Fishing Villages In Tokugawa Japan Nordic Institute Of Asian Studies:

Fishing Villages in Tokugawa, Japan Arne Kalland, 1995-01-01 What is more Japan's fishing villages played a significant role in Japan's economic development In particular during the Tokugawa period 1600-1868 they acted as key commercial links between the castle towns and dispersed farming communities Rural Capitalists in Asia Mario Rutten, 2005-08-18 This is a comparative study of small capitalists and rural industrialists in three Asian countries Studies on the entrepreneurial class in South Asia tend to focus on the structural aspects of entrepreneurial behaviour while studies on this class in Southeast Asia tend to focus on cultural aspects of their behaviour In fact this book points to striking similarities between Indian overseas Chinese and Muslim businessmen in Asia similarities usually hidden under variations in analytical approaches Although this study emphasizes similarities within Asia it does not support the view of a specific Asian business pattern different to the rise of non Asian especially European entrepreneurs The findings are of major interest not just within the fields of anthropology and entrepreneurship but to all scholars working on South or Southeast Asia who will find much of interest in the author's observations of variable research results between the two regions Village China at War Dagfinn Gatu, 2008 This groundbreaking study on the forging of Chinese communism in the furnace of the anti Japanese war focuses on North China where the Chinese Communist Party first took root and later expanded to conquer China Whilst the explosive growth of the Chinese communist movement during the war years is a fact the nature of this expansion remains disputed Here the author examines a set of interrelated issues that have so far not received comprehensive treatment with regard to the main communist base areas in North China regions where the CCP secured most of its recruits and where its policy programmes were most severely tested by Japanese military campaigns The analysis centres on how the CCP strove to combine two objectives that it perceived as crucial to building up a sustained mass resistance movement to the Japanese socio economic and political restructuring in favour of the poor and the forging of a grassroots rural united front including all social strata The author also stresses the host of severe constraints that the party's policy ambitions ran up against such as massive destruction of the local economy by the Japanese army the economic burden of running the resistance peasant ambivalence to revolutionary changes and the shortage of trained cadres Ultimately the movement spread too rapidly and too widely for the party centre to exert more than a very weak or mediated vanguard function outside scattered enclaves This in turn allowed localities an autonomous dynamic that often conflicted with higher party echelons Nevertheless the movement had a broad if highly uneven redistributive impact on power resources in the region leading to a structural fluidity that lowered the barriers to a future revolution History accelerated Annual Newsletter of the Scandinavian Institute of Asian Studies Scandinavian Institute of Asian Studies, 1987 Asian Perceptions of Nature Ole Bruun, Arne Kalland, 2014-02-25 This highly acclaimed bold and refreshing collection of essays takes a critical look at Asians perception of their natural environments as well as at Western views of Asia in this respect Japan at Nature's Edge Ian Jared Miller, Julia Adeney

Thomas, Brett L. Walker, 2013-07-01 Japan at Nature's Edge is a timely collection of essays that explores the relationship between Japan's history, culture and physical environment. It greatly expands the focus of previous work on Japanese modernization by examining Japan's role in global environmental transformation and how Japanese ideas have shaped bodies and landscapes over the centuries. The immediacy of Earth's environmental crisis, a predicament highlighted by Japan's March 2011 disaster, brings a sense of urgency to the study of Japan and its global connections. The work is an environmental history in the broadest sense of the term because it contains writing by environmental anthropologists, a legendary Japanese economist and scholars of Japanese literature and culture. The editors have brought together an unparalleled assemblage of some of the finest scholars in the field who rather than treat it in isolation or as a unique cultural community seek to connect Japan to global environmental currents such as whaling, world fisheries, mountaineering and science, mining and industrial pollution and relations with nonhuman animals. The contributors assert the importance of the environment in understanding Japan's history and propose a new balance between nature and culture, one weighted much more heavily on the side of natural legacies. This approach does not discount culture. Instead, it suggests that the Japanese experience of nature, like that of all human beings, is a complex and intimate negotiation between the physical and cultural worlds. Contributors: Daniel P. Aldrich, Jakobina Arch, Andrew Bernstein, Philip C. Brown, Timothy S. George, Jeffrey E. Hanes, David L. Howell, Federico Marcon, Christine L. Marran, Ian Jared Miller, Micah Muscolino, Ken-ichi Miyamoto, Sara B. Pritchard, Julia Adeney Thomas, Karen Thornber, William M. Tsutsui, Brett L. Walker, Takehiro Watanabe. Indigenous Peoples and Ethnic Minorities of Pakistan Shaheen Sardar Ali, Javaid Rehman, 2013-02-01 Examines the issues facing indigenous peoples and ethnic minorities, including their role in the nation's constitutional and legal developments and makes a number of recommendations which would satisfy their demands without compromising the sovereignty of the state. The Oral Tradition of Yangzhou Vibeke Børdaahl, 1996 This text examines the traditional oral narrative of the Yangzi delta. Organising Women's Protest Eldrid Mageli, 2014-01-14 This study examines the nature of two women's activist groups in Madras and their activities since 1979, focusing on their work with the media, slum issues, registration of marriages and initiation of an apprenticeship scheme. But this volume is more than a study of women and their organisations. It is a study of political processes in which women are active, an attempt to discuss women's political behaviour in male-dominated society where official bodies as well as the academic world pay attention to women's issues but where women as political actors continue to be invisible. Managing Marital Disputes in Malaysia Sven Cederroth, Cederroth, Sharifa Zaleha Syed Hassan, 2012-12-06 A trend found in many Islamic societies in recent years has been the increasing regulation of family life by Islamic law and a corresponding move away from customary law and informal conflict resolution procedures. The situation in Malaysia, particularly in urban Malay society, is no exception here. Several studies already exist of the nature and extent of Malaysia's Islamic judicial system but the general tendency has been to ignore the actual operation of the syariah courts and related institutions This study addresses this need with an in depth analysis of the key area of intra family conflict and demonstrates that although formally the counsellor kadi and judge have defined roles for conflict resolution in practice much flexibility is evident in the use of consultation conciliation mediation arbitration and adjudication techniques This study will be of special interest to legal anthropologists and those scholars interested in the increasing application of Islamic law in many different countries
