Hazen,Margaret Hindle Hazen,2014-07-14 For Lo We live in an Iron Age In the age of Steam and Fire wrote a poet mesmerized by the engines that were transforming American transportation agriculture and industry during his lifetime Indeed by the nineteenth century fire had become America s leitmotif for good and for ill Keeping the flame was deadly serious even the slightest lapse of attention could convert a fire from friendly ally to ravaging destroyer To examine the cultural context of fire in combustible America Margaret Hazen and Robert Hazen gather more than a hundred illustrations most never before published together with anecdotes and information from hundreds of original sources including newspapers diaries company records popular fiction art and music What results is an immensely entertaining and encyclopedic history that ranges from stories of the tragic great fires of the century to fire imagery in folktales and popular literature Dealing more with technology than with fire in nature the book provides a vast amount of information on fire manipulation and prevention in urban life Hazen and Hazen discuss the people who worked with fire or against it Founders gaffers blacksmiths boilers at saltworks and housewives knew how to read a fire and employ it for their purposes A few dedicated investigators inquired about the scientific nature of heat and flame And firefighters gradually progressed from bucket brigades to using fire to fight fire with the newly invented steam engine The colorful stories of these Americans the risks they took and the rewards they received will fascinate not only social historians but also
