Five For Five The Films Of Spike Lee:

Five for Five Terry McMillan, 1991 A critical and interpretive tribute to the work of film maker Spike Lee Essays by African American writers Terry McMillan Toni Cade Bambara Nelson George Charles Johnson Henry Louis Gates Jr and Melvin Van Peebles accompany production stills taken by David Lee Spike Lee Jason P. Vest, 2014-09-30 Spike Lee's journey from guerrilla filmmaker to Hollywood insider is explored in light of his personal background the cultural influence of his films and the extensive scholarship his movies have inspired This insightful study probes the iconic filmmaker's career as a director and shaper of American culture It not only sheds light on the ways in which Lee's background influences and outlook affect his films but also discusses how he participates in transforms and transcends the tradition of black American filmmaking Each chapter offers a critical assessment of at least one and sometimes multiple Lee films examining their production history their place in Lee's filmography and their aesthetic cultural and historical significance Readers will come away from this first scholarly assessment of Lee's career and work with a better understanding of his penchant for stirring up controversy about significant social political and artistic issues as well as his role as an American artist who provokes his audiences as much as he pacifies them The Philosophy of Spike Lee Mark T. Conard, 2011-07-22 Over his twenty plus year tenure in Hollywood Spike Lee has produced a number of controversial films that unapologetically confront sensitive social issues particularly those of race relations and discrimination Through his honest portrayals of life's social obstacles he challenges the public to reflect on the world's problems and divisions The innovative director created a name for himself with feature films such as Do the Right Thing 1989 and Malcolm X 1992 and with documentaries such as 4 Little Girls 1997 and When the Levees Broke 2006 breaking with Hollywood's reliance on cultural stereotypes to portray African Americans in a more realistic light The director continues to produce poignant films that address some of modern society's most important historical movements and events In The Philosophy of Spike Lee editor Mark T Conard and an impressive list of contributors delve into the rich philosophy behind this filmmaker's extensive work Not only do they analyze the major themes of race and discrimination that permeate Lee's productions but also examine other philosophical ideas that are found in his films ideas such as the nature of time transcendence moral motivation self constitution and justice The authors specialize in a variety of academic disciplines that range from African American Studies to literary and cultural criticism and Philosophy Do the Right Thing Ed Guerrero, 2020-05-14 Spike Lee's Do The Right Thing 1989 is one of the most popular and celebrated examples of the African American new black film wave Set during the hottest day of a hot summer in New York City the film's ensemble cast including Lee himself brilliantly play out the edgy negotiations and dramas of a racially and culturally diverse working class Brooklyn neighborhood Contrary to Hollywood's markedly cautious treatment of race and its confinement to the South and the past Do The Right Thing offers a nuanced portrayal of black urban life From hip hop fashions Afrocentric colors and rap music to police brutality gentrification non white immigration de industrialization and joblessness Do The Right Thing depicts it all from a contemporary African American point of view In his insightful study of the film Ed Guerrero discusses how it epitomizes Spike Lee s powerful impact on the representation of race and difference in America the progress of black film making and the rise of multicultural voices in the media This new edition includes a foreword by the author reflecting on Lee s subsequent film making career and on an America in which African Americans still contend with racial discrimination and police brutality Guerrero emphasizes Lee s especially timely understanding of black film making as a complex act mixing the skills of art politics and business in order to fashion a creative practice that confronts institutional discrimination and power relations head on A Short History of Film Wheeler Winston Dixon,Gwendolyn Audrey

Foster,2008-03-01 The history of international cinema is now available in a concise conveniently sized and affordable volume Succinct yet comprehensive A Short History of Film provides an accessible overview of the major movements directors studios and genres from the 1880s to the present More than 250 rare stills and illustrations accompany the text bringing readers face to face with many of the key players and films that have marked the industry Beginning with precursors of what we call moving pictures Wheeler Winston Dixon and Gwendolyn Audrey Foster lead a fast paced tour through the invention of the kinetoscope the introduction of sound and color between the two world wars and ultimately the computer generated imagery of the present day They detail significant periods in world cinema including the early major industries in Europe the dominance of the Hollywood studio system in the 1930s and 1940s and the French New Wave of the 1960s Special attention is also given to small independent efforts in developing nations and the corresponding more personal independent film movement that briefly flourished in the United States the significant filmmakers of all nations censorship and regulation and how they have affected production everywhere and a wide range of studios and genres Along the way the authors take great care to incorporate the stories of women and other minority filmmakers who have often been overlooked in other texts Compact and easily readable this is the best one stop source for the history of world film available to students teachers and general audiences alike A Short History of Film, Third Edition Wheeler Winston Dixon,Gwendolyn Audrey

Foster,2018-03-30 With more than 250 images new information on international cinema especially Polish Chinese Russian Canadian and Iranian filmmakers an expanded section on African American filmmakers updated discussions of new works by major American directors and a new section on the rise of comic book movies and computer generated special effects this is the most up to date resource for film history courses in the twenty first century In Search of the Black Fantastic

Richard Iton,2010 Prior to the 1960s when African Americans had little access to formal political power black popular culture was commonly seen as a means of forging community and effecting political change But as Richard Iton shows despite the changes politics black artists have continued to play a significant role in the making of critical social spaces Black City

Cinema Paula Massood,2011-01-19 In Black City Cinema Paula Massood shows how popular films reflected the massive social changes that resulted from the Great Migration of African Americans from the rural South to cities in the North West and Mid West during the first three decades of the twentieth century By the onset of the Depression the Black population had become primarily urban transforming individual lives as well as urban experience and culture Massood probes into the relationship of place and time showing how urban settings became an intrinsic element of African American film as Black people became more firmly rooted in urban spaces and more visible as historical and political subjects Illuminating the intersections of film history politics and urban discourse she considers the chief genres of African American and Hollywood narrative film the black cast musicals of the 1920s and the race films of the early sound era to blaxploitation and hood films as well as the work of Spike Lee toward the end of the century As it examines such a wide range of films over much of the twentieth century this book offers a unique map of Black representations in film Frame by Frame II Phyllis Rauch Klotman, Gloria J. Gibson, 1997 A filmography of Blacks in the film industry Street Smart Richard A. Blake, 2021-11-21 New York has appeared in more movies than Michael Caine and the resulting overfamiliarity to moviegoers poses a problem for critics and filmmakers alike Audiences often mistake the New York image of skyscrapers and bright lights for the real thing when in fact the City is a network of clearly defined villages each with a unique personality Standard film depictions of New Yorkers as a rush hour mass of undifferentiated humanity obscure the connections formed between people and places in the City s diverse neighborhoods Street Smart examines the cultural influences of New York s neighborhoods on the work of four quintessentially New York filmmakers Sidney Lumet Woody Allen Martin Scorsese and Spike Lee The City s heterogeneous economic and ethnic districts where people live work shop worship and go to school often bear little relation to the image of New York City created by the movies To these directors their home city is as tangible as the smell of fried onions in the stairwell of an apartment building and it is this New York not the bustling glittery illusion portrayed in earlier films that shapes their sensibilities and receives expression in their films Richard A Blake shows how the Jewish enclaves on Manhattan s Lower East Side profoundly influence Sidney Lumet s most noted characters as they struggle to form and maintain their identities under challenging circumstances Both Woody Allen s light comedies and his more serious cinematic fare reflect the director s origins in the Flatbush neighborhood in Brooklyn and the displacement he felt after relocating to Manhattan Martin Scorsese s upbringing on Elizabeth Street in Manhattan s Little Italy resonates in his gritty portraits of urban modernity Blake also looks at the films of Spike Lee whose adolescence in Fort Greene a socioeconomically diverse Brooklyn neighborhood exposed him to widely ranging views that add depth to his complicated treatises on power culture and race Lumet Allen Scorsese and Lee s individual identities were shaped by their neighborhoods and in turn their life experiences have shaped their artistic vision In Street Smart Richard A Blake examines the critical influence of place on the films of four of America s most accomplished contemporary filmmakers A Short History of Film, Fourth Edition Wheeler Winston Dixon, Gwendolyn Audrey Foster, 2025-10-14 This updated and expanded edition of A Short History of Film provides an accessible overview of the major movements directors studios and genres from the 1880s to the present Succinct

yet comprehensive with more than 250 rare stills and illustrations it brings readers face to face with many of the key players and films that have shaped the industry Beginning with the precursors of moving pictures Wheeler Winston Dixon and Gwendolyn Audrey Foster lead a fast paced tour through the invention of the kinetoscope the introduction of sound and color between the two world wars and ultimately the computer generated imagery of the present day They detail significant periods in world cinema including the creation of early major industries in Europe the dominance of the Hollywood studio system in the 1930s and 1940s and the French New Wave of the 1960s They also highlight independent efforts in developing nations and the corresponding more personal independent film movement that briefly flourished in the United States Along the way the authors incorporate the stories of women and other minority filmmakers who have often been overlooked in other texts Compact and easily readable this is a vital history of international cinema is a one stop resource for students teachers and general readers alike

America on Film Sam B. Girgus, 2002-10-17

In America on Film first published in 2002 Sam Girgus examines a selection of films made in the last quarter of the twentieth century in an effort to trace how the notion of American has changed drastically from that portrayed in American cinema up to the 1950s In works such as Mississippi Masala Lone Star Malcolm X Raging Bull When We Were Kings and Bugsy he finds a new and ethnically varied array of characters that embody American values ideals and conflicts and a transformation in the relationship of American identity and culture to race and ethnicity as well as to sexuality gender and the body America on Film charts these changes through analysis of cinematic tensions between fiction documentary and modernism An art form that combines fragments of reality with imagination film Girgus maintains connects the documentary realism of the photographic image to the abstraction and non representation of modernism

Post-Soul Black Cinema William R.

Grant, 2004-08-02 This work examines and analyzes how the cinematic image of African Americans became a fixed image with strict rules of depiction both written and unwritten And how those very limited and under informed images would not and could not be challenged or transformed until the power relations in the American film industry began to change and afforded blacks the opportunity at the very least to tell stories from an informed position
