Fishing For Chickens Short Stories About Rural Youth:

Fishing for Chickens Jim Heynen, 2001 Sixteen poignant short stories portray the special experience of growing up in rural America In this unique collection sixteen writers both established and new take us to the backwoods farmlands mountains and coastal regions of the US and into the lives of young people who are growing up there Neither sentimental nor nostalgic their richly plotted and poignant stories dispel the myth of the country idyll to reveal the tough realities of a rural childhood as well as its rewards In Rebecca Rule's Walking the Trapline a routine trek with her father and brother into the frigid New England woods becomes a test of survival for a young girl Sugar Among the Chickens by Lewis Nordan a comic tale features a bored farm boy in Mississippi intent on catching a big rooster with a baited fishing line When a flock of geese escapes the hunters guns in North Carolinian writer Tony Earley's Aliceville a boy's disappointment is replaced by wonder as he realizes that their breathtaking passage overhead made our world less small The authors included are Pinckney Benedict Nancy Brown Nora Dauenhauer Tony Earley Eric Gansworth Jim Heynen Lewis Nordan Tomas Rivera Rebecca Rule Wallace Stegner Kathleen Tyau Alma Villanueva Jon Volkmer Alice Walker Vicky Wicks and Hisaye Yamamoto Whether rural native or lifelong urban dweller every reader will come away from this collection with a deeper appreciation of the influence of place upon individual growth and of the special qualities of a country upbringing

Rooted David R. Pichaske, 2009-05 David Pichaske has been writing and teaching about midwestern literature for three decades In Rooted by paying close attention to text landscape and biography he examines the relationship between place and art His focus is on seven midwestern authors who came of age toward the close of the twentieth century their lives and their work grounded in distinct places Dave Etter in small town upstate Illinois Norbert Blei in Door County Wisconsin William Kloefer in southern Kansas and Nebraska Bill Holm in Minnesota Linda Hasselstrom in Hermosa South

Dakota Jim Heynen in Sioux County Iowa and Jim Harrison in upper Michigan The writers intimate knowledge of place is reflected in their use of details of geography language environment and behavior Yet each writer reaches toward other geographies and into other dimensions of art or thought jazz music and formalism in the case of Etter gender issues in the case of Hasselstrom time past and present in the case of Kloefkorn ethnicity and the role of the artist in the case of Blei magical realism in the case of Heynen the landscape of literature in the case of Holm and the curious worlds of academia best selling novels and Hollywood films in the case of Harrison The result Pichaske notes is the growing away from roots the explorations and alter egos of these writers of place and the tension between the here and there that gives each writer s art the complexity it needs to transcend provincial boundaries Quoting generously from the writers Pichaske employs a practical jargon free literary analysis fixed in the text making Rooted interesting readable and especially useful in treating the literary categories of memoir and literary essay that have become important in recent decades Short Story Index ,2004 What Do Children and Young Adults Read Next? Janis Ansell,Pam Spencer Holley,2002 Lists books by subject and title and recommends what book children and young adults should read next based on their previous likes and dislikes For Younger Readers ,2004 English Journal ,2003 Fishing for Chickens Jim Heynen,2001-07 Collects seventeen stories about growing up in rural America including a story about a farm boy in Mississippi who tries to catch a rooster with a fish hook and the story of a Hawaiian girl working in a pineapple cannery Braille Book Review ,2003-11 The Georgia Review ,2001 Braille Books Library of Congress.
