Congress. House. Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. Subcommittee on Fisheries and Wildlife Conservation and the Environment, 1975 A review of illegal, unreported and unregulated fishing issues and progress in the Asia-Pacific Fishery Commission region Wilcox, C., Mann, V., Cannard, T., Ford, J., Hoshino, E., Pascoe, S., 2021-03-31 Illegal unreported and unregulated IUU fishing constitutes a persistent and pressing problem estimated to account for up to US 23 billion annually in the APFIC area The effects of IUU fishing can be severe particularly for small island and coastal developing states heavily dependent on fisheries and include adverse impacts on peoples livelihoods food security national economies and the environment Countries unable to fulfil international obligations for fisheries management and governance risk incurring trade sanctions on their fisheries exports an increasing issue as export markets tighten their permitting Furthermore IUU fishing is increasingly associated with national and transnational organised criminal activities although the evidence remains mixed FAO commissioned this report two years ago to produce an independent update to an unpublished 2015 study on IUU fishing in the APFIC area of competence which was presented to the APFIC as an information paper in 2016 FAO 2016a The 2015 study used a mixture of media reports literature review and interviews to build a picture of hotspots of illegal fishing across the APFIC area of competence This report builds on the previous work incorporating additional analysis methods to predict illegal fishing in a transparent manner Based on discussions with the APFIC Secretariat it was decided to limit the study to the illegal component of IUU fishing A key difference with the 2015 study is the extension of the estimation of illegal fishing from the 33 hotspots covered in the 2015 study to the entire APFIC area of competence in this study This report provides the following key outputs i development and implementation of an agreed methodology for estimating illegal fishing levels and progress ii information from case studies in three Asia Pacific countries and iii analysis of results from the agreed method estimating the incidence of illegal fishing and implication of efforts to reduce it The approach taken to achieve these goals included a structured online survey of fisheries officials in APFIC countries semi structured interviews of key informants knowledgeable about illegal fishing in the APFIC region and analysis of articles on illegal fishing from public media data across the APFIC area of competence

Fisheries Development and Management in India, 1785-1986 Nune Subba Rao, 1989 Fisheries play an important role in the economy of nations bordering the sea and this is especially true in a populous country like India where a large majority continues to live below the poverty line Sea fishing has been an occupation with the coastal people of India since time immemorial forming an integral part of the maritime heritage Mechanisation has been introduced into the marine fishing with a view to exploit the fisheries potential all along the Indian coastline of 6 500 km by overcoming the deficiencies of the centuries old traditional fishing technology and to augment fish production with a higher fishing effort and also to raise the income levels and living standards of fishermen The present book based on the author's doctoral dissertation made a bold and pioneering attempt to evaluate the costs and earnings of mechanised and traditional boats for determining their relative operational efficiency and to examine intensively the effects of mechanisation on employment income levels consumption pattern and levels of living of fishermen and their social implications While analysing the merits of the new fishing technology and also the reactions of different groups of fishermen to mechanisation he spotlights the shortsightedness in the implementation of the programme of mechanisation resulting in a host of negative effects which have implications and also sets forth the valuable lessons which Indian experiences have to offer to the densely populated littoral nations in the Third World To ensure enduring benefits to the vast majority of marine fishermen the thesis underscores among numerous other remedies the need for the provision of an intermediary technology the need for the institutional support and marketing network and the need for the management of fisheries resources It also calls for the policies to bring about socio economic development of the fishing community on par with the rest of the society All in all a genuine contribution to knowledge of grassroots situations that will have enduring value and that can be useful in both academic and policy formation circles Library of Congress Subject Headings
