RiverTime Mary A. Hood, 2008-03-20 In this engaging travelogue of our world's rivers great and small poet and biologist Mary A Hood reflects on rivers as creators of place Recounting her journeys along portions of the Mississippi the Danube the Amazon the Yangtze the Ganges the Nile and a dozen small U S rivers Hood weaves together natural history current environmental and conservation issues encounters with endangered plants and animals and tells some interesting tales along the way Like a river the book begins small with essays that are narrowly focused on themes of environment and place such as the need to write our world Three Rivers how fires and corporations control the West the Flathead the effect of wind farms on a small town in western New York the Conhocton the giant redwoods and how they were preserved the Klamath and the search for moose in the great north woods the Penobscot The second section expands the themes of environment and place and looks at great world rivers their long histories their biological diversity the effects of human use and tourism and the paradox of human reverence and destruction From endangered species to invasive species from corporate control of national parks to wind farms from urban sprawl to efforts at conservation and restoration RiverTime offers insights into our relationship to the environment in the twenty first century Eco-man Mark Christopher Allister, 2004 Many canonical literary works look to the wild as the site for establishing a man's selfhood But nature is just as often subjected to his most violent displays of mastery This tension lies at the heart of Eco Man which brings together two rapidly growing fields men s studies and ecocriticism Here and Nowhere Else Jane Brox, 2004-09-15 In her first book which won the L L Winship PEN New England Award Jane Brox writes of going back to the farm where she grew up to help her aging father and the troubled brother who works the land with him She memorably captures the cadences of farm life and the people who sustain it at a time when both are waning Nature Writing Robert Finch, John Elder, 2002 The first anthology to represent the full range of nature writing s rich and flourishing tradition from lyrical essays to thoughtful encounters with new ethical and ecological Clearing Land Jane Brox, 2005-09-14 Though few of us now live close to the soil the world we inhabit has been concerns sculpted by our long national saga of settlement At the heart of our identity lies the notion of the family farm as shaped by European history and reshaped by the vast opportunities of the continent It lies at the heart of Jane Brox s personal story too she is the daughter of immigrant New England farmers whose way of life she memorialized in her first two books but has not carried on In this clear eyed lyrical account Brox twines the two narratives personal and historical to explore the place of the family farm as it has evolved from the pilgrims brutal progress at Plymouth to the modern world where much of our food is produced by industrial agriculture while the small farm is both marginalized and romanticized In considering the place of the farm Brox also considers the rise of textile cities in America which encroached not only upon farms and farmers but upon the sense of commonality that once sustained them and she traces the transformation of the idea of wilderness and its intricate connection to cultivation which changed as our ties to the land loosened as terror of the wild was replaced by desire for it Exploring these strands with neither judgment nor sentimentality Brox arrives at something beyond a biography of the farm a vivid depiction of the half life it carries on in our collective imagination Telling True Stories Mark Kramer, Wendy Call, 2007-01-30 Interested in journalism and creative writing and want to write a book Read inspiring stories and practical advice from America's most respected journalists.
