Flamboy Tree Memories Of A Mothers Wartime Courage:

Flamboy Tree: Memories of a Mother's Wartime Courage C. Kelly, 2003-04-01 The Flamboy Tree Clara Kelly, 2011-10-19 The Flamboy Tree is a fascinating story that will leave the reader informed about a missing piece of the World War II experience and in awe of one family's survival Elizabeth M Norman author of We Band of Angels The Untold Story of American Nurses Trapped on Bataan by the Japanese It is a well known fact that war any war is senseless and degrading When innocent people are brought into that war because they happen to be in the wrong place at the wrong time it becomes incomprehensible Java 1942 was such a place and time and we were those innocent people Fifty years after the end of World War II Clara Olink Kelly sat down to write a memoir that is both a fierce and enduring testament to a mother's courage and a poignant record of an often overlooked chapter of the war As the fighting in the Pacific spread four year old Clara Olink and her family found their tranquil pampered lives on the beautiful island of Java torn apart by the invasion of Japanese troops Clara's father was taken away forced to work on the Burma railroad For Clara her mother and her two brothers the younger one only six weeks old an insistent knock on the door ended all hope of escaping internment in a concentration camp For nearly four years they endured starvation filth ridden living conditions sickness and the danger of violence from their prison guards Clara credits her mother with their survival Even in the most perilous of situations Clara's mother never compromised her beliefs never admitted defeat and never lost her courage Her resilience sustained her three children through their frightening years in the camp Told through the eyes of a young Clara who was eight at the end of her family's ordeal The Flamboy Tree portrays her mother's tenacity the power of hope and humor and the buoyancy of a child's spirit A painting of a flamboy tree a treasured possession of the family's former life miraculously survived the surprise searches by the often brutal Japanese soldiers and every last minute flight Just as her mother carried this painting through the years of imprisonment and the life that followed so Clara carries her mother's unvanquished spirit through all of her experiences and into the reader's heart The Flamboy Tree Clara Olink Kelly, 2003 World War II in Literature for Youth Patricia Hachten Wee, Robert James Wee, 2004-11-10 This comprehensive volume provides a wealth of information with annotated listings of more than 3 500 titles a broad sampling of books on the war years 1939 1945 Includes both fiction and nonfiction works about all aspects of the war Professional resources for educators aligned to the educational standards for social studies technical references periodicals and electronic resources a directory of WWII museums memorials and other institutions and topics for exploration complement this excellent library and classroom resource Book Lust to Go Nancy Pearl, 2010-06-01 Adventure is just a book away as bestselling author Nancy Pearl returns with recommended reading for more than 120 destinations both worldly and imagined around the globe From Las Vegas to the Land of Oz Naples to Nigeria Philadelphia to Provence Nancy Pearl guides readers to the very best fiction and nonfiction to read about each destination Even within one country she traverses decades to suggest titles that effortlessly capture the different eras that make up a region's unique history This enthusiastic literary globetrotting guide includes stops in Korea Sweden Afghanistan Albania Parma Patagonia Texas and Timbuktu Book Lust To Go connects the best fiction and nonfiction to particular destinations whether your bags are packed or your armchair is calling From fiction to memoir poetry to history Nancy Pearl's Book Lust to Go takes the reader on a globetrotting adventure no passport required The Flamboya Tree Clara Olink Kelly, 2002 A heartbreaking account of the persecution and internment of a family by the Japanese during World War II told from a child's point of view THE FLAMBOYA TREE is both a tribute to a mother's resilience and a poignant and timeless story Its simplicity and the universal message of a mother's wartime love and courage infuse an account of terrible hardship with hope and inspiration At the age of fifty eight Clara Olink Kelly sat down to write her very first book THE FLAMBOYA TREE is a lovingly written memoir that is a compelling tribute to her mother's resilience Clara writes about her family's internment in a Japanese concentration camp on the beautiful Indonesian island of Java Clara's mother who led a pampered life before the war enters the camp with three small children including a six week old baby Their father had already been taken away forced to work on the Burma railroad Through four unbearable inhumane years of camp life the Olinks survived thanks to their mother's incredible tenacity Told through the eyes of a young Clara who was four at the beginning of her family's ordeal and eight when it ended THE FLAMBOYA TREE poignantly portrays her mother's unflagging courage and the buoyancy of the human spirit Just as the family's painting of a Flamboya tree a favourite artifact of their former life miraculously survives every last minute flight and surprise search by the Japanese Clara carries her mother's spirit of love humour and bravery through all of her experiences and into the reader's heart The Publishers Weekly ,2002 Library Journal ,2002
