science the conditions under which resources can be sustainably managed over very long periods of time by the collective action of ordinary people beyond markets and states

Evolving Property Rights in Marine Fisheries Donald Leal, 2005 This book examines the development of property rights in marine fisheries and asks whether the obstacles to their continued development cannot be more easily overcome The contributed chapters generally focus on the consequences of a lack of property rights of commercial and small time fishers globally National governments have recognized that the absence of such rights coupled with the technological advances in commercial fishing have resulted in widespread economic and environmental problems e.g. overfishing bycatching highgrading increased physical dangers and lower profits The most significant solution to these problems and the predominate concern of this book is the institution of Individual Transferable Quotas (ITQs) also known as Individual Fishing Quotas (IFQs) These are national and global policies public and private sector managed allocations of the amount of various species of fish at certain qualities can be harvested at particular times by fishers , Our Blessed Rebel Queen Linda Mizejewski, Tanya D. Zuk, 2021-10-05 Longtime fans of Carrie Fisher and her body of work will welcome this smart and thoughtful tribute to a multimedia legend Report of the FAO Vigo Dialogue on social responsibility in the fisheries and aquaculture value chains - Addressing current problems triggered by COVID-19. Food and Agriculture

Organization of the United Nations, 2021-06-03 The 2020 FAO Vigo Dialogue focused on promoting human and labour rights to ensure better social practices along fisheries and aquaculture value chains including emphasizing social problems associated with the COVID-19 pandemic The main issues and challenges that the sector is facing were discussed and identified The Dialogue raised awareness of the situation faced by fish workers and the industry due to the pandemic and allowed FAO to collaborate with relevant stakeholders by providing a clear outline of the significant challenges on social issues in fisheries and aquaculture value chains Elinor Ostrom Vlad Tarko, 2016-12-15 Elinor Ostrom was the first woman to win the Nobel Prize in economics She has been at the forefront of New Institutional Economics and Public Choice revolutions discovering surprising ways in which communities around the world have succeeded in solving difficult collective problems She first rose to prominence by studying the police in metropolitan areas in the United States and showing that contrary to the prevailing view at the time community policing and smaller departments worked better than centralized and large police departments Together with her husband Vincent they have set up the Bloomington Workshop in Political Theory and Policy Analysis which has grown into a global network of scholars and practitioners Throughout her career she was interested in studying ecological problems and understanding how people manage communal properties Her most famous discovery is that communities often find ingenious ways of escaping the tragedy of the commons Analysing a wide variety of successes and failures and working together with many other scholars she was able to uncover a series of institutional design principles a set of criteria which if followed societies are more likely to be productive and resilient to shocks Some of her most important theoretical insights about polycentricity and institutional evolution arose from this synthesizing effort Furthermore this led her to develop a framework for the study of the relationship between societies and their natural environment which brought institutional insights into the field of environmental studies
