Hazen,Margaret Hindle Hazen,2014-07-14 For Lo We live in an Iron Age In the age of Steam and Fire wrote a poet mesmerized by the engines that were transforming American transportation agriculture and industry during his lifetime Indeed by the nineteenth century fire had become America s leitmotif for good and for ill Keeping the flame was deadly serious even the slightest lapse of attention could convert a fire from friendly ally to ravaging destroyer To examine the cultural context of fire in combustible America Margaret Hazen and Robert Hazen gather more than a hundred illustrations most never before published together with anecdotes and information from hundreds of original sources including newspapers diaries company records popular fiction art and music What results is an immensely entertaining and encyclopedic history that ranges from stories of the tragic great fires of the century to fire imagery in folktales and popular literature Dealing more with technology than with fire in nature the book provides a vast amount of information on fire manipulation and prevention in urban life Hazen and Hazen discuss the people who worked with fire or against it Founders gaffers blacksmiths boilers at saltworks and housewives knew how to read a fire and employ it for their purposes A few dedicated investigators inquired about the scientific nature of heat and flame And firefighters gradually progressed from bucket brigades to using fire to fight fire with the newly invented steam engine The colorful stories of these Americans the risks they took and the rewards they received will fascinate not only social historians but also a broad audience of general readers Originally published in 1992 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Vindicator ,1905 "The Flame of New Orleans" ...  Toribara,2012-12-06 The principal emphasis of the Department of Radiation Biology and Biophysics is on biological problems Techniques for measuring are considered very necessary but the development of them is usual ly left to someone else Therefore it is a little unusual for the department to sponsor a conference which is devoted mostly to methodology Environmental Pollution is a very popular topic now and one notices that there are a number of scientific conferences devoted to the topic Furthermore part of every conference is devoted to measurements of pollutants So the question becomes one of what should be different about our conference To start with there are two unique features here The first is the limited attendance which should provide more meaningful discussion the second is the availability to the world of all the information in book form after the conference We gave considerable thought to the contents of the conference which would take advantage of the unique features Therefore we decided to look to the future and present material here that is not in routine use The search for pollutants has just begun and their presence cannot be established without some means of detection Many substances are not known to be toxic be cause no one has studied them The necessary information can only be obtained if techniques for detection and measurement are avail able Plastic Flame Retardants J. Innes,A. Innes,2003 This review sets out to describe the types of flame retardants available for compounding into plastics materials mechanisms of action and uses This review provides a clear overview of the state of the art of flame retardancy for plastics It highlights the new developments and the potential problems with legislation together with the benefits to end users of protection from fire hazards This review is accompanied by around 400 abstracts from papers and books in the Rapra Polymer Library
